Reunion is a miracle for veteran, family

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

There's healing and new-found friendship for two families, thanks to a common thread which began nearly three decades ago, and a Vietnam veteran who never gave up hope.

What began as a pact among four young American soldiers has finally come full circle in an amazing account that began in the central highlands of Vietnam.

Knowing they may never get home, the soldiers, including one from Boston and one from Fox Lake, agreed to keep in touch with the family members of their buddies if anything happened to them.

Jan. 26, Dick Coughlin kept the promise he made to his best friend, Philip "Doc" Eastham, when he met Blossom Giunte, the mother of Eastham, the friend who died saving his life. The reunion included a tearful gathering at Doc's grave at the Fox Lake Cemetery.

"The spirit started in 1943 when Blossom gave birth. I became part of that spirit in 1966," said Vietnam veteran and Boston native Coughlin.

Eastham was a medic in Coughlin's company known as "Doc." He suffered a fatal gunshot wound while administering first aid to Coughlin. Coughlin was shot in the abdomen by machine gun fire five times.

With both men presumed dead, the camp chaplain read the soldiers their last rites.

Coughlin survived, but Doc did not. The event is ever marked in the mind and the memory of Coughlin in the detailed account of that bloody day when enemy fire surrounded the camp of the 2nd platoon 327th Company C of the United States Army in the Battle of Truongouge.

Even while Coughlin lay in a hospital bed for 11 months, the pact was never forgotten.

In time, Coughlin's body healed, yet there was a gaping feeling of emptiness and guilt that remained for some time. For years, the Boston native, and current California resident was riddled by pain and anguish that nagged at him over and over, "Why? Why did the medic, sent to save my life, die, and not me?"

Coughlin searched on and off for nearly 29 years, and at one point even spoke to a private detective who ran some names in his computer to see what he could come up with. Still no luck.

As a member of a national senior baseball team, which won the World Series in November of 1993, Coughlin had his World Series ring altered. He had Doc's name inscribed inside his prized possession.

Three towns meet on sewers, zoning

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

A meeting of the minds between Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Lake County officials could bring an end to sewer boundary disputes and provide clearer municipal boundary lines between the villages.

Lindenhurst is seeking to add a portion of land north of the village to its sewer boundary area. Much of it would be around the Miller Road area, according to Mayor Paul Baumunk.

For Lake Villa and Lindenhurst, there is a possible boundary line of Deep Lake Road. All of this is expected to be packaged into one agreement by the county and presented to NIPC for approval.

Before that can happen, each one of the respective village board's must approve the concept.

In attendance at a three-hour meeting on Jan. 26 were the mayor of Antioch and village administrator, the mayor of Lake Villa and attorney, Lake County Board attorney and Lindenhurst mayor and village administrator.

"Developers won't be able to pit villages against each other and hurt the existing residents," Baumunk said. "It will allow

Schools see bill for new unit district

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

School administrators and board members weren't exactly dancing a jig Monday night when the tentative summary of asset division was distributed. The summaries included what each of the five affected school districts would owe the proposed Lake Villa Unit School District if voters approve the plan.

The summaries were the result of an effort by former Regional Superintendent Bill Thompson. Questionnaires were sent to Grant High School District, Antioch Community High School District, Antioch District 34, Grayslake High School District and Millburn District 24.

Each district completed the financial information including appraisal of assets and indebtedness. Thompson then compiled the information so that each district could get an idea of how much the unit district would be entitled to.

"At this point in time, I believe the information provided is good data," said Thompson. "We didn't trump it up. There shouldn't be any discussion."

However, the information is not binding. If the new district is approved, it would be up to the newly elected school board to negotiate the division of assets.

Chamber holds dazzling gala

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce held its annual installation dinner and dance over the weekend at the Waterfalls Restaurant. Chamber members, village officials and even state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis were on hand to meet the Chamber's newest members of the board.

New board members include Ed Stanic Jr., Cheryl White, and Larry Monde. This year's officers are Bob Mueller, president; Karen Dunham, first vice president; Ed Cimaglio, second vice president; Barbara Porch as secretary; and Dee Dee Palmer as treasurer.

Outgoing President Gary Klean had a few words to the group before leaving office. "After reflecting on what we have done for this year, one word stands out in my mind," said Klean. "That word is involvement. It is the involvement of everyone in the community that made the Chamber great."

Klean highlighted some of the accomplishments for 1994 such as the addition of 21 new members, the new industrial sign and a healthy cash flow. He noted the success of the Easter Program, the golf outing, Taste of Antioch, and the Christmas Program.

On that note, Frank DiMarco, owner of DiMarco's Restaurant received a special award in recognition of his last four years of work on the Taste of Antioch. "This award belongs to all of Antioch," said DiMarco. "Everyone worked hard on the Taste of Antioch."

A number of other Chamber members received awards for the year including Ed Cimaglio, Karen

New President Bob Mueller, then said a few words. "This is quite a community. It is quite a team," Mueller said. "Everyone in Antioch pitches in. That is what makes it so good."

COURAGE video to have larger television audience

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

A community-based anti-gang group received a shot in the arm with the news their program will receive even more television exposure than expected.

Community Outreach Uniting Residents Against Gang Environment (COURAGE) will pre-empt the "Wheel of Fortune" on Channel 7 on June 3 at 6:30 p.m. The half-hour documentary will be given its fullest exposure.

"It was originally going to be a 15-minute documentary, but they were so impressed with the footage and information, they expanded it to a half-hour format," said Linda Bergin of COURAGE. "They felt it was such an important issue."

The program was to air on Chicagoing with Bill Campbell. The footage was taken by a Lindenhurst resident who is a cameraman for Channel 7.

COURAGE is an anti-gang group and community outreach of four communities, Antioch, Grayslake, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst. The group focuses on positive alternatives for youth as well as provides information to the community about gangs.

In a year, the membership of the organization continues to grow. Also a youth council organizes and helps plan fund raisers such as the "Rock N Rollerblade" and a "Mile of Quarters" to help fund activities such as a ski trip and workshop in Devil's Head and a sled and sleigh ride excursion.

The documentary footage includes walking the streets with Judge Ray McKoski, interviews with all four mayors and of a youth group meeting.

"The wheel watchers may have to wait, but it will be worth it," Bergin said.

Trustee Foresta to try for second term

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Incumbent Village of Antioch Trustee Wayne Foresta has decided to run for another four-year term. Chairman of the Finance Committee on the board, Foresta wants to continue the work he has begun.

"I'm happy I have done it for four years," said Foresta. "I would be happy to do it for four more years."

Foresta, 41, works for Resource Data, when he is not involved in village business. He has a bachelor's degree in electronics and is married with three children.

He is particularly proud of the fact the village has been able to maintain, and sometimes even improve essential services without raising taxes.

"We've been keeping the village functioning within the tax cap," Foresta said. "We are still offering the same services and even more."

If re-elected, Foresta plans to continue to maintain Antioch's "high quality of life." One of the ways he plans to do this, without raising taxes, is by attracting new businesses to the area.

"By bringing in new businesses, we can keep taxes reasonable for homeowners," said Foresta. "In addition, we can provide more versatility of products and increase area employment. It also brings more people into the town."

A combination of increased business growth and fiscal responsibility is Foresta's recipe to add essential services while keeping taxes down. "We've worked at keeping a close eye on expenditures," he explained. "I want to continue that."

Sewer study letters still coming

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Letters from subdivisions and individual homeowners continue to come in regarding an interest in the sewer feasibility study. Volunteers from United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA) plan to begin manning telephones as well as visit area businesses in an effort to get more letters of interest.

The study would evaluate both the feasibility of sewer service in Antioch Township along with the costs of such a system. Because of the unusual topography of the area, no cost estimates are available.

Antioch Township Assessor Cliff Houghton estimates there are 2,900 homes in the township. To date, 1,100 homes have been represented by letters either individually or by subdivision.

A letter of interest has been sent by Antioch Township and UHAUA representatives expect to go before the Village of Antioch on Monday requesting a letter from the board. While the Village of Antioch would not directly benefit from a sewer system in the township, there are indirect benefits.

One of the indirect benefits includes the protection of many waterways in the area which attract both visitors and residents to Antioch. According to best estimates from the Lake County Health Department, of the 450 septic failures investigated by the department, approximately 25-30 percent are located in Antioch Township.

"As inaccurate as we believe those numbers to be relative to reality, 100-150 failing systems is a significant number," said Anthony Smithson, Individual Sewage Disposal Program coordinator, in a letter to the group.

Anyone interested in sending a letter or receiving more information regarding the sewer feasibility study are encouraged to call 395-7371.

Park Happenings

Raymond J. Axen, 22, of 30-5 Montego Colony in Vacation Village was taken into custody Sunday after police were given a clue from the Lake County Crime Stoppers line.

Keith J. Gegnier, 45, of Lombard, Illinois, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol on Jan. 24. Gegnier was observed bumping into the curb on Route 83 and crossing the center line. Gegnier blew a .03 on the breathalyzer test. He was released on bond.

Zero tolerance arrest

Christopher W. Adams, age 20, of Antioch, was stopped by police on Jan. 26 when he was observed driving with a suspended drivers license. When speaking to Adams, officers detected the odor of alcohol and observed an open can of beer on the floor. Adams was charged with no valid registration, suspended drivers license, uninsured vehicle, no seat belt, illegal transportation of alcohol. Zero tolerance for motorists under 21 was read and Adams refused to take a breathalyzer. Zero tolerance sworn report was filled out. Adams was also charged with possession and consumption of alcohol by a minor. He was released on bond.

LAKE VILLA

Police found a Yamaha V-Max abandoned and turned over 50 feet off Spruce Trail near Pineview Pass. The snowmobile checked out as stolen.

Suspect gets violent

Gregg Stein, 36, 103 N. Milwaukee, Ave., Lake Villa, on Jan. 26, was arrested on multiple charges. Stein was pulled over by a Lake Villa officer near the Prime Time Restaurant. He reportedly had been asked to leave two bars that evening. The Lindenhurst officer came to assist a Lake Villa officer. Stein refused to give up his license to the Lake Villa officer and threatened the officer. The Lindenhurst officer told Stein to stop his aggressive manner or he would be sprayed with OC spray. Stein refused. He was sprayed and refused to be arrested. He was sprayed again and was arrested. He had a blood alcohol content of .27.

LINDENHURST

Caught drinking and driving

Timothy Fosco, 38, 38720 Beverly, Gurnee, on Dec. 29, was arrested for driving under the influence and driving in the wrong lane. The officer saw Fosco cross the yellow center lane on Grand Avenue. He had a blood alcohol reading of .18.

Christopher Coxon, 20, 2003 Sprucewood, on Jan. 26, was arrested for violating zero tolerance law. Coxon was stopped after the officer noticed him make an improper turn. The officer saw the empty beer case in the vehicle. Coxon failed field sobriety tests and refused a breath test. He was uncooperative with police and was sent to bond court.

Man gets a little loud

Keith Regnier, 45, of Chicago, on Jan. 27, was arrested for disorderly conduct. He was arrested after people complained of him yelling too loud at the McDonald's Restaurant. He was told to leave by management and refused. When officers arrived he asked to be arrested. He was sent to Lake County Jail after he refused to make a phone call to bond himself out.

Eighth grade—Mark Sural,

On Feb. 7, you will have an opportunity to learn more about the Grass Lake School PTO, also vote for a secretary and treasurer, and learn about a new concept for Grass Lake School called the "Lighted School House." This is your community. This is your school, and with a small amount of involvement from many people, this can be everyone's PTO.

Guests attending the Hastings Lake YMCA Family Date Party at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 10, will participate in a special "Two of Hearts" program in which adults and children work together to handcraft two Valentine cards—one to keep and one to give to an older adult living at Victory Lakes Nursing Home. The YMCA staff will deliver the Valentines to the residents on the holiday.

The party will also include Valentine cupcake decorating, family swimming, family love contest, snacks and the "Two of Hearts" program. The party is free to members and $12/family for non-members. For more information call the Hastings Lake YMCA, 356-4006, located off Grass Lake Rd. in Lake Villa. The program is one of two major metro wide events associated with the YMCA Family Nights program, held every Friday night.

Mr. Kakacek will travel to meet clients

If and when Gloria accomplishes any great feats, I will be sure to let you know. Till then, I always begin my phone conversations with Sylvia in this manner: "Hi, it's me. How's the rat doing? Are you ready to take the show on the road yet?" God, I love that woman.. Set a friend of mine would set a rat-training goal. When I tease her about Gloria, Sylvia quickly reminds me of my bread-eating carp whales of this past summer—and rightfully so.

The Antioch Public Library now offers the "Night Owl Reference Service." If you need an answer to a reference question after hours, dial 395-0874. Your call will be forwarded to a professional reference librarian who will answer your question. "Night Owl" is available from 9 p.m. to midnight on Monday through Friday, and 5 p.m. to midnight on Saturday and Sunday.

The Antioch Library will have a preschool reading program and school age activity hour starting Feb. 7 and ending April 10. You must register in person. The Lake Co. Health Dept. will be holding free blood pressure testing at the library on April 12.

Heart Score '95 begins — Shop ANTIOCH — Cold (or warm) weather Valentines

The Hastings Lake YMCA, American Heart Assn. and the CBS "This Morning" show are teaming up to help educate the community on fitness and health issues. Heart Score '95 project is a week-long national campaign to educate more Americans about health, fitness and the value of a regular exercise program. The project will be launched on a week-long series on the CBS show scheduled Feb. 6 through 10.

Throughout the week, the Hastings Lake YMCA will be giving free fitness testing, blood pressure testing, spinal testing by Agape Chiropractic, guest passes and tours. The YMCA is also hosting several guest speakers on health and fitness issues like reading labels, nutrition, figuring percentages of fat in our daily diet and other health and fitness topics.

"February is American Heart Month," said Vincent J. Bufalino, president of the American Heart Assn. of Metropolitan Chicago. Each year, the American Heart Assn. takes its message about heart disease and stroke prevention to communities across the country.

"Physical inactivity is one of the four controllable risk factors for heart attack. The 'Heart Score' event will provide all Chicago area residents with information about reducing their risks for heart disease—information that could potentially lifesaving," added Bufalino.

For more information on how to participate or volunteer at Heart Score '95 at the Hastings Lake YMCA, contact the office at 356-4006.

Dad/daughter night

Dads are invited to spend Feb. 11 from 7 to 9 p.m. with their special date, with an evening of dancing and games. To sign up, call or stop by the village hall. Cost is $10 per couple, and $3 for any additional daughters. Space is limited, so sign up early.

Boating safety class

In cooperation with the Ill. Dept. of Conservation, the Village of Antioch will sponsor a boating safety class on March 18. A certificate will be issued by the IDOC to persons who successfully complete this course. This is mandatory for persons 12 through 17 who want to operate a power boat without supervision. Books and instruction are included in the registration fee.

Dance recital

Kim Kalla Dancers, Gus Giordano's Dance Center and the village's own Studio One Dance Troupe will be among the talents on Feb. 4 at the Antioch High School auditorium. Show times are 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Proceeds from the event will go to the Easter Seals Society of Metropolitan Chicago. Tickets are available at the village hall or by calling the Antioch Parks and Recreation office.

Young Rembrandts

The second session of the Young Rembrandts' creative drawing program will begin on Feb. 17 at the Scout House. Space is available in the three- to five-year-old, six- to eight-year-old and nine- to 12-year-old classes.

Registration at the village hall.

Children six to 13 years old will be introduced to the world of cartooning and learn to draw imaginative characters on March 27, 28 and 30 from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Sponsored by Sports Camps of America, a soccer camp will teach children ages four through 12 the value of good sportsmanship, team play and self-discipline on and off the field. The younger kids will meet on March 27, 29 and 31, while the six- to 12-year-old crowd will meet every day of the week. A free coaches clinic will also be held to teach drill techniques, games and tactics that can be used to get the most out of practices.

For more information concerning programs or registration, call the Antioch Parks and Recreation office at 395-2160.

If you're thinking of leaving town with your Valentine and heading for warmer climates, stop by Antioch Travel Agency, located off Orchard St. They'll use their 35 years of experience to plan the perfect "getaway" for you. They can arrange your trip south. Mexico, the Bahamas, cruises, or jaunts to Las Vegas. Operating as a full service agency, they offer assistance with airlines, cruises, condos, rental cars, Amtrak, meetings and conventions, etc., without charging you a fee.

If you're lucky enough to be packing your bags to hit those warmer climates, don't forget to stop by Four Squires for bathing suits and the latest in cruisewear. Browse through the new Nautica and Tommy Hilfiger lines in cruisewear for men. Great savings on winter apparel can be found throughout the store.

If you've decided to brave out the cold weather, now is the perfect time to take advantage of some wonderful bargains on winter apparel during seasonal clearance sales around town.

You'll find exciting savings on women's casual and dress at Flo's Clothes Connection. All winter apparel and accessories are reduced for their "spring cleaning" sale. Finding something special and on sale means a great bargain. At Choosey Child, you'll find sales on unique playwear and outerwear for kids. Spring lines are arriving weekly, so take advantage of nice savings on fashions for today's weather.

There's a great menswear selection of savings at BJ's Fashions for Men. With more cold weather ahead of us, now is the perfect time to shop while there's still a lot to choose from and prices are low. If ice skating is on your agenda, stop by BJ's Sports Center for skates. There's still enough cold weather ahead of us to take advantage of a new pair of skates.

For those of you who like to plan early for Valentine's Day, here are a few tips:

J.J. Blinkers is offering new and unique gift ideas for your Valentine. Give your sweetheart a "rose for all time." This genuine rose is dipped in 22-karat gold and lasts for eternity. Or browse through their gift baskets and bags that are brimming with treats for your Valentine. Heart Treasure candles melt away to display gem stones and charms, while World Treasure candles say "you mean the world to me."

Sonshine Books is offering a Valentine special savings. As a full service Christian bookstore, you'll find selections of books, gifts and Bibles. Also featured are Precious Moment figurines.

Collectibles always make lovely gifts. At Persins & Persins you'll find a wide selection of Lladro, Waterford, Atlantis and Villory, just to name a few. If you're shopping for jewelry for your Valentine, make sure you visit Johnson's Jewelers, too.

Another type of collectible can be found at Park Ave. Mall and the Collection Connection. Both dealers are constantly replenishing their antiques and collectibles. Whether you're a serious collector or a pleasure-seeking browser, it's a delight to visit both shops and enjoy their wide array of antiques and collectibles.

Sometimes a personal touch is the way to go for Valentine's Day. At Innovative Screen Printing, you'll find the town's only screen printer and one of the largest assortment of transfers in the county. Services range from hand-painted fashion outfits for women to baseball jerseys. Watch for their graded irregular sweats and tees, which brings your cost down, giving more value for your dollar.

US Cong. Phillip M. Crane (R)

104th Congress vows to turn things around

The 104th Congress is off to a start unlike anything I have ever witnessed.

The enthusiasm of the new majority of Republican members is matched by the staff members assigned to the Republicans. It seems that everyone has been seized with a feeling that we can turn around the past dismal workings of Congress. And we will keep our Contract With America commitment.

The month of January was less than three weeks old when an important piece of legislation reached President Bill Clinton's desk.

The Congressional Accountability Act, which applies 11 private-sector laws to Congress, was the first of the Contract With America items to reach the White House.

Passage was speedy, requiring only a few hours of debate in the House of Representatives on the first day of the 104th Congress. It took up five days of debate in the Senate.

House Speaker Newt Gingrich announced it was the fastest passage of a peacetime domestic bill since 1933. It largely abandons the traditional congressional assertion that the constitutional separation of powers doctrine requires it to be exempt from private-sector laws.

About 23,000 congressional employees will be affected by the new law.

A prohibition of intimidation or reprisal clause in the new law guarantees that those who bring charges, testify or otherwise participate in complaints can in no way be threatened or reprimanded by their employers. In the past, many staff members have feared retribution if they launched charges against their congressional bosses.

Capitol Hill employees may also take their charges, after mediation, to federal court. This is the first time congressional employees have been given the right to originate lawsuits against members of Congress.

It may be impossible to maintain the incredible pace of the first month of this new Congress. But Republicans have shown that we are serious about keeping the promises of the Contract With America and of giving our government back to the people.

American business women to honor CLC student, mom

The Grayslake/N.E. Ill. Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's (ABWA) will honor Margaret Banick as their February Student of the Month. Banick is a mother of two and has decided to return to school. Enrolled at CLC, she will attend there for two years to obtain her associate degree and will then transfer. The goal that Maggi has chosen is to become an occupational therapist.

The Grayslake Charter Chapter promotes the professional, educational and social advancement of business women and men. Banick is the first Little Red School House Award recipient, a new award for the chapter.

State Bank of the Lakes, 50 Commerce Dr., Grayslake, will be the site of the meeting on Feb. 9. Networking starts at 6 p.m., with dinner at 7 p.m. Speaker of the evening will be Michael Waller, state's attorney.

Companies interested in sponsoring scholarship recipients can do so by calling Mary Keenan-Denniston at 223-3146 for information.

Marta Swanson will speak at an enrollment event on March 9, when the titled presentation will be "What Part of 'No' Don't You Understand?"

The Antioch High School 'A' Jazz Band will perform at the 23rd annual University of Wisconsin-Whitewater High School Jazz Festival, Feb. 11.

ACHS jazz band to perform at festival

The Antioch High School "A" Jazz Band will be performing at the 23rd annual Univ. of Wisconsin-Whitewater High School Jazz Festival on Saturday, Feb. 11. The all-day event features jazz wood wind artist Glenn Kostur with a clinic at 2 p.m. and a concert at 8 p.m. by the UW-W Jazz Ensemble.

Russell Todd was chosen for the Illinois Music

Educators Assn. all-state choir.

The Acapella and Advanced Treble Choirs are preparing for the North Suburban Choral Festival on Feb. 20. On the weekend of March 4 and 5, the ACHS choirs will be competing at the IHSA Choir Contest. The choirs also appear in Swing Street Cafe, tour the grade schools and are in the process of fundraising with the band.

St. Peter's Board of Education holds election

On April 30, three members of the school board (George Freeman, Brad Ipsen and John Shaffer) will have completed their terms. St. Peter's Parish consequently will vote on their replacements. The election will be held on April 23. Voting will take place after each Mass (including the 5:30 p.m. Mass on April 22). Parish rolls will be used to determine voter eligibility.

To provide for a smooth transition in selecting their replacements, the school board has developed and adopted the following procedures for nominating, qualifying and electing members of the parish school board. Terms are for a period of three years. Members may serve a maximum of two elected terms.

A simple majority will be sufficient to elect a member. In the event of a tie, a runoff election will be held on the following Sunday. Election results will be published and announced on Sunday, April 30.

Ballots will be made available in Fr. Frawley (church) Hall after each Mass; absentee ballots are available at the school office. Prospective members must have resided in the community for at least six months; be a parish member or parent of a St. Peter's School child; and must be a minimum of 18 years old. No person employed by the school may serve on the board.

Candidates must submit their application-petition signed by at least 10 parishioners or parents of St. Peter's School children, to the principal no later than 3 p.m. Tuesday, March 7. Application-petition forms will be available at the school office.

An announcement of qualifying candidates will be made at the regular school board meeting of March 9.

Fox Waterway Agency finds permanent home

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

The Fox Waterway Agency announced it has found the spot for a permanent operation site—the Hidden Cove Marina on Rte. 12.

For some time now, the Agency has been searching for a new location. Currently it leases a site for the marine base on Nippersink Lake which has been cited by the village as "not properly zoned."

The Agency office is located in a small building on Grand Ave. in Fox Lake. A maintenance and storage building is leased in Spring Grove.

Right now, "We don't have room for a table to spread a blue print, much less hold a meeting," commented Chairman Dam about the current office.

From the Agency's inception, state officials have considered the request for funding for a permanent location, but that request was tabled, first because of dredging violations and then pending the outcome of the referendum last year, explained Executive Director Karen Kabbes.

The relationship between the Agency and state and federal officials has warmed up considerably, explained Kabbes. The director of IDOT-Division of Water Resources Donald R. Vonnahme has worked with the Agency staff during the past six months to find a suitable site, one central to the district which includes a number of townships, in both Lake and McHenry counties.

Being accessible to the public and able to accommodate all Agency functions was another concern of Agency officials.

The Hidden Cove Marina located on Rte. 12 fits that bill.

Last week, the Waterway Agency entered into a lease/option to buy agreement with Ray Freeman, owner of the Hidden Cove Marina, effective April 1.

Now the Agency will have ample space for its ten boats and dredge equipment which is currently stored at the Nippersink marine base and operates out of a trailer.

A reserve will be seen too. "Finally we will be able to coordinate all of our work," stated Kabbes. "A cost savings will be considerable."

"It's a dream come true," said Dr. Dam about the new site.

The Waterway Agency seems to be making headway with many organizations this past year. That could go for owner of the Hidden Cove, Ray Freeman as well.

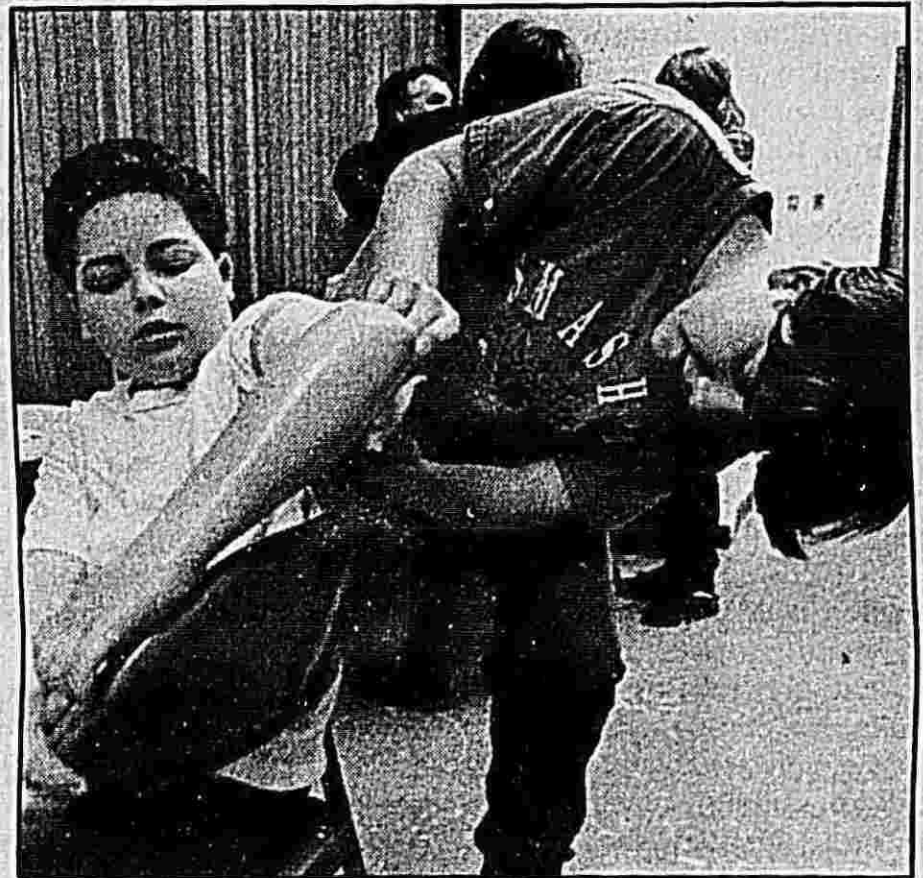

Ironically, just last year, Freeman announced in several articles in the Fox Lake Press, how displeased he was with the way the Agency operates.

The Agency, however, is pleased with the agreement to buy the marina, and Dr. Dam said he has no hard feelings for Freeman, and never has. "I've always liked Ray," said Dam who remembers him as one of the first people he met while mayor of Fox Lake in the mid '80s.

Loon Lake Sportsman's Assn. holds annual ice fishing derby

The Loon Lake Sportsman's Assn. has announced its 10th annual Ice Fishing Derby that will take place on the Loon Lakes Feb. 4 and 5 in Antioch. The derby will be headquartered out of the Loon Lake Inn, with a satellite on East Loon Lake. Hours of the derby are 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. each day.

There will be $15,000 worth of tagged fish for the derby, as well as daily and grand prizes for the largest fish caught in each of the following categories: northern-muskie, bass, walleye and pan-fish. Entry fee for the derby will be $5 per day, with children under 16 free when accompanied by an adult. Loon Lake Inn is located on Lambert Dr. just east of Rte. 83 off Grass Lake Rd.

The association has stocked over $32,000 in fish in the Loon Lakes over the past 11 years. Loon Lakes are considered to be some of the best fishing lakes in northern Illinois. They have always been noted for exceptional bass, bluegill and crappie fishing. Due to the association, there is now a population of northern, muskie and walleye. This is the Loon Lake Sportsman's Assn.'s major

Bill

"An agreement can be made between two boards which will benefit both," said unit school board candidate Joyce Heneberry. "We can't promise anything."

Part of the negotiating process may include an appraisal of each district as well as a discussion where Lake Villa students will be educated during the period of time when the new schools will be built.

Thompson estimated the tuition costs for two years at $23,403,950. While this is a hefty sum, Millburn Superintendent Jim Blockinger does not believe it can be used to offset money owed through the division of assets. "There is no way we could educate kids in exchange of division of asset relief."

Furthermore, state law does not require the effected school districts to even accept tuition students. That could leave 1,926 students looking for a school while the unit district builds a new high school and an elementary school. All of these factors will need to be addressed if voters approve the district.

In the division of asset summary, Thompson included the total amount to be owed to the new district, as well as the amount owed if Antioch District 34 and 117 provide assets other than cash. District 34 would owe $5,307,456, but if the district gives up Oakland School, it would only owe $2,653,652. If District 117 gives up the Polley Field site (off Grass Lake Road), the district reduces its debt from $8,045,059 to $7,338,059.

each village to control development within their boundaries."

Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug said she thought one agreement was acceptable to all. She said she expects her board would be willing to sign it.

"I will present the information to the board and we will make a decision," Shineflug said.

For Lake Villa, it would gain in sewer service area and keep portions of the village in the Northwest FPA or Fox Lake plant.

Baumunk said he hopes the agreement could be finalized in the next 30 to 45 days.

"It would give us the opportunity to redo our comprehensive plan, get community input and make some decisions that could last 20 to 30 years," Baumunk said.

County shifting position on sewer service battles

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

A deal to allow the Forest Preserve to have a trail easement and save a historic farm has lead the county to make a deal with Lindenhurst which will affect other communities.

County Attorney Cliff Weaver was on hand at the Lake Villa Village Board meeting explaining the County position on negotiations. The bottom line is Lindenhurst asked for concessions from the county in its attempt to settle sewer boundary disputes with the county.

"They are interested in expanding their sewer service area to the north and are willing to put an end to boundary disputes if we are willing to give up that right," Weaver said.

Lindenhurst is interested in servicing an unincorporated portion between it and Antioch which is roughly about 600 acres. For years, the county and Lindenhurst have squared off over sewer service areas.

Because of the complex negotiations, a 30-day moratorium was held so impacted villages such as Lindenhurst, Lake Villa and Antioch can compromise on future Facility Planning Area

(FPA) boundaries.

This turn of events was brought on with a deal by the Lake County Forest Preserve Board and Lindenhurst which would allow a trail from the McDonald Woods Forest Preserve through the proposed Fawn Run subdivision.

Lindenhurst would be granted a sewer easement and the county will be allowed to save 8-10 acres of the Bonner Farm. The farm is over 100 years old and will be preserved as a "Working Heritage Farm."

Also, for $75,000 Lindenhurst was allowed to service a small area of Old Mill Creek.

Weaver said the county will no longer back Lake Villa if the village wishes to expand its FPA, even though it is on Northwest Lake FPA in Fox Lake.

"We will not interfere in their area and we're committed to not fight back or take sides," Weaver said.

Nothing has been decided on a request by Lake Villa to have 208 acres in the southeast portion of the village in the Northwest FPA instead of Lindenhurst FPA.

Weaver closed by saying the county's position is the sewer boundaries and municipal boundaries are two separate issues.

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

Millburn Superintendent Dr. Jim Blockinger will spend his final year in the district.

Blockinger accepted a position at Morton Grove District 70, a K-8 district.

"It's a better opportunity for me," Blockinger said. "It is a good community, the district is nearly built out and there is not a lot of growth."

Morton Grove has about 700 students and a larger industrial base. The district has about 300 more than Millburn does, according to Blockinger.

Blockinger is in his sixth year as superintendent at Millburn. He came to Millburn after a stint as principal at McHenry Elementary.

"I had made my decision in December. I submitted my resignation at the last board meeting in January," Blockinger said.

Blockinger would not comment on whether the proposed Lake Villa unit district had any impact on his decision to leave.

Among the accomplishments Blockinger is most proud of are the two curriculum changes he helped institute at the school and the student test scores.

"I'm really proud of the whole language program and power writing in all grades, K-8. We went to the middle school concept after having the junior high philosophies," Blockinger said.

The high student scores on Illinois Goal Assessment Placement tests and achievement tests is indicative of the cooperation between school board, teachers and administration, according to Blockinger.

"There are great people here. The students and the faculty, it's a real family and I am going to miss that," Blockinger said.

Among the current issues the district faces as it looks to a replacement is if the district will exist. The proposed Lake Villa Unit School District is expected to make the ballot in April and if approved could take 85 percent of the students who attend Millburn.

The school board will use the Illinois State Board of Education to assist the district in its search for a new superintendent.

Ducks Unlimited fund raiser will benefit wildlife

The Chain-O-Lakes Chapter of Ducks Unlimited, Fox Lake, will hold its 12th annual membership banquet at Maravela's Banquet Hall, Fox Lake, on Feb. 28, at 5:30 p.m. "The Ducks Unlimited success story," said committee chairman Frank Lemcke, "is really starting to spread. Local Ducks Unlimited fundraising events held throughout the country last year contributed toward Ducks Unlimited's national fundraising effort of $67 million during 1993 alone. But what's even more important to realize," said Lemcke, "is that this national fundraising effort must increase this year if the North American waterfowl habitat race is to be won."

Each year, the U.S. loses some 400,000 acres of wetland habitat. Since its inception, Ducks Unlimited has raised over $819 million and enhanced and restored 6.9 million habitat acres, encompassing over 10,000 wetland projects, in an effort to reverse this trend.

For information on how you can support Ducks Unlimited's program of wetland conservation, contact Frank Lemcke at 589-9737 for tickets and further details.

Cheerleaders finish on top at regionals

It took a flawless performance for the varsity cheerleaders to win the first place trophy at the Palatine Regional Cheerleading Competition. In order to achieve such an award, it takes a tremendous commitment from the entire squad.

Debbie Bessete, tumbling instructor at American Stars in Antioch, donated time and effort in helping the squad with their tumbling. Former ACHS cheerleader Laura Harris, now a Univ. of Northern Iowa cheerleader instructor, also spent much of her time working with the squad on their routine.

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Where do you begin?
Do you begin with Antioch's standout center sitting out with the flu?

Do you begin with a pesky point guard continuously breaking an intense half-court press?

Do you begin with three reserve players stepping up and playing the games of their lives?

Or do you begin with the referees allowing some leeway and encouraging a physical brawl under the hoop?

Antioch's 63-60 victory over visiting Libertyville was every bit as exciting as the close score would indicate. To add fuel to the fire, both teams entered the contest in must-win situations, hoping to keep alive their chances of grabbing the eighth seed in the 16-team regional and earning the all-important privilege of hosting the first-round of the regional.

With Antioch's 6'7" star center Eric Eckenstahler sitting on the bench and donning street clothes, it did not look promising for the Sequoits to start. But together Dave Lawrence (6 points), Dan Riepe (12 points) and Kurt Hintz (8 points) filled Eckenstahler's shoes and earned the hearts of Antioch fans with hard-fought rebounds and 26 combined points.

"Our kids were more relaxed, especially our big guys because they were getting more playing time," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said of Lawrence, Riepe and Hintz.

Relaxed, maybe. But intense and focused, definitely.

In the opening minutes of the game, Antioch point guard Eric Campbell quickly got a taste of what would be in store for him everytime he received the inbound to start the offense.

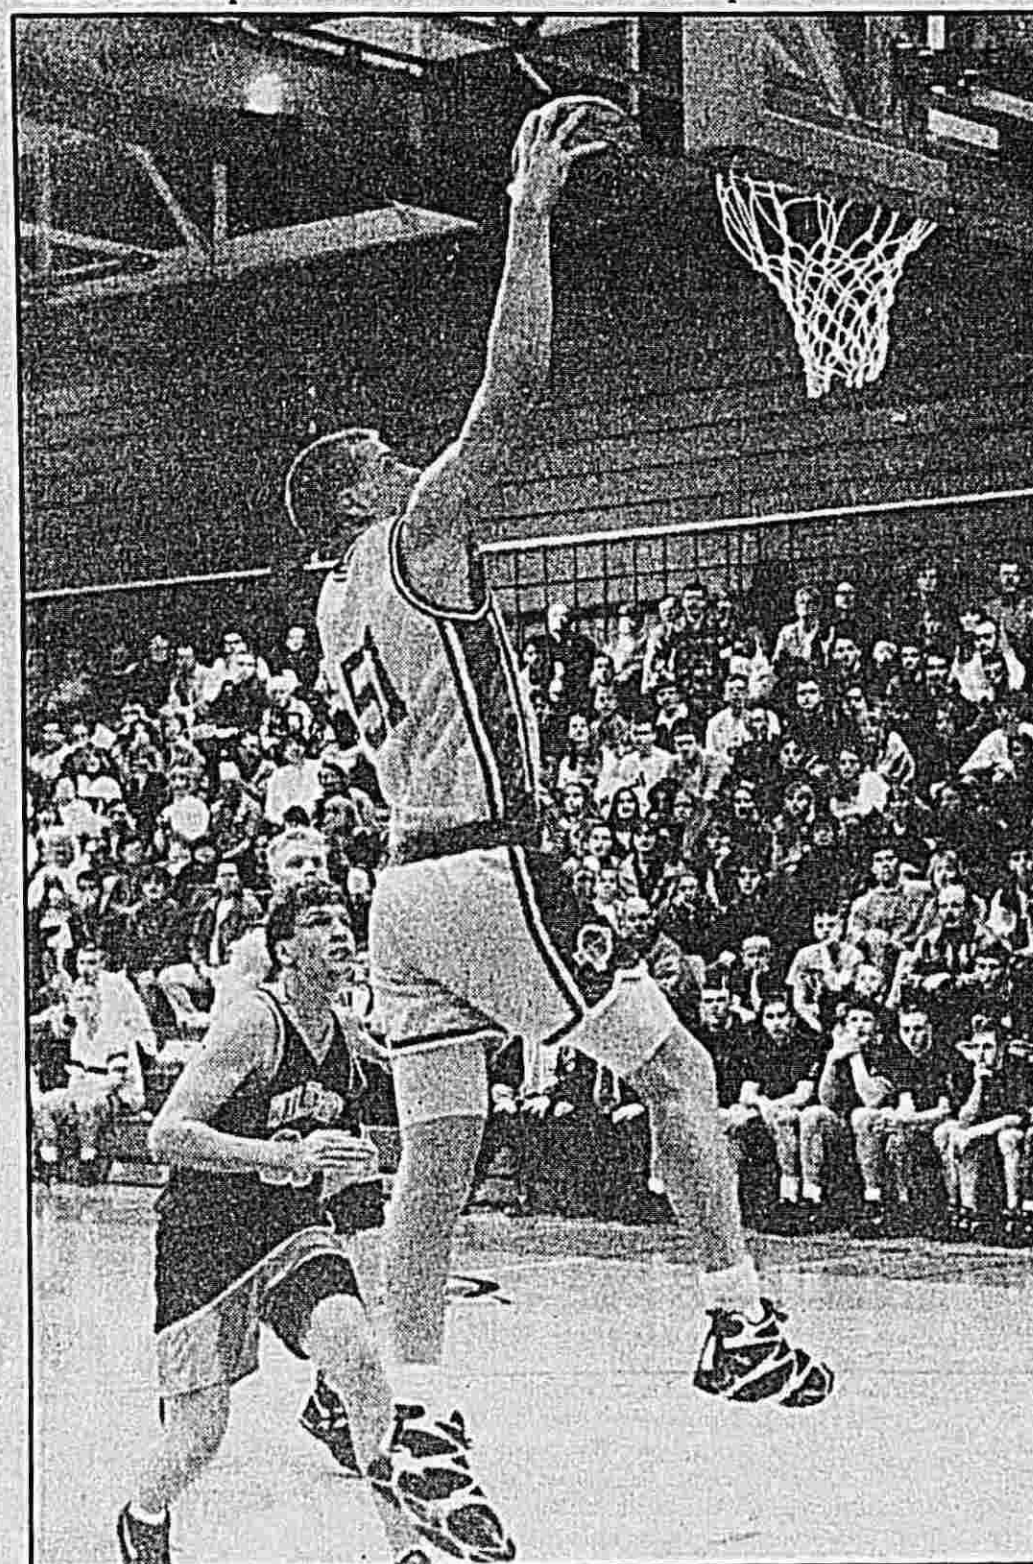

Libertyville's Chris Mitchell and Lukas McKnight mirrored and applied the half-court press on Campbell, making every march to half court a difficult one. But Campbell, nicknamed "Soup," prevailed and consistently broke the press, scoring 6 of his 8 points to pace Antioch in the first quarter.

"Campbell did an unbelievable job breaking our press and driving to the lane," complimented Libertyville Coach Max Sanders. "He was worth his weight in gold tonight."

Dresser added, "He (Campbell) is going to sleep good tonight."

Libertyville jumped to an early 13-10 lead after the first eight minutes. Lawrence grabbed three rebounds in the first, and was credited with a steal and a hoop. He picked up his third foul with 2:06 to play in the first, which was an indicator of his aggressive play under the boards. Antioch opened the second quarter with a 6-0 run to build a 16-13 lead—a lead they would never relinquish but fought hard to defend. Kevin Geraghty (12 points) connected on two treys in the period to lift Antioch to a 30-24 half-time advantage.

In the first 12 seconds of the third quarter, Lawrence picked up his fourth foul as he and Libertyville's 6'6" sophomore See VICTORY page A14

Warren wrestlers outlast Antioch for second in NSC

When the Round Lake teachers strike began last fall, that ended the career of Andy Kukla as a Round Lake High student.

"When they went out on strike, I said, 'I'm outta here,'" Kukla recalled.

Kukla's choice to attend Warren Township High School has paid off for him and the Blue Devils. He was the last of three Warren champions at the middle weights at Saturday's North Suburban Conference meet.

Warren finished a strong second with 157.5 points, 13 points less than champion Libertyville.

"I did real good on my feet. I had lost to him (Lake Forest's Dave Nelson) in a close match," Kukla said.

Warren finished with 157.5 points, beating Antioch's 147.5 for runner-up.

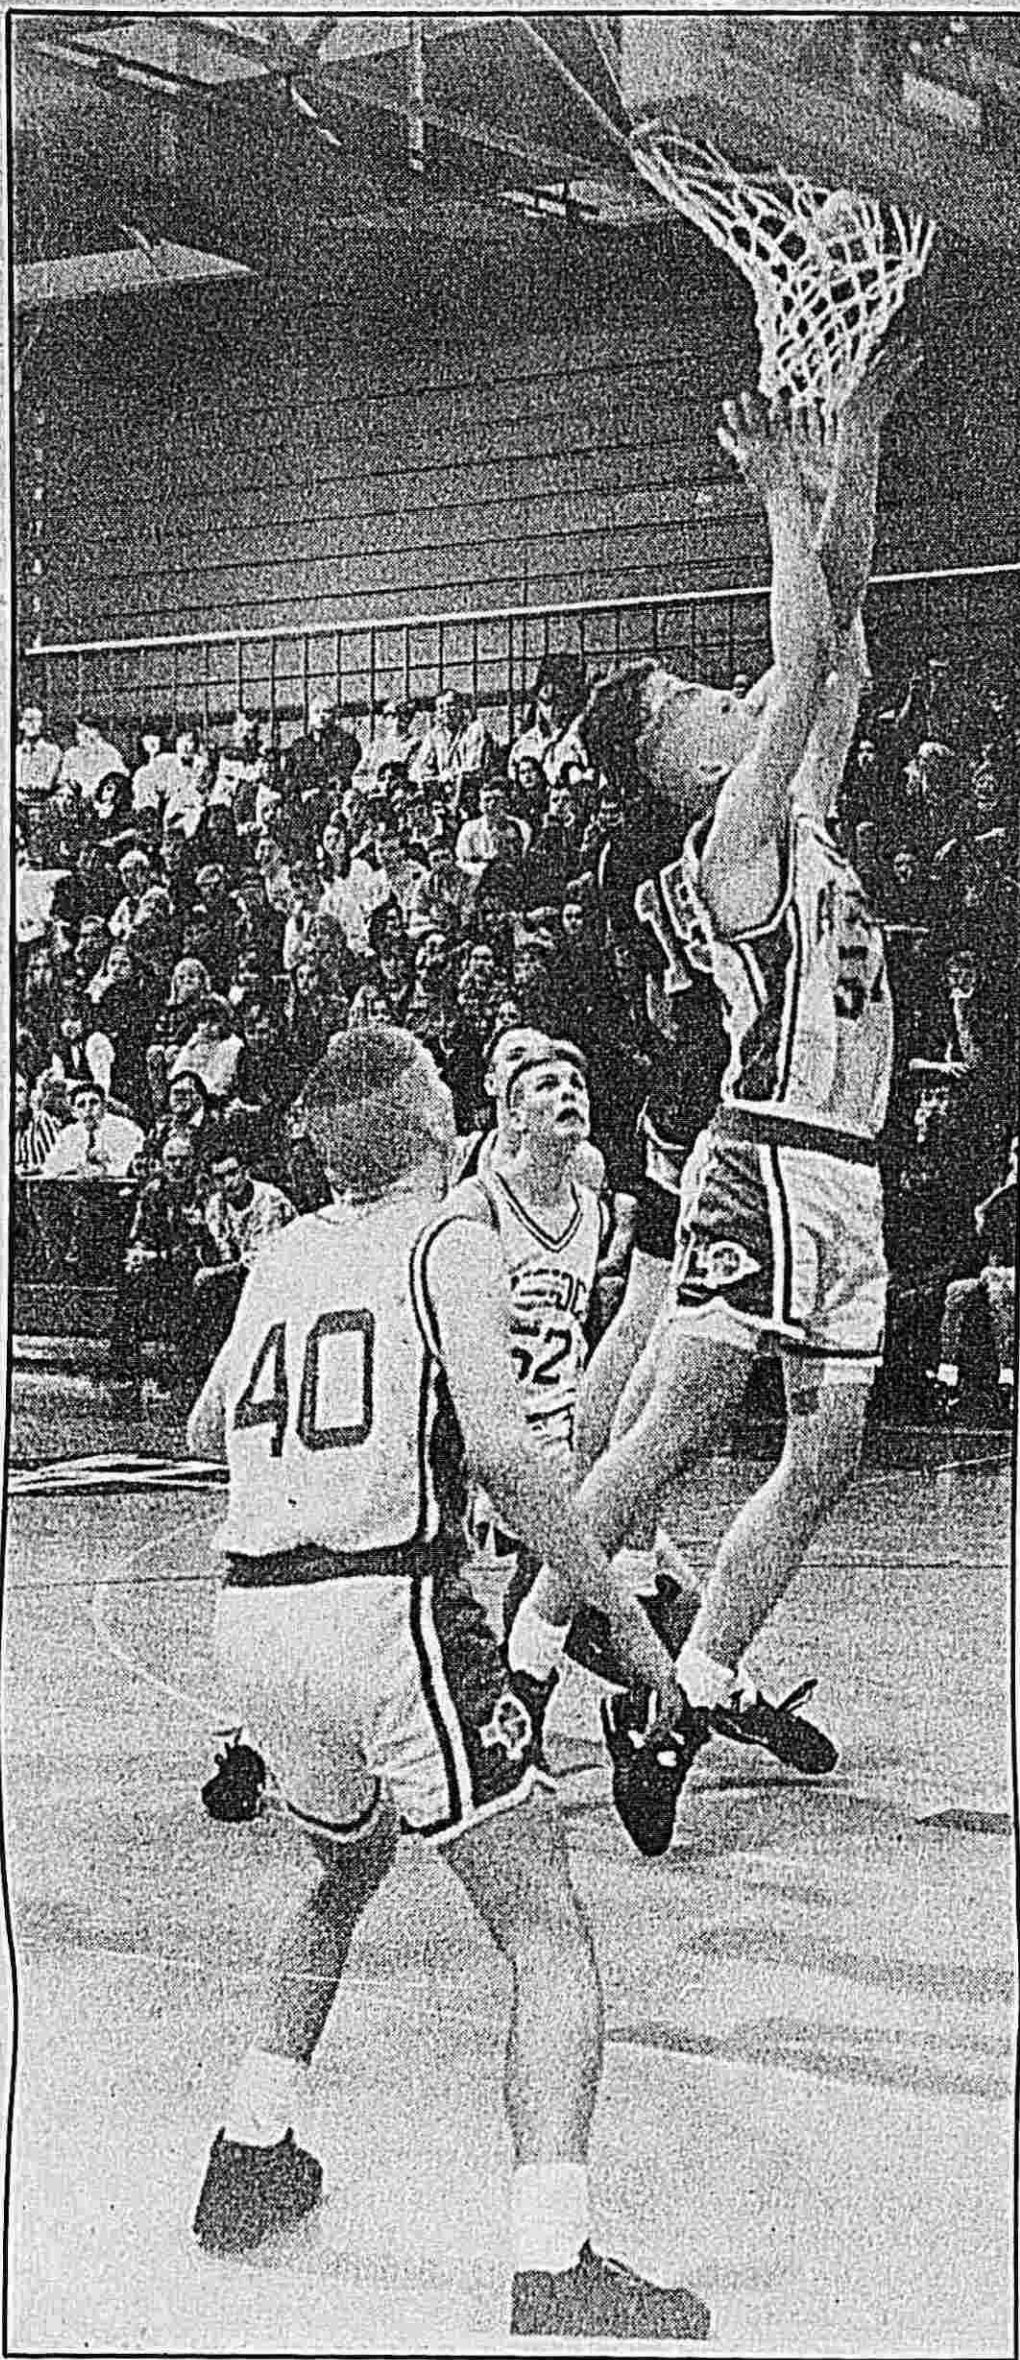

Kukla outlasted Nelson in an 18-6 decision.

"This is a great wrestling program. Coach (Mark) Tiffany has helped me so much," Kukla said.

Kevin Oldham at 145 was another Warren winner, downing Jim Stevens of Antioch 12-6.

"These guys showed a lot of heart and desire and have worked hard in practice," Tiffany said.

Three new Sequoits take spotlight in thrilling victory

Dave Lawrence, Dan Riepe and Kurt Hintz—they all stepped in for the ailing Eric Eckenstahler and helped the Sequoits edge Libertyville 63-60 in a must-win contest.

Standing at 6'7", Eckenstahler has been the main man for the Antioch boys basketball team. He averages 20 points a game, is a notorious shot blocker, snatches rebounds and can hit the three-pointer.

Eckenstahler's shoes are tough to fill, and when Antioch fans saw him sitting on the bench wearing a sweater and jeans instead of his No. 45 uniform, many thought an Antioch victory against the up and coming team from Libertyville was iffy at best.

"With Eckenstahler sitting out, what more can you ask for?" said Libertyville Coach Max Sanders. "But they were really fired up because they didn't have their star tonight."

That "they" Sanders was referring to was Lawrence, Riepe and Hintz.

Lawrence started for Eckenstahler and immediately set the tone under the boards against Libertyville's 6'6" center J.R. Jurecko. Since the tip off, both muscled and elbowed their way for position under the basket.

"Yeah, we battled," said Lawrence. "It's always physical. That's just part of the game—banging at the posts."

Libertyville jumped out to an early 8-4 lead, but Lawrence (6 points) snatched three key rebounds to keep Antioch within reach. Lawrence also converted a steal into 2 points to cut the lead to 8-6. His aggressive play, however, also attracted the foul whistle as he was blown for three fouls with 2:06 left to play in the first quarter.

The early foul trouble for Lawrence meant Riepe (13 points) would have to step in and eat some minutes while Coach Jeff Dresser preserved Lawrence for later in the game.

In the second quarter, Riepe found net twice, but more importantly, he grabbed four rebounds in the quarter to keep the offense alive for Kevin Eckenstahler and Kevin Geraghty, whose 10 points between them enabled the Sequoits to build a 30-24 lead at intermission.

"It's about time I had a good game," said Riepe, who has had difficulty converting offensive rebounds into baskets. "I was just concentrating hard on everything."

In the third quarter, Lawrence was on fire again.

Although he was called for his fourth foul during the first 12 seconds of the period, Lawrence managed five more boards and 4 more points. He was also able to get Jurecko to commit his fourth foul violation.

Riepe joined Lawrence in the fourth quarter to take off some of the heat between the Lawrence-Jurecko feud in the paint. Twice, Riepe quickly picked up fouls while converting offensive rebounds into points.

"I just tried to step it up. It was flowing tonight," Riepe said.

Then the inevitable came, and tempers flared. Lawrence and Jurecko were tangled up under the net and they hit the floor. Each gave the other verbal warnings, and the referees slapped them both with their fifth fouls, thus ending their play. Moments later, Eckenstahler fouled out as well.

In came Hintz, who has seen limited playing time this season.

Just as Libertyville was mounting a comeback, Hintz provided Antioch with fresh legs to fight through defenders and go to the hoop. He sunk Antioch's last three baskets and made all of his points in the crucial fourth quarter.

"I just wanted to help, box out and get some strong rebounds," Hintz said. "For me, those are the type of games I like, where I can use my body. That's my strong point."

Hintz is no stranger to coming through in the clutch. In the football season, he connected on a 30-plus yard field goal to win the game for the Sequoits in the final seconds. Now, he was making high-percentage basketball field goals, two of which ended up being the game winners.

Hintz's last 6 points proved to be even more important as the Sequoits missed four consecutive freethrows in the final minute. Except for Geraghty's four free throws after a Libertyville personal foul and technical foul, Riepe and Hintz accounted for 17 of 21 points in the fourth quarter.

"The big guys finally capitalized," Dresser said with a gratifying smile.

Eric Eckenstahler, who had to watch the excitement from the bench, praised his substitutes, "Those guys just battled really hard."

Lawrence added, "It was a big lift. We came off a lot of close games. Now, it's down on paper that we can win the close ones."

Lawrence, Riepe and Hintz are now on paper, too.

'Yeah, we battled, it's always physical. That's just part of the game—banging at the posts.'

The sophomore cheerleading squad was awarded the second place trophy in their division after missing first by only 1 1/2 points. This is the best finish that ACHS sophomores have ever had.

The sophomore cheerleaders include Casey Houghton (captain), Sherry Friedl (co-captain), Shannón Bonner, Heather Burress, Sandra English, Christine Goblirsch, Courtney Johnson, Candice Kasprzak, Melissa Kranz, Trisha Livermore, Debbie Santiago, Cathy Sperling and Betsy Sperling.

Neither squad has achieved its final goal for the year—the squads are competing at Stevenson High School on Feb. 5 to qualify for the State Cheerleading Championship at Ill. State Univ. in March.

Kerns, Pak lead Grayslake grapplers in conference

Two Grayslake grapplers earned championship titles as the Rams finished third in the Northwest Suburban Conference Tournament.

Johnsburg took top honors in the conference tourney with five championship winners and 209.5 team points. Host Grant finished second with 171.6 points, while Grayslake earned the third-place spot with 154.6 points.

Both Grant and Grayslake tied for second in the NWSC.

Grayslake 145 pounder Joe Kerns continued his undefeated record (32-0) by winning all five of his matches. Ed Pak (29-4) also captured a championship title by going 5-0 in the tournament at 152 pounds.

Grant's champs included Amador Estrada at 103 pounds and Ryan Benson at 140 pounds.

Round Lake also posted two championship grapplers with Tony Phillips at 125 pounds and Joe Miller at 160 pounds.

Grayslake also had two runners up who were defeated in the championship match. Second-place winners include Chris Cherwa at 112 pounds and Justin Woods at 160 pounds.

All-Conference wrestlers taking third place for Grayslake included Jason Cherwa at 119 pounds and Patrick Eldridge at 171 pounds. Iles Fort also finished third in the heavyweight division.

"Our kids really did wrestle very well," said Grayslake Coach Eric Skoog. "Now, we're getting primed up for the regional."

Grayslake is shooting to place in the top four in regional action. The eight-team Warren Regional also includes powerhouses Antioch, Waukegan and Warren. In addition to Grayslake, Zion-Benton, Round Lake, Grant and North Chicago will be vying for the top four spot.

"This is what we train for the whole year—to advance in the state tournament series," Skoog said.

With the state tournament series coming, Skoog said he will switch his concentration from a team concept to an individual concept.

"Right now, it's time for me as a coach to focus on individuals," Skoog pointed out as he prepares his wrestlers to advance in regional and sectional action.

Coach Skoog has high hopes for Kerns, ranked No. 4 in the state at 145 pounds. In each of the last three years, Kerns finished fourth at the sectional, but the top three wrestlers advance to state.

"Kerns' goal is to finish his last high school match in the top of the state," Skoog said. Kerns may also have the opportunity to face

No. 2 wrestler Luke Kyle of Woodstock in sectional action.

"It's just exciting to watch him work," Skoog said. "He's on a different level."

The Warren regional is Feb. 4.

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Warren High Girls Bowling team is shooting for their tenth trip to the state competition after finishing second in the conference finals.

The Blue Devils finished second to Fenton, the number one ranked team in the state. Fenton rolled up a combined score of 5,614 while Warren amassed 5,095.

Three Warren bowlers placed in the top ten. The highest score came from Heidi Balmeg at 1,057 pins and an eighth place finish. Following her were Dani Novak at 1,035 and Joanna Salata with 1,034 who finished ninth and tenth respectively.

"We have to make more strikes if we want to make it to the state tournament," said Bob Datsenhorst. "We have to be more consistent and do better at the sectionals."

In the Sectional Tournament this weekend, the Blue Devils face stiff competition from conference teams such as Libertyville and Antioch. The two highest scoring teams will earn a trip to state. Warren was second in the North Suburban Conference.

The best a Warren team has ever finished in the state tourney is a sixth place finish. The team has made it to state almost every year there has been a tournament.

Warren won't have to contend with Fenton which seemed to have little trouble with other teams at its home Wood Dale Lanes.

Warren defense too much for Antioch

Before the game, the junior selected the pre-game warm-up music. During the game, she scored 21 points and had several assists as Warren prevailed 49-35.

The key to Warren's eighth North Suburban Conference win in 10 outings was defense as well as Minuskin. Warren held Rachel Hauser, Antioch's leading scorer, to just 6 points.

"We went to a man-to-man defense in the second half," Warren Coach Bruce Campbell said. "We switched and had different people guarding Hauser."

The result was a 12-2 Warren run which opened up the lead to 10 points. Antioch stayed close in the first half, trailing only 23-21 at intermission.

"I like the man-to-man defense better because you are guarding one person as opposed to an area," Minuskin said.

"We have to get some offense to go with our defense," Antioch Coach Dave Woods said.

Dana Pierson scored 10 points but it was not enough as the Sequoits dropped to 7-10 overall and 6-5 in the NSC and further behind Warren in the standings.

Minuskin said she still feels the affects of a nose injury two weeks earlier - she does not go all out on her drives to the basket but dishes off to others. Felicia Sartin, plagued with foul trouble, still managed 14 points.

Warren led 43-33 after three periods and increased the lead in the final quarter. Antioch's comeback hopes were not helped by three straight turnovers.

Warren could only gain a Minuskin free throw for a 44-33 lead at the 5:15 mark.

"Our turnovers killed us," Woods said. A lay-up by Sartin sealed the win after Antioch cut the lead to nine.

Minuskin and Sartin finished off the scoring for the 14-point margin.

Warren had one of its better games in free-throw shooting, 12-of-19.

The two teams clash again, this time at Antioch, at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 4. Warren announced its Pack-The-Place promotion will be Feb. 9 with a 7 p.m. game against Libertyville. Warren also hosts Zion-Benton, Feb. 7 at 7 p.m.

Antioch girls loss more costly than score

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

The 47-44 overtime loss to Mundelein was bad enough, but the Lady Sequoits were more devastated when two of their teammates fell victim to injury.

Within the first two minutes of the game, starting guard Mary Ipsen hit the floor in pain following a serious knee injury. Her prognosis is still to be determined.

"Losing Mary is just devastating. Mary does a lot of things that don't show up in the scoreboard," said Antioch Coach Dave Woods. In fact, Ipsen just came off a 14-point game against Fenton. Although Antioch lost 45-41, Ipsen contributed 8 rebounds and 8 steals to keep Antioch close against Fenton.

To compound matters, the Sequoits also lost their leading scorer Rachel Hauser in the fourth quarter to an elbow injury.

Hauser's injury is less serious than Ipsen's, but her status is unknown for the final three games of the season.

"Losing the game wasn't tough," Woods said. "Losing Mary and Rachel was really tough."

With the loss of Ipsen early, Mundelein was able to take control of the boards and build a 23-17 lead at halftime. The Sequoits still managed to contain Mundelein standout Lindsey Prezell to 13 points.

The key in the contest, Woods said, was Mundelein's other top point-maker in Lynn T'Niemi. When Antioch defeated Mundelein earlier in the year, the Sequoits held T'Niemi to 6 points, but she muscled in 14 game-high points in Tuesday's rematch.

"Losing Mary, we were behind almost before we started. Mary matches up against her (T'Niemi) very well," Woods said.

He credited both Lindsay Hladnik (9 points) for stepping up her offense and Carrie Gofron (9 points) for coming off the bench to fill the vacuum left by Ipsen. Hauser had 10 points to lead Antioch before she was injured, and Erin O'Connell added 8 more.

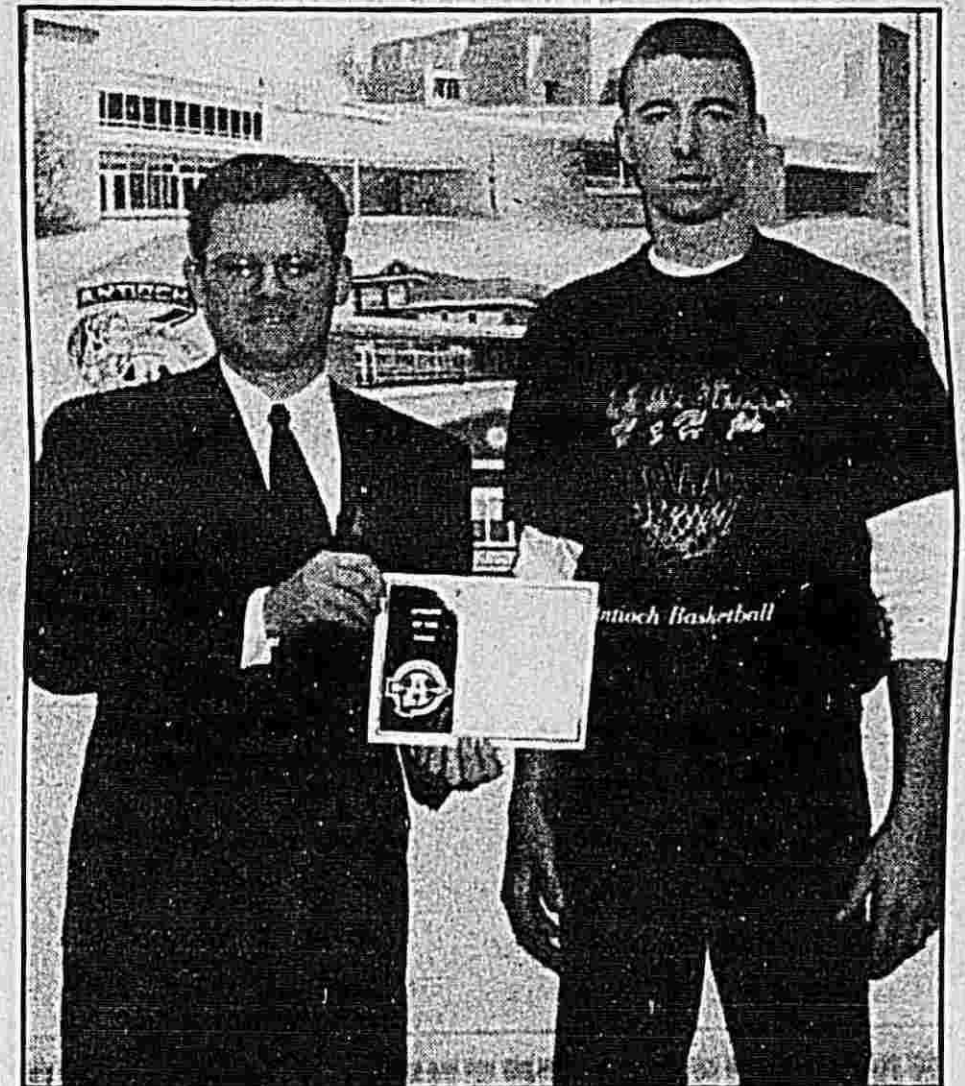

Early into the fourth quarter Mundelein had mounted a 10-point lead, but Antioch countered by applying full-court pressure and executing the half-court offense. Antioch scored 15 points in the quarter to come from behind and send the game to overtime.

The Mustangs, however, were able to sink five of eight freethrows to seal the victory.

"The kids played hard and came back in the fourth quarter, but I think they ran out of energy," Woods said.

The loss extends Antioch's losing skid to five and drops their record to 8-13 overall and 6-7 in the league. Antioch still maintains their No. 5 seed in the regional ranking and will host the first-round game Feb. 13. In the meantime, Antioch hosts Warren Feb. 4.

"Other people are going to have to step up and fill their (Ipsen and Hauser) shoes," said Woods, who will be looking to the junior varsity team for a guard and a rebounder. "We'll regroup."

Stars open indoor season with win

The Lindenhurst Stars (under 14) girls opened their indoor season playing at the Poplar Creek Sports Center in Hoffman Estates. The Stars defeated the Jammers from Glenbrook 4-0.

The Stars built a 2-0 half-time lead on very strong and aggressive play by the entire team. Samie Korb and Katie Gofron scored two goals apiece, Mandy Fasano had three assists and Susan Gosciniaik one assist.

The defense was very strong and aggressive in not allowing a score. Contributing to the shutout were Megan Rinkenberger, Becky Sosnowski, Gosciniaik, Emily Ayre and Francia Lopez.

"I have Ray as a wrestling partner and wrestling at 152 pounds helped," Oldham said.

Ray won by a fall in 2:26 over Bob Devanie of Libertyville at 140.

"I thought we wrestled pretty well, but we have to keep improving," Tiffany said.

Both teams are at the Warren regional Feb. 4. Two Antioch wrestlers will be coming off championships, Lukas Dyer at 103 pounds and Steve Zalapi at 125.

Zalapi led 5-1 in his match against Dan Cysewski of Libertyville but had to hold on for the win.

"I was exhausted," Zalapi said.

"I have not lost this half of the season. I already have as many wins this season as I did last year," Zalapi said.

Working harder and training on his own were key reasons behind the 25-win season. "I have my head on straight and keep my head in the match and try and go out there and have fun and not get myself all out and nervous," Zalapi said.

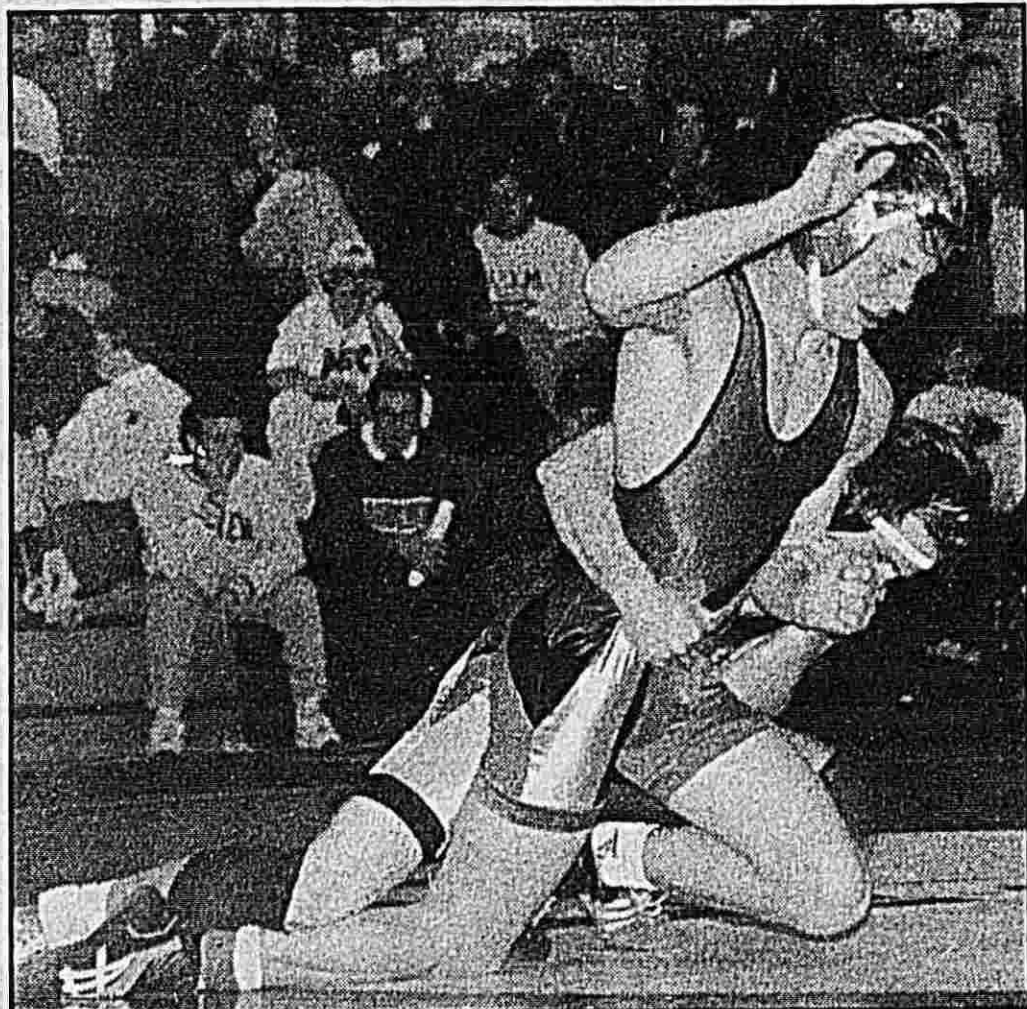

"He put in the time and effort this year," Antioch Coach Ted Sieckowski said. "His work ethic is phenomenal."

Dyer's win came at the wire. Second-place finishes for Antioch were by Justin Dyer at 112, and Stevens.

"We are an above-average team with a lot of balance," Sieckowski said.

Final team scores: Stevenson 111.5; Lake Forest, 88; Fenton 78; Zion-Benton 36.5; Mundelein 12 and North Chicago 9.

center J.R. Jurecko (5 points) elbowed their way for position under the basket. Jurecko, too, picked up his fourth foul early in the third.

Lawrence, however, gave the Sequoias a 10-point lead, 42-32, when he finished the third-quarter scoring. Riepe pleased the crowd by grabbing an offensive rebound, scoring and earning the foul for a three-point play to kick off Antioch's fourth-quarter scoring.

Then the fireworks were launched.

At the 6:11 mark, the two warhorses under the net—Lawrence and Jurecko—got tangled up, and the adrenaline nearly hit the boiling point, as both exchanged words and both benches stood at attention, just waiting for the spark to ignite the fire.

Nothing erupted. The referees calmed both sides down and diplomatically gave both Lawrence and Jurecko their fifth fouls and automatic benchside seats for the remainder of the game.

Less than a minute later, Geraghty was fouled which angered the Libertyville bench to the degree of earning a technical foul. Geraghty dropped in his foul shots as well as the technical foul shots for a four-point boost.

"That was a 6-point play right there and the turning point of the game," said Sanders, who did not agree with the bench technical foul called on his team.

Libertyville bounced back with a pair of treys by Tim Beshel and a three-pointer by Bob Wilcher. Antioch's Kevin Eckenstahler (10 points) was called for his fifth foul with 3:11 left to play.

With both Eckenstahlers and Lawrence now on the bench, Hintz came in for the rescue. He scored all 8 of his points in the last three minutes to help protect the lead. Hintz also sunk the last two buckets to give Antioch the margin of victory.

Libertyville had the chance to set up a three-point play and tie the game with 6 seconds left. After a Libertyville timeout, Antioch played the psychological game and called another timeout.

"I just wanted to see what their alignment was," Dresser said of the Antioch timeout following Libertyville's timeout.

The Wildcats did change their play, but Antioch's defense was in the face of Wilcher, whose three-point attempt was off the mark.

"We needed this one," Dresser said. "I still believe in this team. I think a close game like this shows that we can win the close games."

Whether Antioch (9-10, 3-8) gains the eighth regional seed and subsequent honor to host the first game largely depended on the outcome of the Lake Zurich vs. Grant game Tuesday night. Like Antioch, both teams are vying for the same seed. Final seeding was expected to be made Wednesday night.

Anderson: Lake County is no Orange County

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff reporter

Mention Orange County in California and shivers run up the spines of county, municipal and school officials.

Here, in Lake County, there is a sense of security.

When news broke the ultraconservative California county had filed for bankruptcy, county treasurers from across the country did a double-take on their financial investment portfolios to check if potential high-risk investments could send their public funds spiraling into a $1.5 billion shortfall—as in Orange County.

In Lake County, there was no mass hysteria, no need to panic.

In Orange County, a series of high-risk investments heavily based on interest-rate gambles experienced a $1.5 billion loss when interest rates began their climb last year. Orange County Treasurer Robert Citron had managed a $20-billion investment pool which included funds from other counties, municipalities and schools. He freely invested in bonds or derivatives that he bet would pay more in interest as interest rates fell, which increased the value of the bonds.

His risky strategy worked well until the Federal Reserve began to increase interest rates. As interest rates rose higher, the bonds became less valuable and the bottom fell out, freezing funds and jeopardizing capital projects government bodies had hoped their investments would fund.

"What was happening was that they needed money and looked for a quick fix," said Lake County Treasurer Jack "Red"

Anderson. "I know it can't happen here, and I know it won't happen here."

Anderson further promised, "There is no way what happened in Orange County is going to happen in Lake County as long as I am Treasurer."

Lake and Orange counties share many similarities. Both are traditionally conservative—as an indication, Orange County was the home to former presidents Richard Nixon and Ronald Reagan. Orange County boasts being the fourth wealthiest county in the country; whereas, Lake County is among the top 10 wealthiest counties.

One difference, however, is Illinois' and Lake County's own conservative policies prohibit investing in derivatives and other high-risk schemes.

"We just can't do certain things," stressed Anderson.

For the most part, Lake County invests between $90 million and $100 million in government-backed certificates of deposits and Treasury bonds.

"Even on Treasury bills, we're still backing down because we're getting better rates with CDs," said Lake County Finance Director Raymond Amadei. Depending on the CD and how long the money is invested, the county is receiving about a 5.25 percent return on CDs.

Besides restrictive state statutes, the county established its own investment policy in 1988. "We went ahead and established our own policy that prohibits us from certain investments," Amadei said.

In addition to certificates of deposits and Treasury bonds, the county will invest See COUNTY page B3

There have been no new leads in the mystery surrounding the grisly discovery of two severed female legs. The legs were found by a family dog several weeks ago in Newport Township.

The dog, called Friendly, is owned by the McClure family on Edwards Road. Police say the family is holding up as best they can.

"It has been extremely hard on them," said Cpl. Curt Corsi. "It has turned the family inside out."

On Monday, Jan. 16 the family had let their dog out to roam in the morning. When the dog returned, she had brought back a severed portion of a human leg. On Jan. 21, the same dog brought home the left leg. Police have determined both legs belonged to the same body.

After several searches of the area, police could not find any additional clues. A monitor was placed on the dog with no results and police have since removed the tracking collar.

Lake County Sheriff's deputies located several plastic bags containing women's clothing in a cemetery a mile west of where the legs were found. However, it was later learned the clothes belonged to the victim of a domestic dispute who has not been harmed.

Telexes were sent to numerous police departments with a description of the victim. Police in Valparaiso, Ind. believe the description sent matches the description of a missing woman, Melanie Hostetler.

Hostetler, 21, has been missing since Jan. 14 when she told her boyfriend she was going shopping. Blood samples from Hostetler's parents are being sent, along with DNA samples from the severed legs to be compared.

"Everything is en route to Ohio," said Corsi. "It will take six to eight weeks before results are available."

Forensic experts have analyzed the two legs and have developed a description of the victim. The woman is believed to be Caucasian, in her late teens or early 20s, 5 feet 3 inches to 5 feet 7 inches tall, 130 pounds, with auburn or light brown hair.

The first leg found showed little signs of decomposition and police believed it to have been severed in the past several days. Both legs were cut at mid-thigh with both feet removed.

Montalbano to continue helping others find kids

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

It was a tearful reunion at Century 21 Epifanio and Associates when employee Carolyn Montalbano and her two children stopped by Tuesday afternoon. This was the first time co-workers were able to congratulate Montalbano personally for the successful return of her children after the boys had been abducted by Montalbano's ex-husband four years ago.

"It is hard to believe we are back here," said Montalbano. "I really appreciate the things people have done."

Montalbano had stopped off at the agency after a morning visit with Secretary of State Jim Ryan where they discussed a task force for missing children. "I was impressed with the attention and time he was giving me," Montalbano said.

Montalbano's two sons, Michael and Nicholas, were taken by her former husband, Curt Montalbano, on Jan. 25, 1991 during his first court ordered visitation. Curt apparently took the children to Mexico, living and supporting them on a coffee plantation. Since that time, Montalbano has been searching for her sons.

The trio was reunited last week when Curt agreed to let the boys return to their mother. Montalbano flew to South America with private investigator Tom Hampson after receiving a call at work she could pick up her children.

Since the return, Montalbano and her sons have stayed out of the limelight allowing time to readjust. "We've been trying to do things they remember," said Montalbano. She has taken them to Wendy's, a Blackhawks game, and other old favorite places.

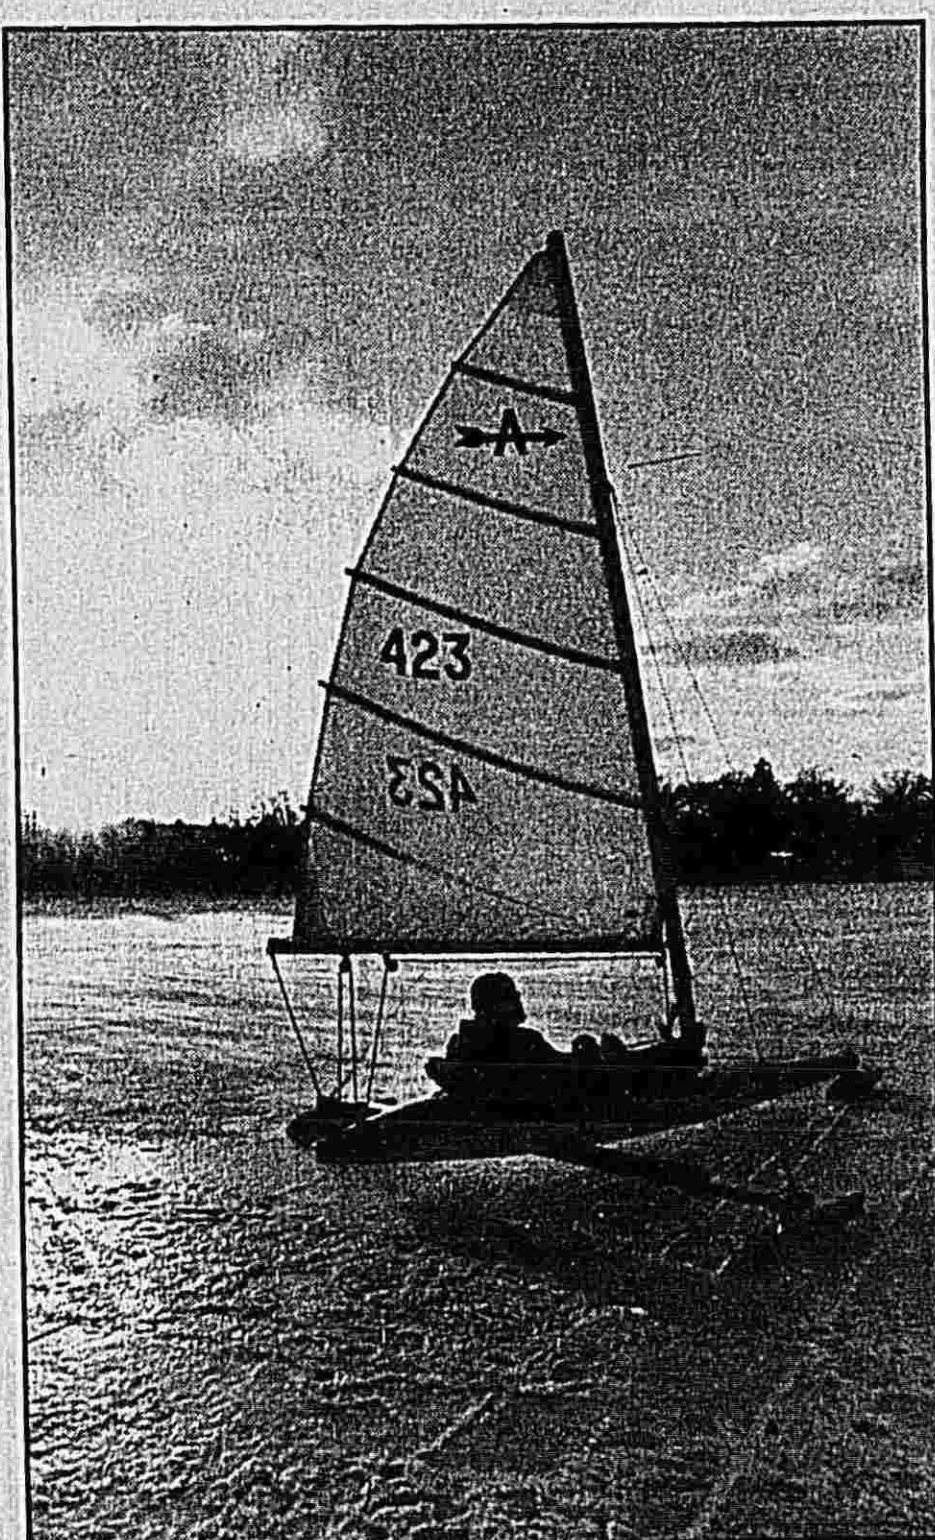

"Last week was fun," said Montalbano. "Now, we are getting down to business."

While in Mexico, the young men were apparently present during the peasant uprising in Chiapas, Mexico. "There was a kind of civil war," said Michael, age 13. "We were always safe."

Even though her children are finally home, Montalbano and Epifanio want to continue their work for missing children. They are hoping to establish a resource center for missing children in Antioch. "I have had a few calls from people who need help," said Montalbano.

Epifanio and Associates are very active in their efforts to help parents of missing children. The agency offers free Project KidCare kits and photographs to help prevent other parents from experiencing the pain of the Montalbanos.

Kits are available at the agency and parents are invited to bring their children by every six months to keep kit pictures current.

Friends, relatives remember heroic veteran

A number of members of Grant High School's graduating class of '61 remember classmate Martin "Marty" Eastham as quiet and outgoing.

Richard Zalke knew his friend as "Mort."

When Marty attended Gavin Elementary and Grant High with Zalke, the used his step-father's name which was Alban.

As equipment manager for the Fighting Bulldogs football team, member of the glee club, Spanish Club as well as hall monitor, Marty was "very outgoing," remembers Zalke. He also had a good personality and was liked by many.

Zalke, now the owner of a barber shop in Johnsburg, recalled a boys night out.

About six high schoolers packed into Marty's 1956 black Ford Sunliner convertible with black and white Naugahyde seats, and went to the Lake Villa Fireman's Carnival on Deep Lake Rd. and Grand Ave.

Marty, sort of a prankster, had four rolls of toilet paper on the door handles of his car in the back and front seat. On the way back from the carnival, Zalke and some of the others decided to unravel the tissue and let it fly out the back of the car.

Marty was driving the car, and didn't know what all the giggling was about in the back seat, said Zalke.

The kids in the back let all the toilet paper go, when they noticed a police car following them. It was police officer Frank Meier.

He pulled the young men over, and suggested the fine for their littering be that they trace their steps back to the carnival, and pick up every stitch of litter in the ditches on the way.

When they arrived back at the carnival, Zalke explained how embarrassed he and the others were for when they opened the doors to get out of the car, all of the garbage they picked up, came out with them.

Michael Galdine, once a resident of Long Lake who now lives in Antioch, recalls Marty as "clean-cut."

Above, with the picture of Martin Eastham in the foreground, Dick Coughlin and Blossom Giunte share a moment of silence together during a dinner in honor of the fallen soldier and the reunion of Coughlin and Eastham's family. Right, Giunte, whose son Martin Eastham was killed in the Vietnam War, embraces Coughlin and his wife, Georgeanne, at Eastham's gravesite in Fox Lake. — Photos by Todd F. Hesler

He didn't smoke or drink, said Galdine, who attended the dinner in honor of Marty, which was set up by fellow Vietnam Veteran Dick Coughlin whose life he saved before he died.

Former Fox Lake Police Chief Ron Nagel agrees. "He was kind of on the quiet side," said Nagel. "He didn't drink, didn't swear, didn't smoke."

Nagel won't soon forget Marty. "He was very likable," said the former chief.

The personality Marty had was nothing less than "super," he added.

Nagel said he and Marty both belonged to car clubs as teenagers, one in particular called the "Road Knights" stands out in his mind.

Although Marty wasn't very mechanical, he loved to wash and wax his cars, especially a bright red Cadillac convertible he owned.

When Nagel was busy pumping gas at the Sinclair station on Grand Ave. and Stanton Point Rd., Marty was serving up hot dogs and fries to customers at a stand across the street.

The last time Zalke remembers seeing Marty, was at a Long Lake tavern where all the old friends met. Marty was home on leave from the service, and decided to go to the "Fire Side Inn" where he would have some pizza, perhaps a beer and shoot some pool with his buddies before going back. This was in the Spring of '64.

Reunion

After winning the title, Coughlin dedicated the game to the man who saved his life, and the words ran in an Arizona newspaper.

Once captive to alcohol and drug abuse which began with prescription drugs, then street type drugs, Coughlin became chemical-independent partly due to counseling, "God saw fit to keep me sober," he said. That was in 1980, and he's been clean and sober ever since.

Still, the pain and confusion he felt on that 20th day of June in 1966 never quite escaped him. Coughlin felt the emptiness, that open book that needed to be closed and put to rest forever. He needed to meet the family of Doc, just to say "Thank you."

A special Vietnam veteran therapist encouraged Coughlin to continue the search for Doc's family members.

After nearly three decades, Coughlin's prayers were answered. Describing it as a "miracle," he felt his inner guilt was lifted, when last week he met the mother of "Doc," and other relatives and friends who knew the dead soldier.

The doorway to the veterans' freedom came after an article ran in the Fox Lake Press Jan. 13, asking for any information that may help Coughlin locate family members of Doc. But it didn't happen immediately.

About a week went by from once the story first ran. Not one call came in about the publicized request.

Peculiarly, the reporter who wrote the story had just hung up the phone with Coughlin, telling him of the bad news, there was yet no response, when another call came in.

It was former Fox Lake Police Chief Ron Nagel who said he had just gotten back from vacation, and picked up the paper. Nagel explained he had been good friends with Eastham all through grade school and high school, where he used the surname Alban, his step-father's name. Nagel's wife, Sharon, was even related to Doc through marriage.

A quick call back to Coughlin on the west coast, started the ball rolling.

When the veteran was told of the good news, his jubilation could hardly be contained. "Is there a mother (who is alive)?" Coughlin excitedly asked. Then he asked if there was anyone else he'd be able to contact.

Yes, the mother is still living, Blossom Giunte who once lived in Ingleside, now resides in Minneapolis.

Coughlin was overjoyed when Nagel gave him her phone number. But it wasn't easy. "It took me ten minutes to get the courage to dial that number," said

Coughlin. Finally he called, and not knowing what exactly to say, he let his heart do the talking. "I said, 'Hello. This is Dick from California, and I love you.'"

Blossom Giunte may have rejected the caller, but didn't. Coughlin's fears went away after he explained to her who he was, and how he knew her son.

Ironically, Doc's family was told Coughlin had also died in the battle. "You're sent from heaven!" she exclaimed.

Before he met the cute little lady with the blooming personality, Coughlin said, "I had a wreath of flowers around my heart, but no where to put it."

"He's (Doc's) gonna come back alive for me," said Coughlin, of the trip he was about to take. Coughlin and his wife, Georgeanne, didn't hesitate to meet with the family they never knew, and immediately made plans to fly to Chicago from their home in Oroville, Calif.

Blossom and Doc's cousin, Anita Hisley from Baltimore, also flew out for what would be an emotional gathering last Thursday.

meeting he's anticipated for almost 29-years will end a long struggle which would begin to heal his life.

When he looked out from his window at the O'Hare Days Inn, Coughlin was right on the money when he described the woman walking down the drive, as Blossom.

The rest of the story is like that of a long, lost son coming back home after a long departure.

And it was almost like he was home, in a place only his buddy from the war had known. "I'm home. I'm home," wept Coughlin of his every step closer to the tombstone where Doc is buried at the Fox Lake Cemetery.

With every pot of flowers placed, it was as if Coughlin was laying down the guilt and unrest which ate at him for many years.

With tears streaming down his face, he looked up to the heaven's, his wife on one side, and Blossom, the mother of the man who saved his life, on the other, and simply told Doc how much he was loved.

A kiss on the tombstone sealed the mourning that Coughlin was never able to express, until now.

Everyone who witnessed the event, was in tears, even the television broadcaster who was filming the touching moment walked away wiping his eyes.

The meeting was a miracle. There was no other way it could happen, said Coughlin.

As if not enough surprises were given to the two families last week, one more thing happened which boggled the minds of all of them.

Coughlin explained after the visit to the cemetery, everyone piled into his rental car, and drove about town looking for a place to eat. Out of all the names for a sandwich joint, why did it have to be this one? Coughlin asked himself. "I've just stopped trying to explain all this," the joyful veteran said of the eerie event.

The name of the restaurant in Richmond is called "Doc E. & Me."

The next three days seemed like a reunion of loved ones, yet just days before the California family and ones from Fox Lake, never even knew each other.

Soon they were eating cherry ice cream out of the same gallon container with five spoons. Doc gave Blossom his world series ring which she wears around her neck on a gold chain. The mother of the fallen hero jokes that now she and Coughlin are going steady.

Blossom gave Coughlin Doc's watch that he bought in Vietnam while they were together.

A dinner at Capos Cove in Fox Lake would mark the end of a miraculous event that ended a three-decade search.

Everyone raved about the food, and Capos provided complimentary champagne in which during a toast by Coughlin, there wasn't a dry eye in the house.

"I believe this spirit and reunion could only have come from God," Coughlin said.

Besides Blossom, Anita, Coughlin and his wife and Coughlin's sister Roberta Borges; Ron Nagel was there with his wife, Sharon, a cousin of Doc's from Chicago was there with his wife-to-be, Dean Van Kuren and Sherry Lyczak; and friends of Doc's Mike and Cathy Galdine as well as Doc's younger sister, Leona Frieze. Coughlin joked lovingly that he's so happy to have another sister.

Those who were instrumental in making this union a reality, were also there, and were praised by Coughlin. For without them, the search may still be going on today.

Diane Freeman of the Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce was the first person Coughlin spoke with several weeks before the reunion. See REUNION page B3

AT A GLANCE

Sewer talks ongoing

LINDENHURST—Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst mayors met last week in an attempt to resolve differences over sewer boundary areas.

Lindenhurst wants more land to the north of the village to be included in its sewer service area in return for allowing the county to have a trail system from the McDonald Woods Forest Preserve through a proposed subdivision which will eventually connect to other Forest Preserves. Also, the Forest Preserve would keep 8 acres of the Bonner Farm which is over 100 years old. Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug said all sides will bring back a proposal which seems equitable to all parties to their respective village boards.

Village gets police station

ROUND LAKE PARK—After 48 years, Round Lake Park residents will finally get a police station. The police station will be housed in the former Park Pet Shop. The village board was able to purchase the site from funds obtained by Countryside Landfill in a $150,000 payment. Mayor Charlene Beyer said the board will determine how the station will be equipped in future strategic planning sessions.

Village to swap land

LAKE ZURICH—Village trustees are scheduled to approve the exchange of a parcel of land next week which will be the site of a new public works facility. If approved during the Feb. 6 board meeting, the village will swap a 5-acre piece of land it owns in the Lake Zurich Industrial Park with a 7-acre parcel 300 feet to the south owned by a land developer. This will allow the village to build an all inclusive public works facility, and remove all public works operations from residential areas. Lake Zurich has set a deadline of Dec. 31, 1996 to have the facility completed. The village's two sewer treatment plants are also to be closed at that time. The Southeast Treatment plant on Old Mill Grove Road will be remodeled and turned into a park and recreation area.

New court opens in Waukegan

PRAIRIE VIEW—Branch Court 5 in Prairie View officially closed its doors Feb. 3 after it heard its final cases Jan. 30. As a controversial cost-saving measure, the branch courts in Prairie View, Zion, Waukegan and North Chicago have been re-located to 430 Lakehurst Road near Lakehurst Mall in Waukegan. Court doors are set to open Feb. 6 at the Waukegan location. Officers and individuals who violate local ordinances in Vernon Hills and Lincolnshire will be assigned court in Waukegan. An advisory committee has been created to investigate ways to re-establish court services in the southern part of Lake County.

80,000 see Christmas lights

VERNON HILLS—Preliminary numbers indicate that as many as 80,000 people visited the "Winter Wonderland" Christmas Light drive-through park at the Cuneo Museum and Gardens in Vernon Hills. The Christmas lights festival was the first of its kind in Lake County, and village officials said more than 21,000 cars (approx. 4 persons per car) traveled through the Christmas lights extravaganza. Due to first-time set up costs, officials expect a first-year loss on the project, but anticipate to make profit in years to come. Officials have already begun planning for next year. Among the issues to be addressed are easing the traffic congestion that piled up on Route 21 after guests exited the drive-through park and developing new ideas and schemes.

Hover craft to help in rescues

WAUCONDA—The Village Fire Department has added a hover craft to its arsenal of rescue tools. The 12-foot long, 600-pound fiberglass machine floats on a bubble of air 18 inches off of any flat surface. It is ideal for rescuing people in water or ice, as well as ferrying equipment or divers to a stationary boat, according to Assistant Fire Chief Bill Glade. The use of the hover craft was donated by BUCOM, a local police equipment supplier.

Mylith Park holds forum

WAUCONDA TOWNSHIP—An unincorporated subdivision situated on the south shore of Slocum Lake, south of Island Lake is holding its third forum to learn what the entire area can do to protect themselves from future flooding concerns. Mylith Park residents are concerned about the impact of increased development to the north on the Slocum Lake Drainage Ditch District. The forum will be held at the Mylith Park Pavilion at 7 p.m. Feb. 7.

Dorm issue on hold

GURNEE—Six Flags Great America is not expected to go forward with its plans to build a dormitory site on the 300-acre park. Theme park officials have withdrawn an amendment to the special use permit. The matter was expected to come before village trustees at the Feb. 6 meeting.

Project C.A.P.E. activities set

MUNDELEIN—Project C.A.P.E. Image Development Committee plans five activities for the community to create a positive environment for 1995. In April, during the Earth Day celebration there will be a landscaping project. In July and September, activities will be held in conjunction with Mundelein Pride Week participation. In October, the village will participate in a new activity called the village-wide Halloween House Decorating Contest. In December, the village will participate in the Second Annual Holiday House Walk. Last year all the activities went very well and this year's new director of the committee, Jeff Hill, has a full schedule planned out for the year.

UPC labels equal school cash

LIBERTYVILLE—Don't throw away those empty cereal boxes! Cut off those UPC labels and help Adler Park School with their fund raiser. Any UPC label that comes off of a seven ounce box or larger adds up to computers, VCRs, computer software and many more items. General Mills School Change Program, donates $.25 for every cereal UPC label that is collected. An extra incentive has been offered from General Mills, for every 1500 labels collected the school will receive $150 in cash to put toward the items on the "Want List." At this time the school has collected 271 UPC labels, which totals $67.75. The program runs throughout the school year and will end May 31.

School pursuing referendum

GRAYS LAKE—Less than six months after a School District 46 building referendum was approved by voters, officials from the school district have the daunting task of selling another referendum to the taxpayers. With the approval of a new building and the growth of the student population, the school district is running a deficit in the education fund and is asking for a 60-cent increase in the April referendum. The increase, spread over a three-year plan, is expected to allow for 40 additional staff personnel, an erasure of the annual $116,000 deficit in the fund and the elimination of the $700,000 debt.

ago, and he said he'll never forget how she was so helpful, directing him to contact Lakeland Newspapers. Ann Roberts, classified manager at Lakeland who placed an ad in the paper about his search, was also seated at the table. And Tina Swiech, the reporter for the Fox Lake Press who wrote the article was also present.

While things were shared about Doc or "Marty" as he was known in the Fox Lake area, Coughlin too, shared some accounts of what he was like during the war.

Doc's sister Leona said she was surprised and pleased to hear that her brother died after not only saving Coughlin's, but many other soldiers during the battle.

Coughlin summed up the three day occurrence like this—"It brought back to me the person I've struggled to bring back for 28 and a half years."

Coughlin wants his story to be heard, in order that it may help someone else in a similar situation.

Now the veteran is at peace, and he has someone's heart to hang his wreath of flowers around.

'Vet Center' helping veterans mend wounds

For veterans who are having problems dealing with past trauma, there's a place that can help.

The "Vet Center," part of the Department of Veteran's Affairs has been helping veterans deal with the post war trauma they often encounter from battles in the military.

Dr. Betsy Tolstedt, Ph.D., from the Vet Center in Evanston supports Vietnam Veteran Dick Coughlin in his decision to seek out family members of a fellow soldier who died while saving his life in the war.

"I think it can make a difference," said Tolstedt. The veteran's search is "critical in terms of his treatment, in terms of the healing process," she explained.

When Coughlin flew out from California last week to go to the gravesite of his dead comrade, he was finally able to mourn the loss of the hero Martin "Doc" Eastham, properly.

Tolstedt explained many veterans miss out on funerals and memorials of their killed fellow soldiers because they are involved in combat and can't get away.

Unfortunately, like Coughlin, alcoholism and drug abuse is common among many veterans. Tolstedt described it as an effort to treat themselves, which turns around only to hurt them.

The Vet Center is free of charge to eligible veterans, said Tolstedt, and there are five locations throughout the greater Chicago area.

in interest-bearing checking or saving accounts. More than 90 percent of the investments are at banks and branches located in Lake County.

"They have enough money that we can get good deals from our own banks," Anderson said.

Another key to the county's sound investments is all investments are government insured or backed 100 percent by collateral from the banks. Anderson said he frequently gets mail and literature from banks advertising higher returns but no insurance. Many banks offering no insurance, he said, "belly up" because people do not want to take the risk.

Amadei re-assured, "As long as you have it collateralized, you're not going to lose a dime."

Orange County also made the mistake of borrowing as much as $12 billion simply to invest in the high-risk gamble. "I'm not going to borrow money to invest," Anderson said.

As far as he is concerned, Lake County is no Orange County.

Amadei added, "There is no story here in Lake County. It is almost a non-issue. I know our $100 million is safe."

Education reform door opens wide

Gov. Edgar, in his customary cautious, carefully considered approach to leadership, has proclaimed support for only one of the options voiced for educational reform—creation of charter districts. We applaud him for that.

Adoption of a charter-school statute by the Legislature would unburden selected school districts from mandates and red tapes. Under one plan, 45 school districts would be granted considerable autonomy. Creation of some charter districts in Chicago could well be the path to breaking the union stranglehold that has produced a political monopoly and a disgraceful educational system.

With the governor's backing and his party's control of the legislative process, charter schools ought to be given a try. Prospects for improving public education are truly exciting.

Another basically Republican educational initiative—vouchers—deserves a test, if only on a limited scale. It's difficult to imagine who would oppose tax supported school choice if vouchers were tried in poor and underprivileged areas where there is the most to be gained.

It's surprising, but refreshing, to hear moderate and normally timid voices speak out in favor of revisions in the teacher tenure law, especially changes that would make it possible for non-credentialed professionals to gain access to classroom positions. With the given GOP majority in the General Assembly and a political climate favoring change, the time is right to attempt overhaul of the pervasive and outmoded teacher tenure laws.

Taken together or singly, the suggestions above offer promise for beneficial changes in the way Illinois operates public education. Note: no mention was made of overhauling the way schools are funded. The crushing complexities of school finance could be overcome as a matter of course if other advances were made first.

Preserve, protect: a tight rope walk

How the development of the sprawling multi-use Lake Lure project in west Lake County unfolds will provide a definitive test of what appears to be a "kinder, gentler" approach to land acquisition by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist.

Members of the district's land acquisition committee have let it be known that they are interested in preserving a vast pristine marsh once sought by the State of Illinois for a conservation area that comprises approximately half of the 850 acres proposed for development by the wealthy Pritzker family of Chicago. The wetlands surrounded by rolling countryside are located within the boundaries of the Village of Round Lake.

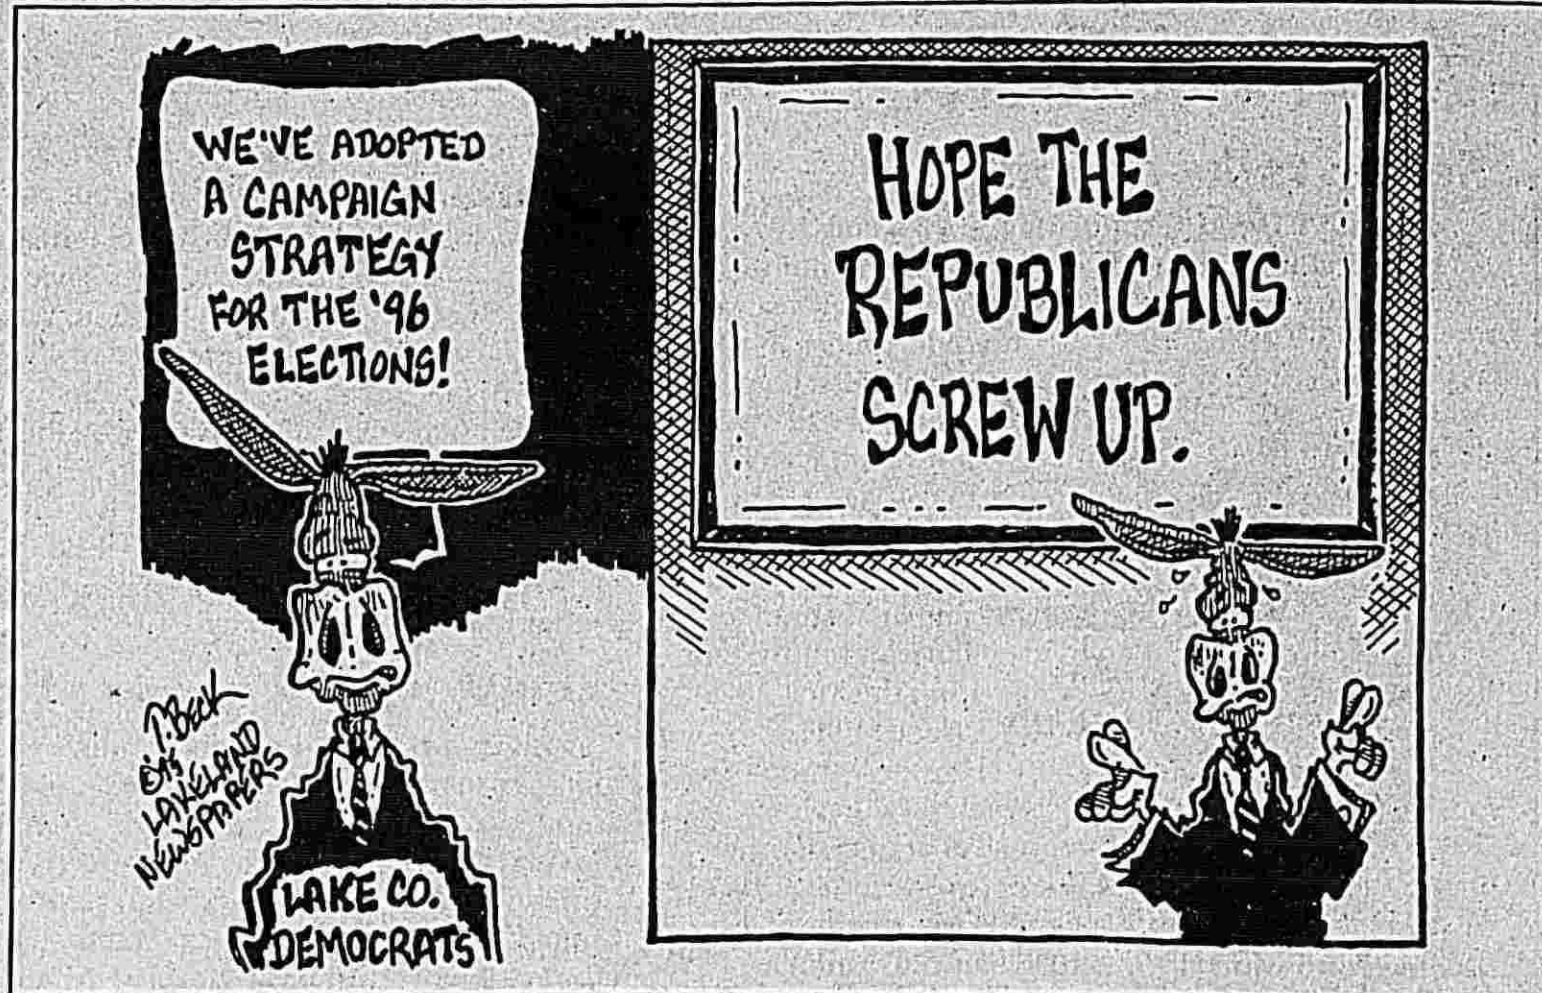

A previous county administration might have sought a forced acquisition under the threat of eminent domain. The current county and Forest Preserve Dist. majority upon ascension to power two years ago scuttled the previous board's aggressive land acquisition program and since has added space through a negotiated price policy, admittedly operating from a site selection stance best described as more strategic than enhancement of open space.

Now, with the impetus of a bond issue in excess of $30 million, county officials have moved into a more receptive mode of land acquisition, combining outright purchase with inducements to the owners to donate. The county modified potential harm to the environment in connection with the Sun Lake residential development between Antioch and Lake Villa with a land purchase. Preservation of land with historical significance was completed with the acquisition of the Bonner homestead. Westfield Homes donated land to the Forest Preserve Dist. and a trail system in exchange for sewer and water service. Instigating the exchange was County Board Chairman Robert Depke.

Now comes the Pritzker proposition with an opportunity for the county to minimize the impact of environmental harm and at the same time enhance open space. As Commissioner Suzi Schmidt (R-Lake Villa), chair of land acquisition put it, the county's purpose is not to stop development, but to "preserve and protect" appropriate open space.

An integral part of the process is the cooperation of local elected officials. In the case of the Bonner Farm, Lindenhurst trustees enthusiastically supported the developer land donation. It remains to be seen whether Round Lake officials will participate in a similar fashion.

If county officials hold to what appears to be their present course, the delicate job of protecting both public and private interests at the same time can be accomplished. Everyone wins when this occurs.

—Viewpoint— Martin offers primer for spring candidates

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

Jack Martin is never dull and he's never predictable. On this, both critics and supporters agree.

The highly successful businessman is known as a vocal foe of higher taxes (Martin founded IRATE) and an able supporter of candidates in village and county government who share his views. Martin, as much as anyone, has made local elections high tech using computerized data base mailings.

But even with a reputation that precedes him, Jack caught the political world (make that Lake County) off guard with his announcement that he intends to seek election to the Libertyville village board.

As engaging as he is sometimes irritating, Martin put out a statement of candidacy that could well be regarded as a primer for local office seekers. Substitute your hometown for Libertyville and see if this doesn't make a lot of sense:

"I want to restore the opportunity for all village residents young and old to be able to live in Libertyville all their lives with the highest quality of village services. I do not want some bureaucrats or lawyers deciding they know what is best for Libertyville by taking economic opportunity away from village residents. I believe the most important resource Libertyville families have is their financial base, their ability to own a home, live comfortably and provide whatever they feel they want to spend their money on, and not have someone else take those decisions away in higher taxes."

OPPOSITES ATTRACT—Two columnists I hold in great admiration came up with startling observations last week on who will be the U.S. presidential contenders in 1996.

Don't be surprised, Dr. Michael Evans wrote, if Gen. Colin Powell becomes the Democratic standard bearer. Democrats will be desperate to dump Clinton, the Washington economist reasoned, and Powell would be a popular choice because of the party's stands on social issues which he shares. Conservative commentator Tom Roeser, better known as a Chicago talk radio show host, wrote that it won't be surprising if former Gov. Lamarr Alexander slides in as the Republican nominee. Two reasons: he possesses the determination to raise money early and he's a moderate.

I have not seen these prognostications before.

MUSEUM GIFT—Jim Hotham, chairman of Great Lakes VOICE, the not-for-profit corporation that spearheaded the campaign in 1993 to save Great Lakes Naval Training Center, announced that monies remaining in the treasury will be donated to the Great Lakes Naval Museum Assn. Good choice.

Earmarked for the museum is $1,233.78. All in all, VOICE raised $43,225 to present the case for saving Great Lakes before the federal Base Realignment and Closure Commission (BRAC). In his report, Hotham noted that the danger of closing Great Lakes has passed even though BRAC still is in business. Hotham said the only "problem" Great Lakes now faces is the possibility of being assigned more activities from other bases which will be closed.

VOICE spent nearly half of the contributions on legal expenses and consulting fees.

CLOSE, BUT NO CIGAR—Save for the flick of a defender's hand, former Carmel star athlete and second-year pro griddler Jeff Zgonina would have played in the Super Bowl last Sunday instead of watching it on TV like the rest of us. That was the difference between winning and losing a league title game for Zgonina's Pittsburgh Steelers. Jeff's teammate, Quarterback Neal O'Donnell, told reporters the difference for a successful touchdown pass and victory was an inch. As it was, Jeff and his family viewed the game from their Barrington home.

PARTY LINES

Crane says plot for new retirement fund taxes not possible

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column on political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Kudos go to Avon Township Supervisor Russell Christian and U.S. Representative Phil Crane for defusing published misinformation. In an investment column, Copley News Service published an article regarding new regulations to tax various retirement income. The columnist said Hillary Clinton, chairman of the Department of Social Equality, looking for new ways to squeeze more money from the tax system, had turned her wrath on the $9 billion held in IRAs, pension funds and profit-sharing plans.

A concerned Avon Township resident directed questions about the column to Christian, who in turn wrote to Crane to get answers directly from Capitol Hill. Though Crane did question Clinton's intentions, he was clear in stating the existence of the new regulations were undeniably false.

Specifically, the article said: new regulations will require pension funds to invest 20 percent of their assets into socially useful investments with collateral benefits; every retirement plan will be taxed annually; in 1996, every retirement plan will pay a 15 percent tax on its market value; DOSE will also tax inside buildup and annual contributions to your retirement plan including contributions by your employer, will also be taxed at the 15 percent rate.

"No such legislation has been proposed, and I can tell you that as long as I am the second ranking Republican on the Ways and Means Committee and as long as Republicans are in control of Congress, such a tax will not be enacted—period," Crane responded.

Lake County impact—State Senator David Barkhausen (R-Lake Bluff) believes Lake County residents will see big differences in the areas of improving business and job climates as well as education as a result of a GOP majority in the state senate. "We are hoping to be successful in removing mandates imposed by the state on local schools districts," Barkhausen said. "The public can also expect a lot of activity in the area of improving businesses and job climates."

Correction—Party Lines owes Barkhausen a big apology for an error in last week's column. The senator was never indicted on charges of abusing office perks, merely investigated. "I haven't heard anything about the allegations in more than six months," Barkhausen said. "Frankly, they never stand up and exonerate you, but as far as I know the allegations are no longer an issue." The charges were brought by an ex-secretary. Furthermore, an item appearing in a column in late summer said the senator had not been attentive to the insurance committee he chairs, Barkhausen has never been a member of the committee. The errors are deeply regretted. Party Lines hopes this sets the record straight.

Oil and water—Democratic Committee Chairman Terry Link has been seen escorting a devout Republican. Let's hope they can avoid political discussions.

Implosion vs. explosion—The seven-story Cuneo Press Building in downtown Chicago may be nothing but Link rubble now, thanks to the city's newly enacted implosion program, but look for the former John F. Cuneo Estate in Vernon Hills to witness a population explosion. The 1,100-acre site is soon to be the home of a 2,200-unit, upscale housing development. Lake County and the Village of Vernon Hills are close to working out engineering and sewer details of the project. Final plat approval is expected this spring. Early estimates project between 5,000 and 6,000 residents to be living in the golf-course community.

Reelected—Lake County Chairman of the Board Robert W. Depke has been re-elected president of the Metro Counties Council of Illinois. The council includes nine counties representing the largest combined population in the state: Lake, Cook, DuPage, Kane, Will, Winnebago, Madison, St. Clair and McHenry. The council works toward unified legislative efforts that will benefit the group. The is Depke's second term at the helm.

High-tech campaign—American

Information Systems, Inc. (AIS) of Schaumburg has announced the creation of an Internet forum for the reelection campaign of Chicago Mayor Richard M. Daley. The campaign's Internet address, "news@Daley95.org" will provide the campaign with the ability to post press releases, schedules, speeches and campaign announcements for widespread distributions. Party Lines wonders if this will be a popular form of campaigning in Lake County's future.

Assessments draw complaints—The Lake County Assessor's office routinely receives the highest number of tax assessment complaints from Elia Township residents, and this year is no different. Around 800 complaints were received before the Jan. 23 deadline, according to Kenneth L. Larson, supervisor of assessments. Last year 679 Elia residents complained, and the increase is attributable to a change from a manual to computerized system of assessing properties. Many of the 14,000 properties were undervalued for some time, and had been based on 1980 costs until this year, said Pamela Hoffman, Elia Township assessor. The computerized method has resulted in a huge increase in property taxes of 25 percent or more in some cases. One resident is so upset he is thinking of forming a class-action lawsuit against the township.

Keeping promise—State Representative Al Salvi (R-Wauconda) says he is staying with his original pledge to serve six years in the state legislature, then leave. Salvi believes people who stay too long begin trying to get re-elected and follow in step with the political machine over properly serving their districts. "People think they can get re-elected by not rocking the boat. They lose sight of the reason they got elected and that is to get something done. The only people I answer to are my constituents," he said.

Klemm chair—State Senator Dick Klemm (R-McHenry County) has been appointed to serve on the Senate Transportation, Financial Institutions and Executive Committees by Senate President James "Pete" Philip (R-Wood Dale). Klemm was also named Chairman of the Local Government and Elections Committee.

Forcing mandates—Congressman Phillip M. Crane is accusing the Clinton Administration of trying to "Shove federal mandates down the throats" of such states as Illinois. The charge followed Attorney General Janet Reno's announcement the Federal Government is suing Illinois, California and Pennsylvania for failing to comply with the national Voter Registration Act, known as the "motor-voter bill." Crane believes the federal government should come up with funding for the estimated $37 million in cost for the program. We couldn't agree more.

Trying again—Ray LeCroix is gearing up to take on County Board Rep. Dick Raftis (R-Wildwood) again in 1996. "Never hurts to start campaigning early," says LeCroix, who lost to Raftis in the 1992 Republican primary by 130 votes. LeCroix said Raftis will have a tough time winning one Grayslake precinct. That's where the challenger is the GOP committeeman.

Vote noticed—Congressman John Porter's vote against a required three-fifths majority for tax increases in House test balloting last week didn't go unnoticed by a number of Republicans in the 10th Dist.

Porter was among only eight Republicans who didn't vote with their party on the first test of support for the three-fifths majority. The affable veteran lawmaker had ample opportunity to explain with two appearances in Waukegan last weekend, one for a town hall meeting and the other at Grand Palace in Gurnee for the Libertyville-Mundelein-Vernon Hills Chamber of Commerce installation banquet.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

Money funds capital improvements

Editor:

In the past few weeks "Whisperings" callers have questioned the Fox Waterway Agency's accountability with regard to the "millions" appropriated by the state for the agency. Similar questions have been raised about grants.

The state has generously appropriated General Revenue Bonds monies almost each year of the agency's existence. These, unfortunately, are for capital improvements only and not for operations. We never see those monies, but may apply to the state for purchases of land or equipment after their approval for payment. A complete breakdown is available from IDOT or our offices upon request.

Nobody has previously questioned the agency's use of grant monies because, until recently, no one ever bothered to apply for grants. I am pleased to report that in the past two years over $700,000 in grants have been approved for improvements to the waterways.

Grant monies, like General Revenue Bonds appropriations, are not directly paid to the agency. First, we must submit a plan pursuant to the grant guidelines. If approved, we then spend our own resources. After inspection of the project to see that we have performed according to the specifications, we are then reimbursed.

We will continue to work diligently to seek state and federal assistance for our projects. We welcome inquiries and are happy that people take an interest in how we manage our resources.

Society of careless slob

Editor:

My daughter began to ask why people threw trash out of car windows and onto street pavements. She began to ask this question during her fifth year. Today, she will on occasion pick up stray trash off the ground. When she does this, she does it naturally, and will occasionally comment on how puzzling she finds the act which placed the garbage there in the first place.

I find it difficult to answer my daughter's question without alluding to the truth of the matter:

You are a lot of careless slob. I think that you ought to be fined uniformly and severely for chucking stuff from candy wrappers to chewing gum to cigarettes onto public spaces. Should the rest of us sit by and wait and do the politically correct and nauseatingly passive "Adopt a Highway" thing? To ignore these transgressions is to become tolerant of and to continually acquit violations of common decency and the law.

That is why I am calling on all responsible citizens to indicate your dissent. Perhaps this could be representative of a renewal of community respect. Some gesture of dissent (honking might cause accidents) to the violation should signify personal and community distress or disgust for your fellow citizens who never learned the full meaning of self and community respect. This will help the unfortunate ignorant slob learn about these valuable lessons that the majority of us just take for granted.

Perhaps we ought to have an "Adopt an Offender" open house forum in which people can, at will, dump garbage like used baby diapers, old McDonald's hamburgers or last month's lunch on their front porch, or better yet, on their living room floor.

When my daughter reads this she may remain puzzled.

'Read the Bible'

Editor:

I read with interest the "Lipservice" commentary titled, "Read the Bible," in the Jan. 27 Lakeland newspaper. I too am exasperated by the frequent misuse of scripture in support of various political or moral positions. In contrast to the author's declaration, however, I must point out that this is far less a problem among the so-called "religious right." Those opposed to abortion must do so from a biblical perspective.

I encourage the author to follow his/her own instruction to "stop and re-read Genesis." Please take note that there are two basic requirements for understanding the scriptures—accept the plain meaning of the text whenever possible and always consider the context.

With this in mind, we discover that pain in childbirth (Genesis 3:16) was a punishment for Eve's part in original sin, not childbirth itself. Checking the context, we also discover that God's command to Adam and Eve before sin (Genesis 1:28) was to "be fruitful and increase in number." It surely was God's original plan for Adam and Eve to have offspring.

Following this basic requirement for understanding scripture, we also clearly discover that from the moment of conception, a new human being exists and the taking of that life is immoral and sinful. It is possible to separate a true Christian from the Bible, and it impossible for one to be anything but anti-abortion if they are a true Christian. If one wants to argue this issue, do so with the authors of the Bible, not me.

Conservation corps builds bridges

"Building Bridges for Community, Careers & Conservation" is the focus of this year's Lake Co. Forest Preserves' Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) program. The corps will kick off the 1995 season with a contributor recognition and awards ceremony on Wednesday, Feb. 8, at Brae Loch Golf Course near Grayslake.

The event, hosted by the YCC board and President Barbara Posner of Tenneco Automotive in Lincolnshire, will recognize the outstanding efforts and contributions made by YCC participants and supporters.

"For over 20 years, YCC has provided summer jobs for hundreds of young men and women. They develop environmental awareness and a strong work ethic while completing valuable projects such as tree planting, bridge building and trail construction," said Jim LaBelle, Lake Co. Forest Preserve president.

An awards presentation will honor YCC supporters in the areas of youth sponsor, program sponsor, contributing sponsor and agency award. Participant presentations will be made this year by Nora Walsh of Lincolnshire and Thomas Sisterman of Libertyville.

Since 1981, area business leaders and individuals have raised over $500,000 to fund the youths' salaries. The program relies on donations to fund the positions, with a donation of $1,700 supporting each teenager. Last year, over $72,000 was raised, supporting 40 crew positions. This year's goals is to raise $80,000 for 44 positions.

For more information on the Youth Conservation Corps, call Bob McCammon, forest preserve project manager, at 526-0238.

Adorable companions looking for your love

Barney and Boomer.

"Barney" and "Boomer" are two adorable springer spaniel brothers with sad droopy eyes, long floppy ears and curly, freckled coats. Just four years old, they were found severely malnourished when they came to the shelter in July of 1994. In good health now, they both have delightful personalities. Both are good with children and housebroken.

Come to see Barney and Boomer in Cage 61 at Orphans of the Storm at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week. Call 945-0235 for further information.

Orphans of the Storm is pleased to announce the adoption of two dogs featured as Pet of the Week in Lakeland Newspapers—Patches, a large hound mix, was a resident for over a year; and Teddy, a lab mix who had been at the shelter since December of 1992.

"Buttons" is a sweet little lady. It took her some time to mellow, but now she just can't get enough attention. Buttons has a tri-color coat, with a tiny splash of light color down her nose. Call the Assisi Animal Foundation, Crystal Lake, (815)455-9411, for an appointment to see this or

'Rain's' special effects steal show

The Candlelight Dinner Playhouse in Summit is doing something backwards and the result is a "musicanza" of hit proportions.

We've often seen the movie version of a best selling book or a hit Broadway play. Candlelight's moguls William Pullinsi and Anthony D'Angelo have turned out a new production of "Singing in the Rain" that is a first, at least as far as this reviewer is concerned.

This is the first time we've seen a classic musical movie, one actually rated in the Top Ten Film Musicals of All Time, turned into a stage musical.

The stage production is done with a classical finesse that turns out a product as fresh as 1995 because it's brought to life by the best special stage effects we've seen in a long time. The contagious exuberance of the cast also keeps an old story young.

REVIEW by Gloria Davis

We've seen the movie at least a dozen times and enjoyed this living copy as much, if not more than his first time Gene Kelly cavorted in a downpour over 40 years ago.

"The Wiz" was a stage version of another classic movie musical, "The Wizard of Oz." But this was just a complete other version of the famous children's book, with the main plot the only thing the musicals had in common.

In Candlelight's version of "Rain," directed by Pullinsi himself, feats are accomplished on the theater-in-the-round's stage that were difficult enough to do with a Hollywood sound stage's capability.

The outstanding cases in point, the famous "Singing in the Rain" dance, done superbly by Bernie Yvon, who plays Don Lockwood, the silent movie star.

We won't spoil it by going into detail, but if you have a ring-side seat, don't wear anything that shrinks when wet.

Heretofore, we thought that the great Donald O'Connor had a corner on "Make 'em Laugh," Bernie Yvon, Ann-Marie Rogers and Andrew Lupp perform in the Candlelight Dinner Playhouse's production of "Singing in the Rain."

but Andrew Lupp, who plays Cosmos Brown, does an almost perfect replay, which has to be more difficult when done live. Lori Hammel is a perfect Lina See RAIN page B13

SUZIE REED

Regional Editor

Although riverboat gambling hasn't made it to Lake County, Carmel High School has its own version of a riverboat in dry dock for this year's "Street Scenes."

This popular annual tradition is scheduled for Feb. 10 and 11 at the school. Doors open at 6:30 p.m. and visitors will enter a world of fantasy as entertainers "Rewrite the Fairy Tales." The stories nestled in childhood memories will never seem the same after a tour through the rooms of Carmel High School.

"We've had a very good response from our ads," said General Chairman Bob Clancy. "We have new room sponsors, more than we've had in quite a few years, and we have one more show-room."

Clancy is co-chairing the event with his wife Arlene. Organizers suffered a serious setback last April when a trailer full of scenery flats and room marquees was destroyed in a suspected arson fire. Most of the $8,000 loss was covered by insurance. A new semi-trailer has been purchased and much of the cardboard and plywood was donated. Volunteers have answered the call and have rebuilt all of the more than 600 flats and 25 marquees.

"Last July we had about 50 hard-working people out in the parking lot on a Saturday morning," said Clancy. The workers put together 400 flats at that time. The remainder were built in January along with the marquees, and everything is in readiness for this year's production.

"We're looking forward to having a lot of good entertainment for the general public," said Clancy. "It's a well-oiled machine. We have a lot of talented people organizing and putting on the shows."

Join the Carmel Alumni for "Fractured Fairy Tales," an unusual selection of stories featuring Red Riding Hood, Goldilocks, Peter Piper and Prince Charming. Carmel students have put together their own version of "Mother Goose." The St. Gilbert singers will hold W.W.A.R.T. (Wicked Women's Anonymous Revival Training). Fans of the Kirk Players won't want to miss "A Fairly Farsical Fabrication of Fairy Tales or Antlers in the Tree."

Volunteers from area villages have come up with many more twisted tales. The audience should expect anything during Mundelein's "Funky Flakey Fairy Tales," a romp through Fairyland with the Fairy Godmother, Rumpelstiltskin, and Prince Charming. On a more somber note, Libertyville will present a literal version of (Grim)m's Fairy Tales. The offering from Vernon Hills will include a prom queen contest featuring Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. Those who missed the Simpson trial will find courtroom drama when "The Three Little Pigs go to Court" in the Grayslake show. "Bedtime Stories with Edith Ann and Mickey" are guaranteed to keep everyone awake when Lake Zurich performers take the stage. The City of Waukegan will give a western twist to an old favorite with "Cinderella on the Ponderella."

The waiting lounges will offer music for every taste along with snacks and beverages. Performers include Swing'n Easy, Susan & Company, Kim Murphy, Chicago Gear & Transmission Co. and Docs on the Dock. Plenty of laughs will be found in the "Comic Relief" room with Manic Impressive. Those with a taste for food and drink from the Emerald Isle must visit the "Irish Pub" where they will also find Irish musicians and dancers. The "Carmel Rock Cafe" will shake with the sounds of the Smile Band, and Saturday night will bring the talents of Russell Stern to the cafe.

A new and exciting feature this year is the "Casino Room," where a $5 admission charge will guarantee a challenging opportunity to participate in games of chance in the old gymnasium.

"We're putting it on in conjunction with the Mundelein Rotary club," said Clancy. "We're always looking for ways to improve our contribution to the school."

The joint venture will be operated similar to the Rotary's "Casino Night" at the Holiday Inn. Games will include blackjack, poker and roulette along with possibly craps and a "big wheel."

The popular food courts will again be located at all the "crossroads," offering a variety of gastronomical delights along with beer, wine, cocktails and soft drinks. New this year is a Brat House. Most food stands will begin shutting down about 1 a.m., when the last show is scheduled. The pancake breakfast will run until about 1:30 a.m.

The cost for an entire evening of music and laughs is only $12.50. Visitors must be 21. Admission does not include the midway games, refreshments or the casino.

Some parking is available at the school, at 1 Carmel Parkway, off Route 176 in Mundelein. Free shuttle buses will stop at other marked lots at banks and shopping centers along Hawley St. all during the evenings. Four buses will run on Friday night, six on Saturday.

"Transportation will be available very quickly," Clancy promised.

Tickets are available at the door or may be obtained in advance; call the school at 566-3000.

"We're always very fortunate to have the backing of the students, faculty, administration, merchants, parents and friends," said Clancy. "It all works out for the benefit of the school. It's a good example of teamwork."

In the Grayslake show, the three little pigs go to court. Judge (Kathy West) interrogates the wolf (Bob Krombach) and defense attorney (Kathy Green).

CLC presents 'A Thousand Cranes'

CLC Presents "A Thousand Cranes," a children's theatre production by ArtReach Touring Theatre (Cincinnati, Ohio), will be performed at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 8 at the College of Lake County auditorium, 19351 W. Washington St., Grayslake.

The play tells the touching true story of a little girl who inspired millions of people with a simple message—"Peace in the World." Twelve years after the bombing of her home in Hiroshima, Sadako bravely struggles for long life by keeping the Japanese tradition of one thousand paper cranes as a symbol of hope. Although she does not survive, her spirit lives on in the hearts of today's children.

Tickets are $3. Advance ticket purchase is recommended. Call 223-6601, ext. 2300 for tickets.

Fisherman, Fables, Frogs'

The Northbrook Theatre continues its fantastic "Kids Need Culture, too," series on Feb. 18 at 2 p.m. with a visit from the popular Kidworks Touring Theatre Company.

This professional touring theatre presents "Fishermen, Fables and Frogs," featuring the best of Aesop, Andersen and the brothers Grimm. In the production, Phyllis hates to read until, quite by accident, she opens a book and a character tumbles out and shows Phyllis what a little imagination can do to bring a story to life. All seats priced at only $5 with discounts available for groups taking advantage of our Birthday Party Package. Call 291-2367 for tickets or information.

Enjoy storytime at Kohls

Drop by the Kohl Children's Museum for storytime on Friday, Feb. 10 and Thursday, Feb. 16 at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. when storyteller Gina Blake reads African and African-American tales.

Blake's tales will help the Museum celebrate Black History Month. Young visitors can make stories come alive by making props and working puppets or creating stories all their own. They can step into a whole new world to discover the rich oral tradition of African culture.

The Kohl Children's Museum is located at 165 Green Bay Road, Wilmette. Hours are Tuesday-Saturday, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sunday, noon - 5 p.m. and closed Monday. Admission is $4; seniors $3 and children under one free. For information, call 256-6056.

Chocolate contest

Seasons of Long Grove is sponsoring a "Why I Love Chocolate" essay contest for students up to and including the fifth-grade. All entries must be written in 50 words or less and should arrive at Seasons of Long Grove, 314 Old McHenry Road, Long Grove by Feb. 11.

The prize is the winner's weight in chocolate, with the weigh-in on Feb. 18. Children need a parent's permission to enter. For more information call 634-9150.

Disney World on Ice

Olympian and two-time Canadian national skating champion Karen Preston will skate the star role in Walt Disney's World on Ice—Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, when the dazzling extravaganza glides into the Chicago's United Center now through Feb. 12. For ticket information call the United Center at (312)455-4500.

Tom Chapin at Woodstock

Singer-songwriter Tom Chapin will present two concerts at the Woodstock Opera House on Feb. 4 at 2 and 8 p.m.

Chapin will present his very popular children's show at 2 p.m.

and an evening concert with primarily adult oriented material at 8 p.m. Each concert will contain Chapin family classics and new songs as well.

Chapin is one of America's most beloved singers. A gifted performer who charms audiences of all ages, he began his career during the folk renaissance in New York City's Greenwich Village in the 1960s.

Chapin's catchy, humorous songs have a universal appeal which invite audience participation and spotlight a diversity of musical styles, from ballads to blues and folk to classical.

"Mine is not a traditional music, but it comes from tradition," said Chapin.

Catholic Charities plans Valentine benefit

Restraining from honking the horn or racing the roaring battery-operated engine of the sleek replica of a grand prix Lamborghini, Danny Vavrnek from Arlington Heights pauses to be photographed and phone a friend. Victoria Kauss from Schaumburg donated this road racer sports car to the Catholic Charities' Northwest Suburban Services' sixth annual "Hearts for the Homeless" dinner/auction to be held at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 12 at the Cotillion in Palatine, Rtes. 14 and 53.

"Hearts for the Homeless" benefits the homeless of all denominations in the northwest suburbs. Cost is $45 per person (cash bar) or $450 for a table of 10. Reservations are needed by Feb. 6. For benefit information call Sr. Jenny at 870-0560.

'Rumors'

The Northbrook Theatre is gearing up to entertain area audiences once again with its all-out-no-holds-barred style of producing Broadway favorites. The hit comedy, "Rumors," by Neil Simon, fills the bill for curing the winter doldrums. Performances run Fridays and Saturdays through Feb. 4, with performances at 8 p.m., and one special Sunday Matinee being offered at 3 p.m. on Jan. 29. Tickets are $12 at the door, $10 in advance. Call 291-2367 for ticket reservations.

'Broken Up'

Andre's Steakhouse and Rosebud Productions announce the opening of their second show. The Nick Hall comedy "Broken Up" is sure to tickle your funny-bone. It concerns a thirty-something couple who attempt to mend their broken marriage with some wild shenanigans. The play features the talents of Virginia Fitzgerald of Grayslake, as Meg, Vincent Merry of Gurnee as Tom, Josh St. John of Lake Villa as Gordon, and Shane Kisner of Twin Lakes, Wis., as Roger. The show dates are Feb. 4, 5, 10, 11, 12, 17, 18, 19, 24 and 25. Call (815) 678-2671 for information and reservations. The show is stage managed by Deane Jones of Round Lake and is directed by Tom Hausman of Antioch. Andre's is located on Rte. 12 one-half mile north of Rte. 173 in Richmond.

'Keely and Du'

"Keely and Du," Jane Martin's controversial and timely play about the abortion issue opens Sunday, Feb. 26 and plays through Sunday, March 26 at the Apple Tree Theatre Co., 595 Elm Pl., Highland Park. A riveting drama that reveals all sides of the debate through the relationship between a pregnant rape victim, Keely and her captor, Du, an older female member of a radical anti-abortion group. The play stars Kate Buddeke as Keely; Mary Ann Thebus as Du; Ned Schindlke as Walter; and Ray Frewen as Cole. Gary Griffin is the director. Tickets are $22 to $24. For further information and reservations call 432-4335.

'Dreamgirls'

Lincolnshire Theatre, Ten Marriott Dr., Lincolnshire presents "Dreamgirls" now through April 2. "Dreamgirls" chronicles the rise of the "The Dreams," a female trio, from their humble beginnings to pop music stardom during the 1960s. Performances are Wednesdays at 2 and 8 p.m.; Saturdays at 5:30 and 9 p.m.; and Sundays at 2:30 and 7 p.m. Tickets to all performances are $32.50. Senior citizens and students receive $10 off the regular ticket price Wednesday 2 and 8 p.m. performances and Sunday 2:30 p.m. performance. Most Thursday performances receive a free fish or steak dinner with the purchase of a full price theatre ticket. Reservations can be made by calling the box office at 634-0200.

'Mikado' auditions

The Park Ridge Gilbert and Sullivan Society (PaRiGaSS) will hold auditions for "The Mikado" on Saturday, Feb. 4 from noon to 4 p.m., and Monday, Feb. 6 from 7 to 10 p.m. auditions will be held at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 306 S. Prospect Rd., Park Ridge. Callbacks will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 7 from 7 to 10 p.m. Those pursuing lead roles are asked to prepare an aria from "The Mikado." Those interested in chorus parts are asked to prepare a piece from a Gilbert and Sullivan show or a light opera piece in English. Participants will be asked to read from the script. Dance/movement will be required. Performances dates are May 12, 13, 18, 19 and 20. The play will be directed by Greg Kolak. For more information call 299-1939 or (312) 774-8603.

Jason Clark as Foster and Barbara Singer as Connie in a scene from "Arrangements" at Stage Two.

'Arrangements'

Stage Two Theatre, 12 N. Sheridan Rd., Waukegan presents "Arrangements," a comedy by John Fritz. "Arrangements" is an enjoyable affair, a deftly written, genuinely funny comedy about life behind the scenes in the funeral industry. "Arrangements" is being directed by Brent Bridgman of Waukegan. Show dates run through Feb. 12. Thursdays at 7:30 p.m., Friday and Saturdays at 8 p.m. with Sunday matinees at 3 p.m. Tickets are $10 general public, $8 for seniors, students, military, and $7 for groups of eight or more. For ticket information call 662-7088.

Auditions

The Northbrook Theatre announces auditions for their spring production of "Man Of LaMancha," directed by Cathy Davis. This musical adaptation of Miguel de Cervantes classic tale of Don Quixote. Auditions will be held Tuesday, Feb. 7 and Wednesday, Feb. 8, from 7 to 10 p.m. No appointments are necessary. A large cast of men and women, age 18 and up, is needed. Those auditioning should prepare a song and bring sheet music for the accompanist. The dramatic audition will consist of cold readings from the script. "Man Of LaMancha" will open May 5 and run weekends through May 27. Auditions and performances are held at the Northbrook Theatre, 3323 Walters Ave., Northbrook. For further information call 291-2367.

Tunes at noon

The Chicago Music Mart at the DePaul Center, State and Jackson in the concourse level performance center, continues its concert series that are free and open to the public. "Music of the Heart" is this month's theme and the calendar is dedicated to romance. It is also African-American history month and a variety of multi-cultural concerts are scheduled. On Friday, Feb. 3 The Musicians Club of Women present a musical interlude with soprano, Sharon Garvey at noon. Saturday, Feb. 4 and 11 from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. classical symphony orchestra rehearsal, from 2 to 5 p.m. Protégé Philharmonic rehearsal. Monday, Feb. 6 at noon, vocalist Ginger Tam accompanied by pianist Jeremy Kahn performing traditional love songs. Tuesday, Feb. 7 at noon, American Music World presents Jacqueline Peatry, classical pianist. Wednesday, Feb. 8 at noon, David Henderson, jazz quartet. Friday, Feb. 10, at noon multi-cultural music performed by the chamber and jazz society. For further information call 362-6700.

'Swingin' Times'

Forty-five children, ages 11 through 16, who comprise the Apple Tree Theatre's Travelling Troupe, will perform "Swingin' Times," a review of favorite songs from the '40s to the present on Sunday, Feb. 19 from 2 to 3 p.m. This family program will take place at the Northwest Suburban Jewish Community Center (JCC), 1250 Radcliffe Rd., Buffalo Grove. The Apple Tree Theatre is led by Eileen Boevers, who runs the "Performing Arts Workshop" of Highland Park. The price for attendance is $6 for children and $8 for adults. For information call Kara Schein at 392-7411.

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

All the world's a stage

It's good to be a columnist. Especially right at this moment, when I can use (and abuse) this opportunity, like any good actor or actress would, to plug the upcoming theater production that I'm appearing in. It's a comedy by Neil Simon entitled "Rumours," and it will be running at the PM&L Theatre in Antioch for three weekends beginning Friday, Feb. 10.

Now that I got that off my chest, let me explain why any sane person would want to get up on a stage and risk total embarrassment just to pretend to be someone else. Actually—strike that. Sanity is not a requirement. Nor do you have to like the smell of greasepaint, though I can tell you from experience that after 12 years in the theater, I still haven't smelled any. Maybe that's why I'm in Antioch and not on Broadway.

Anyway, like everything else, this need to "act" goes back to childhood. As you know, we are entitled, as Americans, to blame everything we do on some obscure incident in our childhood. It's our right, and damn if we don't make the most of it. Perhaps at this very moment, O.J. and his lawyers are in conference.

"C'mon, O.J.—your father must have hit your mother once." "Well, he threw the football to me, missed and it hit her in the arm—does that count?"

"Hey—I think we've got something there. It must have been traumatic for you, right?"

"I'm not sure—what does 'traumatic' mean?"

So it goes without saying that I learned acting as a defense mechanism in my childhood. It was a necessity since I had an older brother who believed himself to be (depending on his mood) either Superman or Tarzan (hmmm—a psychologist might find a connection here), and I was forced to play the bad guy he was beating up. As soon as my brother landed the first blow, or head lock or whatever his method of choice, I would instantly fall to the floor and stop breathing. Of course, this only worked a few times, and then I was forced to find a new injury to protect myself (or risk having him tickle me until I really couldn't breathe). Soon, I was able to mimic concussions, broken bones, choking, etc. If only my parents had recognized my talent, my name might be MacCauley Ahear today.

As time passed, I realized that I could use my acting for my own personal gain. For instance, I learned to feign sleep, taking shallow, slow breaths, and letting out little "sleep sighs" every so often. Let me tell you, I was good. Whenever my parents would take us somewhere at night, I would fake falling asleep as we got near home so they would have to carry me in. Worked like a charm. I have to warn you, though—it doesn't work when you're an adult. My husband just says, "Fine—sleep in the car."

Acting also comes in handy on a fine summer day, when you'd rather be anywhere else but at work. You simply choose your disease and then make the call. "Hi, boss. What's that? You can hardly hear me? I know—it's this sore throat and laryngitis. Awful. I won't be in today." The only drawback is that you have to keep it up when you return to work the next day. Your boss will then be impressed by your dedication as you drag yourself to your desk, coughing and wheezing. We're talking Oscar material here.

Europe By Rail

PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

With the exception of Germany and parts of Italy, driving in Europe can be quite a challenge. I found most roads to be poorly marked and when I did find a sign, it's usually not in a language I understood. Stopping for directions (which is something we men seldom do anyhow) may not help, since outside the main cities it can be difficult to find someone who speaks English.

To me, watching the countryside from a comfortable window seat one of Europe's high speed trains is the way to go.

If I do want to spend some time in an interesting looking village, I just get off and maybe rent a bicycle at the station for the day. I'll then catch the next train out. In even the smallest European towns, you can count on five to ten trains a day.

If you still want to see some of Europe by car, Eurail offers many varieties of passes including one that offers a car rental with a rail pass. More about Eurail passes in a moment.

It's not just poor roads that keep me on the trains in Europe. A lot has to do with the people I have met on the train. There is just no substitute for the travel tips you can pick up from someone who lives in the country you are visiting.

The flexibility of a Eurail pass, as well as the savings, makes it the preferred choice over having to buy a ticket every time you board a train. Remember, too, that you must buy your pass here in the US before your trip. It is not sold in Europe.

Eurail passes can be purchased for travel from 15 days to 3 months. There are also passes that allow for 5 to 15 days of rail travel anytime within a two month period. As I eluded to earlier, another popular pass gets you 4 days of rail travel and a 3 day car rental.

Now for some rail travel tips.

Reservations, and an additional charge apply to sleeping accommodations.

Reservations are always required on certain InterCity trains such as the TGV in France, the ICE in Germany and Spain's AVE. I've found that if a train has a name, it requires reservations. Though not required, you can reserve a seat on most any train for a fee from $3 to $7. A good idea during busy travel times.

More tips, and an explanation of sleeping accommodations, next week.

Good Food

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

We still have more than a month of cold winter weather left, but you can get a flavor of warmer places with the following recipe from Heinz.

Island Pork Chops

1 can (8 ounces) pineapple chunks
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2/3 cup raisins
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
1 pound boneless pork loin cut into 4 slices
1 tablespoon vegetable oil hot cooked rice

Pour pineapple and juice into small bowl; add cornstarch and stir until dissolved. Stir chili sauce, raisins, brown sugar, and cinnamon; set aside. Lightly flatten pork slices. In skillet, quickly brown pork in oil; drain excess fat. Pour pineapple mixture over pork. Cover, simmer 5 minutes or until pork is cooked; turning once. Serve pork and sauce with rice. Makes 4 servings (about 2 cups sauce).

An explosive evening of toe-tapping, swinging and vibrant music!

The Woody Herman Orchestra

Pitt becomes star in 'Legends'

"Legends of the Fall," is an epic story about a retired cavalry officer, Anthony Hopkins, and his three sons, Adian Quinn, Brad Pitt and Henry Thomas, who are all in love with the same beautiful woman, played by Julia Ormond.

It is reminiscent of the western sagas of old done by the John Fords etc., complete with beautiful scenery shots done in British Columbia.

Hopkins, who is usually a dramatic standout, may have been burned out by all the roles he's played in the last few years.

Although he is understandably bitter about the Army's treatment of the American Indians, this is a scowling soured-faced Hopkins who otherwise plays the same stuffy gentleman he did in "Howard's End."

Quinn is the holier-than-thou oldest brother, Thomas a young dreamer, but it is Pitt, who is the angry young man of that era, that is the standout.

The fact that his looks and manner are a nostalgic reminder of a young Brando or James Dean doesn't hurt.

Usually the western epics have too much story to crowd into the two hours or so allowed for the film. Here, Director Edward Zwick seems to be stretching, almost ad-libbing in spots, trying to fill film with a mundaneness that doesn't mix with the better parts of the plot.

"Legends" rates four out of five stars because of these interesting lags. No matter what the critic say, this R-rater should draw the young girls on the strength of River Phoenix's replacement.

Pitt has the charisma needed to make him a super star.

Whether or not he has the depth to remain one like the Tom Cruises, Paul Newmans, and Robert Redfords, remain to be seen.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A friend will show you how to make a business idea more practical this week. Though social interests are highlighted, there's a tendency to overspend now. A good friend shows you how to have a great time without having to spend a fortune.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You could be working overtime on a business matter this week. Still, it's important to save some quality time for family. Some are feeling rather neglected and your attention is needed.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) There's an extra need to be sensitive to the feelings of others. Guard against careless remarks. Though tempting, the use of a glib tongue isn't always as "cute" as you think it is.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You'll meet with more than one temptation to be extravagant this week.

Try to keep costs down when out having a good time. Couples could revise their plans about investments and finances.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) With partners, there's a need for give-and-take this week. Be sensitive to each others viewpoints and feelings. Try not to go overboard when entertaining others this weekend. A small gathering is better than a huge fete.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Work is very much on your mind this week but you have a tendency to be rather absent-minded. Try to harness your usually commanding powers of concentration. Be sure to be on time for all appointments and dates.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You could overdo it this week when out partying. This takes a toll on your health and could interfere with your work week. Avoid this temptation and get enough rest. Try not to waste your time with those who are superficial.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) In business, don't reach beyond your grasp now. It's a time to be level-headed and practical. While you admire another's strategy, it really isn't reasonable in the long run. Search your own mind for answers.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Don't fall behind on your duties this week as you have a tendency to daydream. A travel plan requires further thought and planning. Some could begin a new project of an intellectual nature.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A friend's business proposition could be off the mark. Be sure to examine all sides of this, before making any firm commitments. It takes a special effort on your part to avoid extravagant spending now.

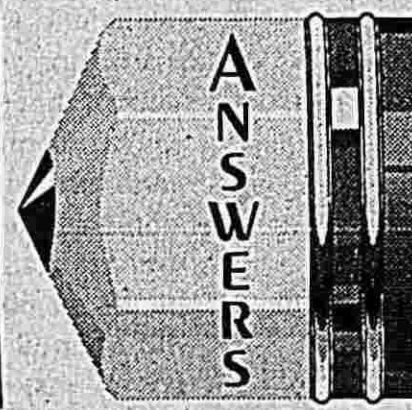

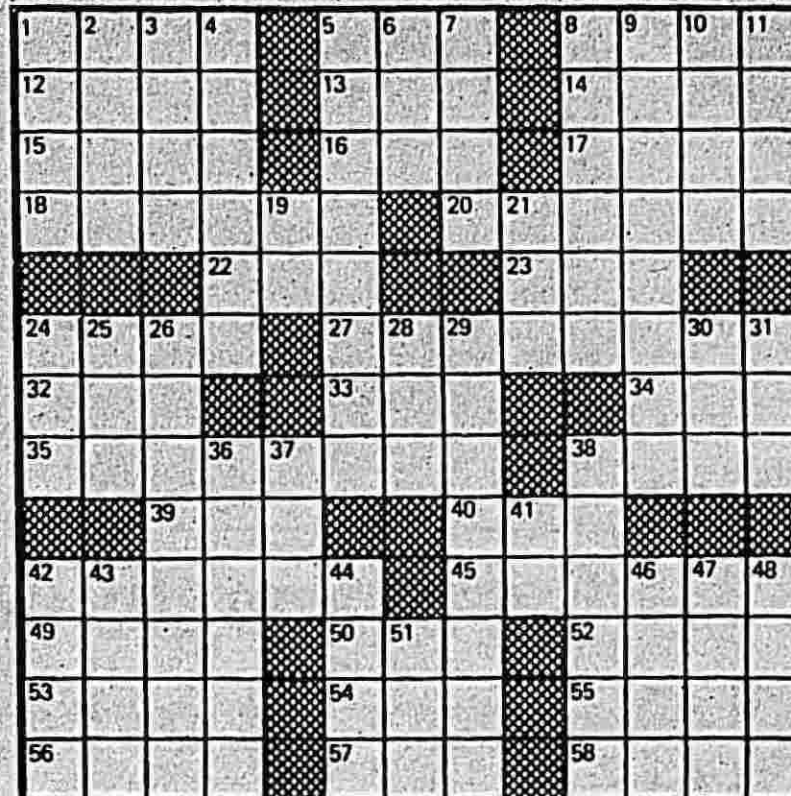

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You're feeling quite self-confident and even cocky this week. It's a time for new beginnings. However, don't let self-insistence be the cause of relationship disharmony. Your partner can be as strong-willed as you.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your enthusiasm to get going on a new project could cause you to neglect some immediate tasks. Though familiar and even boring, these things need to be done. Know your priorities.

Rain

Lamont, coming up with a voice that could win any hog calling contest at this year's county fair.

Anne-Marie Rogers sparkles as our innocent and talented Kathy Selden, though there were times when we could have wished for a little less formality in her singing intonations in keeping with her flapper image.

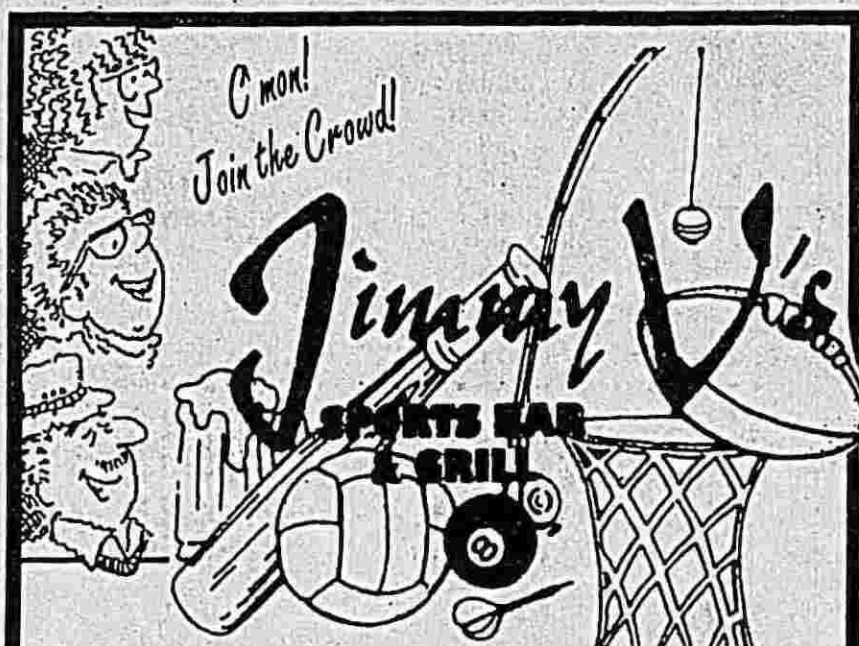

This version of "Rain" is really several fantastic production numbers strung together with a bit of dialogue which produces a shoe-string plot that ties them all together pleasantly.

The top notch choreography in "Fit as a Fiddle," "Moses Supposes," and "Good Mornin'," among them, is done by Jim Corti and production numbers like "Beautiful Girl," and "Temptation Tango," showcase the marvelous talents of Jack Kirby in the costume design department. Bob Maki look out!

Mark Elliot's musical direction, as well as the orchestrations of Michael Keefe round out a show not to be missed.

Enjoy a night out at Jimmy V's in Fox Lake

Jimmy V's is a place where you can go to relax and enjoy yourself with friends or family. This sports bar and grill features a carry-out sandwich shop with a variety of items on the menu, including handmade 1/2 pound hamburgers, chicken parmesan, steak sandwich, Italian beef, ceasar salad, fries, onion rings, fried mushrooms, buffalo wings, hot wings, and chicken tenders, to name a few. Owner Jim Valenziano is introducing pizza to the menu on March 1st, in addition to the regular fare. Jimmy V's offers sandwich specials that change daily.

Once you've made your selection from the carry-out menu, bring it over to the sports bar that accommodates 125 people where you can relax and engage in a game of pool at one of four tables, darts at one of three boards, or just watch the 80- or 60-inch big screen television sets. Valenziano, who opened the bar and grill on December 23, 1994, said, "It's an easy-going, friendly place to enjoy yourself." The sports bar is surrounded with sports motif and memorabilia.

If you're into competition, sign up for a pool or darts league, or any of the upcoming in-house tournaments Jimmy V's is scheduling. If you like to surround yourself with fellow sports fans during those big games, Jimmy V's is the place to go! You'll not only enjoy the view on the big screen TV, but the many specials and give-aways during various sporting events.

Get into the action at Jimmy V's, located at 816 E. Grand Ave., 1/2 mile south of Wilson Rd. on Rte. 59, in Fox Lake, or call 587-6965. Sandwich shop hours are 10:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., Monday through Sunday. The sports bar is open until 2 a.m. seven nights a week.

Longhorn Steak House is better than ever and 'back to basics'

In the past 3 1/2 years, the dynamic team of Paul Gasior and Chef Ron Skow have turned the Longhorn Steak House into THE place to go for great dining in the McHenry & Lake County area.

"We are a very energetic, positive combination," said Gasior. "We feel the economic times and the growth in the area are all very positive; our restaurant and banquet facility reflect this. We're very cost and quality conscious and giving people what they're looking for in these times."

Steakhouses were first developed out in the country, said Gasior, and the Longhorn offers that concept. They are proud to serve hand selected cuts of beef trimmed lean to meet today's needs of health-conscious diners. The fresh seafood menu has been expanded to include yellow fin tuna, swordfish, fresh salmon and grouper. The very large portions and full salad bar reflect the Longhorn's "back to basics" philosophy.

Gasior has recently been elected vice-president of the McHenry County Restaurant Association. The Longhorn has tripled their business under the direction of the Gaskow Dining partnership and has received the Gold Plate Award of the county.

The new banquet hall, the Lakemoor, is one-half mile east of the restaurant and will seat 850. Both facilities are scheduled for the addition of outdoor seating. Hungry diners will be happy to know that construction on Rte. 120 has been completed and both establishments are now easy to get to.

The Sunday Country Brunch offers and all-you-can-eat buffet that is sure to amaze diners, with offerings of made-to-order omelets, a full pancake bar, scrambled eggs, egg quiche, ham sausage, country fries, French toast, hot gravy and biscuits, beef tips and noodles and a wide variety of fresh pastries and fruits, all for $7.95 for adults, $3.95 for children ages 3 to 10 and $1 for children under 3.

The Longhorn is open for lunch Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., with dinner served Monday through Saturday from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday brunch is offered from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. with dinner following from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Visit the Longhorn on Route 120, two and one-half miles west of Route 12 on Lily Lake, just 10 minutes west of Grayslake. Call (815) 385-9869 for reservations.

Abbott helps quake victims

ABBOTT PARK—Abbott Laboratories health care products are being donated for relief efforts to aid victims of the earthquake in Japan. The company was a major contributor to a 200,000-pound airlift valued at $2.5 million that arrived in Osaka, Japan. Abbott contributed more than 1,600 cases of sterile water, intravenous solutions, antibiotics and other pharmaceuticals. Abbott contributed these products through AmeriCares, a private international relief organization based in New Caanan, Conn. The relief materials are being distributed in Japan by the Japanese International Rescue Action Committee.

SWALCO holds seminar

DEERFIELD—The first commercial waste reduction and recycling seminar for businesses in Lake County will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 8 from 7 to 11 a.m. It will be held at the Deerfield, Bannockburn, Riverwoods (DBR) Chamber of Commerce at 108 Wilmot Rd. in the Penthouse Conference Room. "Environmentalism: Reducing Waste in Businesses" has been developed to provide Lake County businesses with tools that can be used to set up recycling programs and reduce the amount of waste generated commercially.

The cost for the seminar is $12. Businesses interested in participating should quickly contact the DBR Chamber at 945-4660; space is limited.

New investment company

CHICAGO—First Chicago Corp. announced it has created an investment management company, bringing together its money management, investment research and economics expertise as well as more than $25 billion in assets under management. The new company, First Chicago Investment Management Company, will also help provide improved 401(k) services and will serve as investment adviser for 14 Prairie Funds retail funds and four Prairie Institutional Funds. First Chicago Investment Management Company will provide service in five key areas: Retail mutual funds; personal investment advice; 401(k); pensions; and institutional cash portfolios.

Chiropractor first gets dose of own medicine

NEAL TUCKER

Staff Reporter

Dr. Joan M. Johnson used to think the practice of chiropractic was on the same plane as voodoo. Light some candles, wave some chicken's feet, stick pins in a doll and one was supposed to be cured of back problems.

As long as she could remember, Johnson had suffered from severe, debilitating migraine headaches that came without warning or any logical predication. By the time she reached 27, the headaches had become so caustic in nature, she could not go to work or school for several days.

"I had reached my breaking point and something had to give," she said.

What made her condition even more frustrating was the lack of diagnosis she had received from several doctors. Not one of them was able to determine the exact cause of the problem or prescribe a treatment that was remotely effective.

"I've never been one to take much medication. I don't like it. I goes against the natural way of life. But even the remedies I did try had no positive effect on these horrible migraines," she said.

Then, after a chance visit to a chiropractic office, her life changed forever. In a last-ditch effort, Johnson picked up the phone book and called a chiropractor named Roger Smith, setting up an appointment. Smith told her everything she'd been waiting to hear.

"Not only did he validate I actually had a spine problem, he showed me the altered rotation and motion on an X-ray of my cervical spine," she recalled.

Smith went on to explain how the lack of normal motion was causing extra pressure on the nerves in her neck, head and arms. The result of this condition would logically be neck pain, stiffness and migraines. Finally having a diagnosis, Johnson believed the real test would come from treatment of her malady. Could a 'voodoo' doctor come up with a miracle cure based on clinical principles. She got her answer, and quickly.

Van Zelst, Inc. wins awards from state landscape group

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Van Zelst, Inc., a design-build landscape contractor, won gold and silver awards at the Illinois Landscape Contractors Assn. (ILCA) meeting held in Chicago.

The Wadsworth-based firm is active in design, construction and maintenance of landscapes for homes, businesses and institutions in northeast Illinois.

"There is a growing trend in the industry for one firm to handle the total landscape project from design through the final construction phase and then maintain the property. The ILCA awards reflect this design-build concept," David Van Zelst, landscape architect and firm president said.

"The association looks for quality and workmanship in landscaping," Greg Rippel, landscape architect said.

A gold award for excellence in landscape design and construction was given for a Libertyville residence. The home was constructed two years before the landscape project began. A major objective was to solve horticultural problems caused by the original construction process in which tree root zones had been compacted, resulting in loss of trees. New drainage systems were developed and special mixes of soils used to protect remaining and newly planted trees.

Extensive lighting was used as a final touch.

A gold award was received for a two-acre residential property in a wooded area of Lake Forest. Perennial gardens, groundcover beds, bluestone hardscapes and sparkling turf are features.

The company's silver award came for a landscape design and construction of a residential project in Barrington. The landscape elements complimented the prairie surrounding the home. Features include a 150 foot prairie garden that runs along the property's edge.

Van Zelst representatives meet with a client at the beginning to plan the full service project.

"A lot of people think we are in Florida over the winter, but we are working on designs for next spring," Rippel said.

The firm employs some 70 people during the busiest seasons.

Van Zelst, Inc. received the 1995 gold award from the Illinois Landscape Contractors Assn. (ILCA) for landscape design and construction of a new residential property in Libertyville. A variety of perennials and grasses planted in the garden provide a colorful and constantly changing appearance. Special features include a circular brick drive and night illumination.

Convention Center one priority for future

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Lake County Illinois Convention and Visitors Bureau has completed its first decade of service and is looking to goals for its future.

Strategic planning meetings were expected to take place this month, according to Director Gail Svendsen.

She recalled how the organization was formed in 1984.

"Gov. James Thompson announced that funds would be available for tourism," she said.

Various Lake County Chamber of Commerces gathered and decided to create the county-wide office. They were one of the first 12 to be certified in Illinois.

The village of Gurnee also contributes 1 percent of its sales and retail tax proceeds as does the county from taxes on rooms in unincorporated areas.

The bureau's move from Waukegan to Gurnee has been beneficial for both parties.

"It was appropriate since we have the largest tourism attractions in the county in Six Flags Great America and Gurnee Mills," James Hayner, village administrator, said.

"The move has helped us be more visible," Svendsen said.

Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton has announced preliminary work is underway for a convention center which would tie in major attractions.

"We are making excellent progress," he said, without adding details.

Tourism is a separate department at Gurnee Mills, featuring groups and motorcoach tours.

"We have had one group tour from as far away as Ohio, but 50 percent of the motorcoach tours come from 75 to 100 mile radius. Group tourism was up 14 percent last year," Rich MacNeill, tourism director, said.

The Mills has attracted visitors from Japan, Germany, Switzerland and more. A Tokyo-based writer visited in January for a feature on the Mills.

Countywide efforts include motorcoach tours, deluxe motorcoach tours, meetings with many hotels offering meeting rooms and families and individuals, Svendsen said. Families and individuals traveling in the summer months are the main draw to Lake County.

The impact of Gurnee Mills has brought 14.3 million persons to the county in three years.

"It is incredible," Svendsen said of the impact. "We have a very good working relationship with both Six Flags and Gurnee Mills."

It is hard to get an accurate number of just how many people visit Lake County, but one can tell Svendsen is enthusiastic about what the county has to offer.

"We are very blessed. Outside of Chicago, no one has more to offer the tourist in any part of Illinois. There is shopping, apple picking, the Cuneo estate and state parks, I-94 corridor and Long Grove," the Grayslake resident said.

Other well-attended attractions include: ComEd Powerhouse in Zion, the Pyramid House near Wadsworth, and of course, a new roller coaster at Six Flags.

The bureau is governed by a board of directors led by Rick Breeden of Wauconda Orchards. The Lake County Illinois Convention and Visitors Bureau won an award for a publication it produced with Impact Productions of Gurnee. The accolade was presented at a governor's conference on tourism.

"We can appeal to anyone," Svendsen stated.

And in a few weeks, just how will be determined. For more information, call 662-2700.

"Two weeks and several treatments later I was a new woman," she said.

As could be expected, Johnson had a changed attitude about chiropractic. She asked Smith for as much information as he could provide about chiropractic. Johnson read a number of books and magazines on the subject and eight months after her first treatment she sent for several applications to chiropractic schools.

To accompany her molecular biology with honors degree, Johnson received a degree from the National College of Chiropractic, the only school in Illinois and one that is consistently ranked in the top two in the country.

Her clinical experiences while in chiropractic college included rotations in inner city Chicago and one with the Salvation Army Clinic. There she saw and treated disorders she thought she would never see in small town America.

After graduating in December 1993, Johnson chose Antioch to open a practice because it resembled the small, close knit hometown she lived in as a small child in Colorado. She takes great pride in the design flow in her office, which requires little waiting after a patient walks in the door. Since many of her patients are bigger than she is, she describes her spinal treatment technique as one of finesse rather than force. She regularly receives adjustments for her spinal health from other professionals so she knows first hand how important physical comfort is.

Some of Johnson's long term goals in the profession are to be a chiropractor for as long as she is physically capable and to continue her eight to twelve yearly seminars. It is important to Johnson people be educated just as she was. Hopefully then, others' lives can be changed as well.

Antioch Family Chiropractic is located at 432 Lake St. The phone number is 838-0688.

Charity gala set for St. Therese

The 11th annual Affair of the Heart fund-raiser will be held Saturday, Feb. 4, at the Hotel Moraine in Highwood. About 450 participants—leaders from business, community organizations, medical staff members and friends of St. Therese Medical Center—will attend.

"This is our largest annual fund-raiser," according to Bob Juozitis, executive director of the St. Therese Medical Center Foundation. "All proceeds will be donated to the St. Therese Medical Center Foundation, a community board that has the power to determine how the contributions will be used—whether to purchase new capital equipment or to support patient programs and services at the hospital."

The black-tie affair includes dinner with choices of surf and turf, poultry or vegetarian plate. Dance music will be provided by the Allan Kaye Orchestra.

Some of the fund-raiser activities include a live auction with bidding opportunities on a woman's full-length blackglama mink coat and a man's sheared beaver hooded jacket in dark mahogany. The grand prize is a four-day vacation cruise to either the Bahamas or the Caribbean. The Picayune Matchbook Drawing, a delightful mixture of miscellaneous items, includes crystal and china pieces, gift certificates, small appliances, patio accessories, and pen and pencil sets. Finally, the raffle will consist of five cash prizes ranging from $250 to $2,500.

Grand Opening

The conservationist Gaylord Donnelley, his family, friends, and neighbors loved the beautiful fields of central Lake County where they lived. As developments encroached and farmland vanished, they felt very strongly that there had to be a way to provide homes for people while preserving our architectural and agricultural heritage along with open lands.

Prairie Crossing is the result of this vision. Inspired by 19th century farmhouses, our masterfully crafted, energy-efficient homes have been tastefully designed by award-winning Chicago architects. Three hundred seventeen families will enjoy more than 350 acres of prairies, marshes, farm fields, pastures, gardens, and lakes for fishing or swimming. This year will see the completion of a market square, animal barn, fitness center, tennis courts, and miles of trails for our residents to enjoy.

Nominations taken for top entrepreneur —MURPHY ON REAL ESTATE—

The National Football League may have just wrapped up another successful season with its Super Bowl, but the race for the 1995 entrepreneurial super bowl is just beginning. Professional services firm Ernst & Young LLP is once again calling for nominations in the Illinois/Northwest Indiana Entrepreneur of the Year program.

Now in its tenth year nationally and ninth year in Illinois, the program founded by Ernst & Young honors and recognizes this area's most successful and dynamic entrepreneurs, those risk-defying men and women who have created and sustained a successful, growing enterprise.

"Owners or top managers who are primarily responsible for the growth of a company or who have shown active support for entrepreneurship are eligible for the Entrepreneur of the Year award," said Thomas D. Vogelsinger, director of entrepreneurial services for Ernst & Young's Chicago and Schaumburg offices.

"Companies must have been operating for at least two years. If the company is publicly-held, the founder must be an active member in top management."

As the nation's leading program to honor outstanding owners of emerging companies, The Entrepreneur of the Year program is expected to generate a record number of nominations again this year. There is no fee for nominations, which must be received by April 7. Self-nominations are encouraged, as are those from suppliers, customers and others who work with entrepreneurs, such as bankers, attorneys, accountants, public relations and advertising executives. For more information and nomination forms, write Brad Drew at Ernst & Young, Sears Tower, 16th Floor, 233 S. Wacker Dr., Chicago, IL 60606-6301, or call him at (312)879-3519.

Awards may be given to entrepreneurs in retailing, wholesale/distribution, manufacturing, high technology, construction/real estate, service and transportation. Other categories include Woman Entrepreneur of the Year, Minority Entrepreneur of the Year, Master Entrepreneur of the Year for businesses more than five years old, and Emerging Entrepreneur of the Year for businesses less than five years old. The Turnaround Entrepreneur of the Year award is designed to honor those individuals who have applied their outstanding management skills to resurrect or reposition a declining company. Individuals who have encouraged and contributed to the entrepreneurial spirit are eligible for the Supporter of Entrepreneurship award. Entrepreneurs who commit themselves or their business resources to help their communities address environmental concerns or overcome social problems such as homelessness, crime, substance abuse and illiteracy will be honored as the Socially Responsible Entrepreneur of the Year.

Buy now and save later

If you have been thinking about becoming a homeowner, but are suffering from procrastination, there are a few points you may want to ponder before letting the rest of the year pass.

Renting is a necessary option for many people during different times of their lives, depending on career and personal changes. The rents in most areas are quite high and with the present financing available, one should examine their reasons for not seriously purchasing now—

•Interest rates are at an all-time low, and haven't been this attractive since 1968. "Realtor News," a National Assn. of Realtors publication in its October issue related that first-time homebuyers are taking advantage of the more affordable rates, combined with the leveling of home prices across the country.

•Because the market has remained sluggish, first-time homebuyers are looking at a full supply of homes both in new construction and resale. More competition warrants easier negotiations and less chance to lose a home in a multiple offer situation.

When two buyers bid on the same property, the seller can enjoy close to, or over, full price and one buyer loses the home. Slower markets have less competitive bidding, so the buyer has a freer ability to negotiate.

•Waiting even one year ensures a build up of zero equity and a fistful of non-deductible rent receipts. While you are busy "waiting" to see what the market does, you are building no equity in a home that can be enjoying appreciation, providing shelter both physically and tax-wise while taking a chance on what the economy will offer 365 days down the road.

The passbook interest on your money will probably wash with the lack of mortgage interest right off you could have been enjoying as a homeowner.

The National Assn. of Realtors Midwest regional vice president for the Midwest, Tad Gilster of Wisconsin, has said that our Midwest economy has been the strongest and sales are "close to record levels." Interest rates will motivate buyers, but buyer motivation still remains personal.

•Builders and developers are competitive with full inventory and are offering great incentive packages. "Perks" include credit for points charged on the mortgage, "free" builder upgrades and discounts. Many developers and builders do not wish to carry high inventory into the end of the year and are offering great opportunities to a serious homebuyer.

These same incentives may not be available in the late spring and summer markets when buyers are more plentiful and the competition for occupancy heats up. Check out the different offerings developers are offering when finalizing your choice.

The best time to buy is now. The present moment is all you have and no one can "look" into the future to see what is in store. The consistent truth has always been that real estate is a good investment when purchased for the right price. The important step is to "own" your real estate and start building equity now.

First Chicago reports good quarter net income

First Chicago Corp. has reported fourth quarter net income of $173 million, or $1.72 per share on a fully diluted basis. Return on common stockholders' equity was 16.5 percent. In the year-ago fourth quarter, earnings were $173 million, or $1.77 per share. Earnings for the 1994 third quarter were $154 million, or $1.51 per share.

For 1994, the corporations net income was $690 million, or $6.88 per share, representing a return on common equity of 17 percent. In 1993, earnings of $805 million, or $8.43 per share, were augmented by record trading profits of $285 million and exceptional equity securities gains totaling $480 million.

"We are very pleased with our achievements in 1994," Chairman Richard L. Thomas said. "Superior earnings from our credit card, strong performances from our other key businesses, and a substantial contribution from our venture capital portfolio all contributed to a successful year. These results are especially gratifying since they were generated in the midst of difficult systemic conditions in the financial markets.

"Furthermore, the fourth quarter marked the ninth consecutive quarter in which we have earned a return on equity of at least 15 percent. In addition, in 1994 we further improved credit quality, strengthened the balance sheet and continued to benefit from conservative management of interest rate risk. These achievements move us toward fulfilling our mission of being a world-class financial services company with a reputation for customer excellence."

The First National Bank of Chicago, the 10th largest bank in the country, has more than 80 branches throughout the Chicago metropolitan area. It is a subsidiary of First Chicago Corp.

Export workshop held at CLC

"International Trade Agreements and Legal Documents," an export workshop for company owners, sales managers and export operations staff, will be offered by the Center for Economic Development's Export Development Center at the College of Lake County. The session will start with registration at 11:30 a.m. and lunch and presentation from noon to 3:30 p.m. Feb. 8 in Room C003 at CLC's Grayslake campus.

The seminar will be led by Andres J. Gallegos, associate attorney with Rodriguez & Villalobos, Chicago, specializing in international trade and corporate law. He will provide a comprehensive orientation on current U.S. government international trade regulations and laws, foreign representation agreements, case studies, legal documents used in world trade and how to avoid costly legal problems.

Participants will learn how to select the best foreign agent-distributors and perform background investigations on them, negotiate and terminate agreements, and protect trademarks, patents and confidential materials. The cost is $60, which includes a box lunch and seminar materials. To register, call 223-3633 or fax to 223-9371.

Think about future

Overpopulation is a huge problem in the world today. It's the cause of war and hunger and greed, and yet everyone in this country is complaining about abortion and anti-abortion. They're not worried about their children's future. If we do not worry about these things now, there will be no anti-abortion and abortion to fight about. We should be thinking about family planning and what type of future our children will have in the years ahead.

My sympathies

I'm extending my sympathies to the family of Richard Ward. It's a terrible tragedy. May God give them the strength to overcome it.

This is a friendly call to get a little information. I would like to know who the planners are in the Round Lake area who are bringing in another chicken establishment. We already have quite a few which are very good; we have hamburger, pizza, and quite a few restaurants. I enjoy ordering out occasionally and I don't mind balancing a tray in some of these places, but we do need another sit-down restaurant where we can take our families or friends. I'm older and I just love being catered to by a waitress. I was wondering why we can't get someplace like Denny's or Baker's Square or Cracker Barrel, with a varied menu. We have an excellent one in Blue Bay, but with the influx of new residents and workers, another nice restaurant would be most welcome. I'm sure. Don't we have enough ambience here in the Round Lake area to have another restaurant besides Blue Bay, which I think is excellent, but won't be able to bear the load.

Where to pay?

Where can I pay my telephone bills here in Antioch? Ben Franklin accepts Edison, Northern Illinois Gas and Cable, but not Ameritech. This would be a savings for us senior citizens.

Can you use?

Is there any organization in Antioch that collects the fronts of greeting cards to send to St. Jude's Hospital, or any other home that uses them for projects? I have a lot of pretty cards and I just hate to throw them away if somebody can use them.

Wolves are needed

The United States government is finally trying to right a very, very nasty wrong that they created the early part of this century by eliminating the wolves in the west. They're finally doing the right thing, and all we got is bellyaching from the cattle ranchers. They get to graze on public land for next to nothing, costing all the taxpayers millions of dollars, and they can't raise the cost because they cry and moan. Now you're reintroducing a species that belongs in the west, and they're doing more crying and moaning and threatening to shoot any of them that leave Yellowstone and any of the Rockies. Well, I've got news for them. The vast majority of people with brains know that the wolf belong in this country. The Indians in the west are sworn to protect the land and Mother Nature and all its creatures, so the ranchers better watch their step if they think this fight is over.

Overcrowded

In a recent news article, Jean Mall stated our schools are at the maximum level. Did the school board have blinders on when they designed Island Lake school? $6.6 million should build more than 24 classrooms. Wauconda is not overcrowding our schools. Island Lake's Fox River Shores will fill Cotton Creek alone. They still have over 100 lots left. If she is going to target overcrowding of schools, let's target the right town - Island Lake, not Wauconda.

For split shifts

Instead of spending all these millions of dollars in order to build Warren Two, seeing as how we're already paying to rebuild Warren One, why don't we just do a split shift like Crystal Lake, therefore saving millions of dollars. I know for a fact that children in Crystal Lake go to class from noon to six at night. This wouldn't even pose a problem for working parents, but benefit most of them. I think it's wasteful to spend $30 million on another high school.

Change Spring Grove

Parents of Spring Grove students should stop talking and do something about this school. The lack of professionalism shows not only in not being able to truthfully handle confrontations with parents, but also in his lack of ability to handle repeated complaints about a few particular teachers. These problems occur between teachers and parents many times because of the lack of a consistent curriculum. Everyone hears about how Spring Grove is changing. Some changes need to be made in the elementary school. This change can't be made on a referendum, and can only be made by parents speaking up. At the recent meeting I attended, there was a large group to support the superintendent of Richmond-Burton High School and Spring Grove school, who is planning on leaving.

Kids Misbehaving

This is a warning message to the parents of the children that wait on the corner of Midland and Linden for a bus that I believe takes them to a Catholic school. If you are sending your small child out to wait on the corner for this bus, get a group of you together and one parent a morning wait with these kids. They're running in the street, darting in front of cars, and throwing snow. Somebody is going to get hurt. There's no adult supervision at all for this group of 10 to 12 kids. This is extremely dangerous, and I think the parents should be made aware of this.

Good job, judges

I want to thank our supreme court judges for doing the correct thing with the Baby Richard case. Thank you for doing your job by staying impartial and not bending to public pressure. If the adoptive parents would have followed proper procedures in their adoption, this case would never have dragged on for four years, affecting this poor child. I feel that laws should be created so that when there's a problem with custody and a question is raised, that the baby should be placed in a foster home immediately so the adoptive parents don't have time on their sides and aren't able to drag on a case.

Gangs are problem

To the parents in Libertyville and Mundelein you have to realize that there's are gangs everywhere. They're in all high schools, junior high schools, towns and communities. Don't ignore what's going on, wake up and smell the coffee. Your police force can't do anything alone. Those of you who have children who don't think they're good enough for sports or other clubs, gangs are where they turn in order to find the family they need and don't get at home. It's not only the single parent families, kids that have two parents at home are joining, too. Parents are out just making money, money, money. They're not happy with just paying the bills and living comfortably. You think you need to give, give, give to your kids, but they're out looking See LIPSERVICE page C5 for someone who will pay attention to them no matter what they do.

Help one another

Hats off to the Mundelein Police Department. You've done a great job cleaning up Whitehall Manor, but what about the rest of the town? We have a teen center that's only for 7th, 8th, and 9th graders. What happens to the sophomores, juniors, and seniors? If they aren't good enough for sports or other programs, where are they supposed to go? What if their parents don't have money to give them so they can go out and do what they want? They go out and look for their own fun, which in some cases means doing things that aren't good in order to get some kicks. What about the kid on Mother's Day that shot a BB gun out the window and accidentally hit a woman? What happens to these kids? Nothing! Let's take a good look at our community. The whole town needs help, and we all have to help each other.

No punishment

In response to last week's article titled "Read the Bible," unfortunately the status of that reader's intelligence and information is critically impaired. I plead with you to read 2 Peter 3:16, where it reads, "His letters contain some things that are hard to understand which ignorant and unstable people distort as they do the other scriptures to their own destruction." This passage actually describes the kind of person who authored the column on Adam and Eve depicting child bearing as a punishment. Actually, God did intend for Adam and Eve to bear children, but in his foreknowledge and as a result of their disobedience, he chose to incorporate "pain" into childbirth. I'd encourage you to read John 16:21, where it reads, "A woman giving birth to a child has pain because her time has come. But when her baby is born, she forgets the anguish because of her joy that a child is born into the world." Also Genesis 4:1 where Eve is quoted for saying with the help of the Lord, she brought forth a male. Sadly, it is when information is transferred by unlearned individuals like yourself, that society receives a distorted message of the scripture. Fortunately, there are others like myself, who used to share your views, who can attest to God's forgiveness for such garbage talk. Ask any good mother and father. They'll tell you that kids are a blessing, not a punishment (though sometimes it feels like it, such as in your case).

Save lives

In response to last week's column "A Safe Alternative," I'm crushed over your narrow-mindedness. You say "you'd rather have a safe alternative than to bring a child into this world that nobody wants." Considering your own poverty-stricken state of mind, I can understand your reasoning. But then that's my opinion from your perspective. On the other hand, there are absolutely thousands of good couples who would lay down their lives for adoption, for just one of the children as you described was lost to death at the hand of its mother. If you love your friend, help her. Tri-County Crisis Center in Wauconda will help; they're great people.

2 wrongs, no right

Dear "Make Some Sense," to a great degree I agree with your position, but I've got some convictions that I'd like to offer you. While it's certainly not God's will for a woman to be raped, nor for unmarried people to engage sexually, still in a world where disobedience and evil occur, there are consequences to different acts. That's exactly why God instructs against them. Unfortunately, some people will continue to exercise their freedoms with sinful indulgences rather than to enjoy the great plans that the Lord has to offer. Unfortunately also, is that others are often victims of their ways. But I'm sorry, murdering a child in the womb is not "just compensation." Two wrongs don't make a right. I'm a product of a sinful situation, but my mother says that I am the best gift God could ever give her. Those remarks humble me, but that's how my mother truly feels. Read Psalms 139:13. I think it will balance your perspective.

I'll vote 'No'

I am from the Warren Township and Woodland School District and would like to comment on the article about a tax referendum by Pat McMahon of Warren Township High School. Mr. McMahon has been quoted in various newspapers on the referendum and each time the numbers change. First there was no cost to the taxpayer, then a little, now it is two referendums they're going for in April. He doesn't mention anything about any impact fees that we're getting from these builders, and where this money is going. What about Woodland School's referendum, the park district, library, and roads?

Are they going to ask for more money for these things? Mr. McMahon thinks the voters are dumb. He doesn't know how we're going to vote. I'm going to vote "no" in April, and in the future, until I find out what the total impact of the taxes are going to be on each of these areas.

No respect

I would like to respond to the decision the Illinois Supreme Court handed down concerning the Baby Richard case. Normally, I have a lot of respect for judges, especially on the state Supreme Court. In this case, I can't have any respect for them. How could these so-called intelligent people make a decision to take a 4-year-old boy from the only family he has ever known? This little boy can't possibly understand biological parents from adoptive parents. I send out my greatest sympathy to Baby Richard and his real family. As for the Illinois Supreme Court, I hope all of you can sleep at night, knowing you broke up a perfectly happy family.

Safety matters

I'd like to commend the Wisconsin Central Railroad for the whistling of the public crossings through the village of Antioch. Finally, it's been said that safety does come before convenience.

Nepotism is old

I'd like to say, don't pick on Rick Stanger for nepotism in Wauconda. It started a long time before that! The Kesterbores started in public works when their dad was the mayor. The police department has a dispatcher that is the son of the administrative assistant, who also had a daughter working at the police department at one time, not to mention the friends of the friends that have been hired as dispatchers. Rick Stanger is a very community-minded, hard-working individual that has put in an extreme amount of time. As far as Rick's dad is concerned, he's a hard worker also and deserves the public works job. Maybe you ought to look at the other village employees who aren't doing their jobs!

Make the minimum

Our elected representatives are in such a big hurry to cut all these programs and do what's right. I've got a great idea. Instead of cutting programs, why don't they cut their salaries and pensions in half, and actually have to pay for their healthcare like everybody else? Or better yet, since they don't want to raise the minimum wage, why don't they work for minimum wage? They don't have any aversions to stealing from the public anyway, so let them make minimum wage and see how long they can survive on that!

Re-read Bible

In response to the person who wrote about reading the Bible on Jan. 26, this person misquoted the Bible when they said God's punishment to Eve was to have offspring. It was not Eve's punishment to have offspring, but to have pain in giving birth. If you're going to read your Bible, read it. But don't listen to someone else's interpretation. It may be wrong, as yours is.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I have been living out of the country for the past six years due to my husband being transferred, and while I was not allowed to work at that time we were transferred back recently to the states. My husband has now taken an early retirement yet I am finding myself needing to go back to work. I found an ad in the paper for an Administrative Assistant and I set up an interview for the following day. My problem is that as I tried to fill out my first application for a job interview, I found myself unable to remember the names of the past two employers. One was a temporary agency that placed me on many assignments throughout a 2-1/2 year period. I left the application blank as far as the employers go. When I was called in to the interviewer's office I tried to explain that I had been gone a long time and that I would try to remember the names of these employers and that my skills speak for themselves. The interview was cut short and I wondered whether or not that had anything to do with it. B.D. - Round Lake.

A: Dear B.D. My guess would be that it sat a bit funny with an interviewer to hear that you could not remember back six years ago to an employer's name for which you collected 2-1/2 years worth of paychecks from. Further more you showed up for an interview totally unprepared for questions that are pertinent to the hiring process. It is one thing to forget the name of an actual Supervisor during the time frame, but I feel forgetting the name of the company when applying for a job is a major faux-pas! You cannot expect a potential employer to receive anything but strange vibes from that. Did it show that you were a prepared type of individual or well organized? I think not. Your best bet would be to learn from this and to see if you can recollect the names of these employers through some other means. Perhaps you can find an old check stub or your tax return for the last year employed, that will give you the name and address. Get in touch with these companies and re-activate yourself. Let them know that you are back and avidly seeking employment. Will they give you a good recommendation? Ask! In any event, prepare yourself prior to the next interview so that this does not repeat itself. Good Luck.

Q: Dear...Search: I was told that the minimum wage has just gone up yet when I went to apply for a job last week at (name withheld) they are still saying that minimum wage is $4.25. Is this true? P.W. - Round Lake Beach.

A: Dear P.W. The current minimum wage is still $4.25/hr. There was talk of a possible increase, but not as of yet.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

CEDARWOOD

The handsome exterior of the Cedarwood is a prelude to an exceptional interior floor plan. Your building dollar will be well spent with this 1516 square foot gem. As an investment property or a first home for a growing family, the compact Cedarwood will not disappoint.

The railed front porch adds a welcoming touch as you make your way through the entry of this no-nonsense home. The sleeping quarters are all located in the left hand section of the floor plan. Two almost identical bedrooms, perfect for small children, are close enough to the master suite for parents to maintain some privacy while being near enough to meet any needs that may arise. Each of these rooms has generous closet space and a large window facing the front.

A long hallway, with linen storage and a full bathroom, separates these rooms from a master suite that is surprising in a house this size. The master suite features a huge walk-in closet, private bathroom, separate vanity, and sliding glass doors leading to a small patio.

The unique kitchen, complete with built-ins, permits the cook in the house to serve meals either in the adjoining dining room or at the convenient eating bar. Another great feature is the utility room that abuts the kitchen. In addition to housing the washer/dryer, there is a pantry for all your canned goods. Access to the roomy two-car garage allows groceries to be brought directly into the kitchen without worrying about the weather. Wet winter clothing can be dropped off here before entering.

The hub of this home is the vaulted great room. Separated from the living room by a built-in planter shelf, this is where the family can gather in the warmth of the fireplace and discuss the events of the day. A sliding glass door takes you out to the patio, a great place for summer barbecues.

For a study kit of the CEDARWOOD (403-24), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

PET PARADE

Pets provide benefits to owners

The quality of people-pet relationships has a significant impact on our physical and psychological well-being, according to the American Animal Hospital Assn. (AAHA). During the past two decades, it has been suggested by many that pets are good for us and that our health can benefit from animal exposure. This belief, now supported by research, demonstrates how owning a pet may contribute to helping people live longer, healthier lives.

Research shows more than half of all U.S. households own at least one companion animal, such as a dog or cat. Emotional attachments to animals can often develop due to pet characteristics, such as companionship and protection, that offer an owner a special sense of belonging. This helps pet owners who, through daily care of their animals, learn to cope with loneliness and depression, and learn qualities of nurturing, sharing and motivation.

Experiencing this high level of emotion and energy creates a psychological bond between the pet and its owner that makes a positive difference in people's lives.

According to AAHA, the psychological bond between humans and pets is useful to many, including terminally ill patients with disease and senior citizens experiencing life changes affecting health and social situations. Spending quality time with their pets helps them cope through a renewed sense of companionship and an emphasis on the importance of building relationships. Research has shown that companion dogs, for example, can increase the quantity and quality of attention directed toward disabled persons by both familiar individuals and strangers.

Studies have shown that the presence of animals in institutional settings, such as nursing homes and health centers, also gives people a tendency to smile and talk more, reach out toward people and objects, exhibit more alertness and attention, and experience greater symptoms of well-being and less depression.

Relaxation, meditation and stress management have become recognized therapies for attempting to reduce blood pressure. It therefore could seem reasonable that pets, who provide faithful companionship to many people, also might promote greater psychosocial stability for their owners, and thus offer a measure of protection against heart disease.

The bottom line is that we give and get affection from pets, which alone is a benefit for all.

Shake off cabin fever—go antique-hunting

'A Breath of Spring'

Nothing is more welcome in the middle of winter than "A Breath of Spring," so 56 Wisconsin antique dealers have combined their efforts to do just that at the Wisconsin Antique Dealers Assn.'s 21st annual Winter Show and Sale. The event is being held Feb. 3, 4 and 5 at the Waukesha Expo Forum Building, Northview Road in Waukesha, Wis.

A special attraction booth, entitled "A Garden for All Seasons," will be featured at the show. Antique garden accessories of cast iron, wicker, urns and statuary will be shown. Dennis Buettner of Fox Point, renowned landscape architect whose firm designed the Green Bay Botanical Gardens and landscaped the governor's mansion, and Scott Lacey, antique dealer, will be on hand Saturday and Sunday to talk about gardening.

Quimper, Falence, Torquay and Flo-blu, eagerly sought after by collectors, will also be featured at this show. Maple Lawn Antiques, Muskego, will display mulberry ironstone. Torquay will be shown by Transition of Wales, Flo-blu will be shown by Carol Sternhagen, Milwaukee; Rocking Chair Antiques, Monroe; and Seven Gables Antiques, Baraboo. Antique Belleek and museum quality glass will be shown by Elaine's Classics, Madison.

For serious antiques, this show is professionally screened before opening so that only top quality antiques are shown. New merchandise, reproductions or craft items are not allowed. All restorations or repairs have to be clearly marked.

Show hours are 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday; 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday; and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $3.50. Food is available on the grounds and parking is free.

Doll, toy, bear show

Orphans in the Attic 1995 Doll, Toy & Bear Show & Sale will be held Sunday, Feb. 5 at Serb Hall, 5101 W. Oklahoma Ave., Milwaukee Wis. Show hours are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Admission is $3 for adults, children 6 to 12 years $1.

There will be dealers from several states coming to sell antique and collectible dolls, toys, miniatures, bears, supplies and many other items pertaining to the field of collecting. For more information call Marge Hansen at (414)255-4465.

Artists, crafter sought

Lakehurst Mall is hosting its annual Winter Art & Craft Fair on Feb. 17, 18 and 19. Space is still available for artists and crafters to display their own original work. For further information regarding entry, call Midwest Art & Craft Fairs at 739-1071.

Antique show

The Northern Illinois Antiques Dealers Assn. is holding its 35th Annual Show and Sale on Saturday, Feb. 18 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, Feb. 19 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. The show will be held at Forest Hills Lodge just north of Rockford on Rte. 173. (From I-90 exit at Riverside, go west to Alpine, north on Alpine to Rte. 173 and then east 1/4 mile). There is plenty of free parking and food is available. Admission is $3.50.

Thirty-eight quality dealers will offer a wide variety of antiques for sale such as furniture, textiles, stoneware, china, glass, lamps, silver and jewelry. Tomlinson's Antiques from Minnesota and John Jacobson from Wisconsin will feature Scandinavian antiques. Antique Toy Circus from Colorado will feature toys.

The Northern Illinois Antiques Dealers Assn. uses the proceeds from the show to donate to several charities, including the following: Rockford Midway Museum, River Bluff Nursing Home, Alzheimer's Foundation, Shriners Crippled Children, Boone County Historical Society, Goldie Floberg, Winning Wheels and Village of Progress.

Collector vehicles

Again this year, the Volo Antique Auto Museum has been invited by the Chicago Auto Show to participate in a special guest exhibit of collector, classic vehicles at the main entrance to the show, Feb. 11 through 21.

Greg Grams, co-owner of the Volo Antique Auto Museum with his brother Bill, has selected a 1929 Ford Model A Roadster pick up truck, a 1930 Cadillac Imperial limousine and a 1960 Chevrolet Impala convertible.

These classics will return to the $10 million Volo Antique Auto Museum collection of some 200 autos, trucks and special vehicles after the auto show.

The three-building museum is open every day from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $3.50 for adults, $1.50 for children up to age 12, and free for those under age 6. The museum is on old Rural Rte. 120 (Volo Village Road) in Volo; phone (815)385-3644.

Crystal ball: Rams edge Panthers; 'Stangs battle Cats

Round Lake at Grayslake
Date: Feb. 3
Game time: 7 p.m.
Team records as of Jan. 30: Grayslake 8-2 Northwest Suburban Conference; 14-6 overall; Round Lake 5-6, 8-11.
Key players: Grayslake's Dave Mendralla; Round Lake's Jason Wilcox, Mike Allen; Ray Muellemann.
Keys to game: Rams injuries. John Parr, a 6-foot, 4-inch senior forward, is expected to miss the contest due to a severe ankle injury suffered at Marian Central. Mendralla could be back from an illness and Rams will need all of his 24 points-per-game average.

Round Lake saw a 6-game win streak snapped by Johnsburg, which has beaten the Panthers twice. Forfeits leave Round Lake out of the running for the league title, but the defending champ Rams still must hold off Grant and Johnsburg.
Prediction: Grayslake by 3.
Grant at Marian Central
Date: Feb. 3
Time: 7 p.m.
Team records: Grant 7-3 NWSC, 10-9 overall; Marian Central, 1-9, 2-17.
Key players: Grant's Dave Stone, Mike Nelson and Ben Carter; Marian Central's Justin Faber.
Keys to game: Grant must not look past struggling Hurricanes if it is to remain a contender in NWSC. Stone is up to 13.5 points a game after 32-point outing.

Prediction: Grant by 10.
Johnsburg at Wauconda
Date: Feb. 3
Time: 7 p.m.
Team records: Johnsburg 7-3, 11-6; Wauconda 3-8, 8-11.
Key players: Johnsburg's Jason Miller, Eric Peterson; Wauconda's Jim Schmuck, Chris Van Alstine.
Keys to game: It is Pack the Place night at Wauconda and perhaps that will inspire Bulldogs to stop Miller. The Johnsburg leader is coming off two 30 or more point games.

Prediction: Johnsburg by 3.
Warren at North Chicago
Date: Feb. 3
Time: 7:30 p.m.
Team records: Warren 7-3 North Suburban Conference, 13-6 overall; North Chicago, 2-7, 6-13.
Key players: Warren's Joe Bongratz, Joel Dangel, Ryan Kelter. North Chicago's Yotoy McCoy.
Keys to game: Health of Warren guard Chris Hayes. Hayes had to sit out loss at Mundelein due to illness.
Prediction: Warren by 5.
Mundelein at Libertyville
Date: Feb. 4
Time: 7:30 p.m.
Team records: Mundelein 10-1 North Suburban Conference, 17-3 overall; Libertyville, 5-6, 8-11.

Key players: Mundelein's Sean Stackhouse, Brian McMahon, Dave Bumblis, and Ivan Hourimier. Libertyville's Chad Lee, J.R. Jurecko, Lukas McKnight and Tim Beshel.
Keys to game: Mundelein is coming off a banner weekend defeating league leaders Zion-Benton and Warren. As a starter, Bumblis gives Mundelein more presence on the boards and better scoring opportunities. McMahon scored 36 points in the first contest between the two teams. Libertyville battled Mundelein close in the first game by containing Stackhouse to 3 first-half points.
Prediction: Mundelein by 6.

CLC's Gonzalez wins two at meet

Mike Gonzalez won two of three matches as the College of Lake County's wrestling team battled area and national powers.

"He was the light of the day. He has made some nice improvements. We are hoping he can step it up for regional," Coach Stan Pasiewicz said. The Lancers fell to Madison Tech in a closer 30-18 match and to Lincoln College 39-10 and Triton College 37-6.

"Lincoln College is ranked sixth in the nation and it is difficult for our kids, but we wrestled better than we did the last two weeks," Pasiewicz said.

Gonzalez was the only CLC wrestler to earn a win over Lincoln with a 19-2 decision. He lost to Triton but beat his MATC foe in a fall.

Gonzalez is a freshman from Zion. Chris Haag, a heavyweight from Antioch, also looked strong. "We may decide to wrestle him at 190 for regional," Pasiewicz said.

Tradition continues: 'Cats win NSC wrestling

Libertyville High wrestling Coach Dale Eggert believed it would take four champions for his team to win the North Suburban Conference wrestling title.

That is just what transpired at Zion-Benton on Saturday, as the Wildcats outlasted Warren 170.5 to 157.5.

Gaining crowns for LHS were: Tony Carlsen at 130 pounds; Tom Cleland at 135; Brian Laughlin at 189 and Chris Kephart at 160.

"We had a 40-point lead going into the third place matches and they (Warren) picked up a lot of points there. They won a lot of matches. Third place counts almost as much as first place after the semis. I knew it was going to tighten things up a bit," Eggert said.

"All the seniors - it is a great group. We are not the most talented team in the world by any stretch of the imagination. They have had great unity. Winning this thing is very important to them," Eggert said.

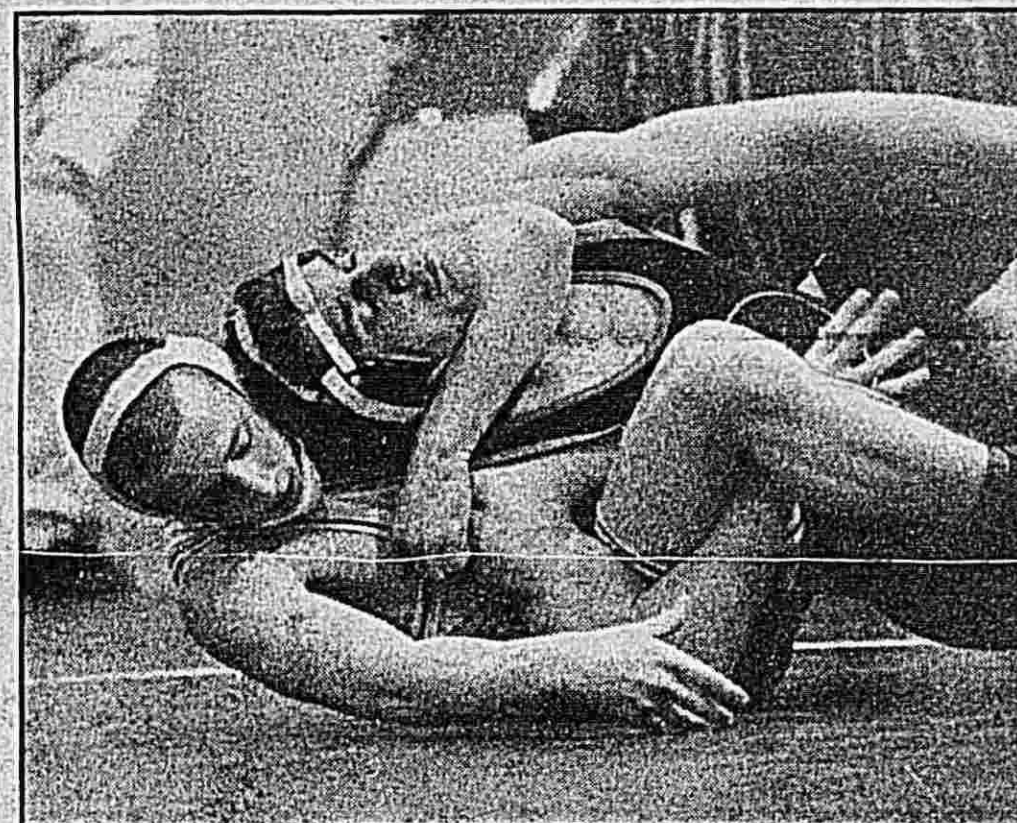

LHS is at the Stevenson regional Feb. 4. Sectional bids will be on the line. "Getting everyone out is always our goal," Eggert said.

Carlsen, always the rooter for his teammates, won the 130 pound title match with a 14-2 major decision over Mike Lipitz of Stevenson.

"He is good. He is so intense, it will happen eventually," Eggert said.

Kephart downed Kevin Hammer of Warren 19-7 in the title match at 160 pounds. "Chris was 19-12 coming in. He is a senior with some nice stuff. He is a scoring machine, but sometimes he stays with stuff too long," Eggert said.

Always steady Cleland won in a technical fall over Rod Dukowitz of Warren at 135.

Scott Cysewski fell to Steve Zalopi of Antioch in a close 6-4 decision at 125.

Stevenson's Adam Makowski earned a 7-2 win in the title over Brian Trobec of LHS. Lipitz gained a fourth at 112.

"Adam and Lipitz both work hard and never give up. Jamie has done a great job. Those kids are our outstanding senior leaders," Stevenson Coach Lino Martinez said.

Team scores from the conference meet: Antioch, 147.5; Stevenson, 111.5; Lake Forest, 88; Fenton, 78; Zion-Benton, 36.5; Mundelein 12 and North Chicago 9.

State's largest cheerleading competition at SHS, Feb. 5

Stevenson High School's "Spirit Revolution" will host its seventh annual Illinois Cheerleading Coaches Assn. Regional Competition—the largest such competition in the state—at which 1,500 cheerleaders will be vying for coveted trophies and a chance to advance to state championships, Feb. 5.

From 8 a.m. to approximately 3:30 p.m., this action-packed competition will feature over 70 cheerleading squads from Illinois junior high and high schools. Awards will be presented at 12:30 p.m., at the completion of the morning session featuring junior high schools, including Aptakisic, Daniel Wright, St. Mary, St. Theresa, St. James, Carl Sandburg, as well as freshmen, sophomore and junior varsity squads from such schools as Libertyville, Addison Trail, Maine East, Antioch, Grayslake, Zion-Benton, Providence Catholic, Joliet Twp., among others.

The competition resumes almost immediately with the afternoon session devoted to high school varsity squads from schools that include Argo, Grayslake, A.A. Stagg, Niles North, Lemont, Streamwood, Grant, Crystal Lake South, Glenbard West, Streator, Barrington, Zion-Benton, Maine East, Antioch, Alan B. Shepard and many more.

Awards for the large and small varsity afternoon session are scheduled to be held around 4 p.m., and will be preceded by a number of exciting exhibition performances by nationally ranked and renowned Northern, Ill. Univ. cheerleaders and a presentation by Stevenson's elite dance group.

All Stevenson cheerleaders and poms will serve as hosts and hostesses to competing squads, joining dedicated volunteers of Stevenson's Spirit Revolution Parents' Organization (parents of cheerleaders and poms) assigned to carry out every other aspect of the event.

Stevenson's Spirit Revolution invites the public to attend this Feb. 5 competition, but urges carpooling if at all possible, or allow extra time for parking (due to construction, parking is severely limited). Cost to attend is $3 per adult; $2 per student with ID; and children under five are admitted at no charge. Proceeds help support the Spirit Revolution College Scholarship Fund. ICC competition rules prohibit flash photography at any time during the competition.

Steven High School is located on Rte. 22, about one-half mile west of Milwaukee Ave. in Lincolnshire.

Lancers net forfeit, but woes continue in conference play

A forfeit win from a first-semester foe did not do much in the way of helping College of Lake County women's basketball team in another frustrating week.

The Lancers learned they received the forfeit from Rock Valley because the team used a player who was not eligible.

On the court, CLC (0-5 Skyway, 3-14 overall) suffered league losses 103-30 at McHenry and 65-29 to Elgin.

"It was pretty outrageous. We were down to three players and they were pressing us to get over 100 points and to hold us under 30," CLC Coach Don Zeman said of the McHenry game.

CLC played strong defense at home against Elgin, but the offense was not there. CLC trailed 35-11 at halftime.

"We had difficulty scoring," Zeman said.

Mandy Jacobsen led CLC with 12 points. But the freshman from Antioch suffered an ankle injury and CLC finished with five players.

"It is day-to-day if she can help us," Zeman said.

CLC is at Waubesa Feb. 2 before traveling to Milwaukee for a 1 p.m. game against Milwaukee Area Technical College Feb. 4.

Baczek contributes in Hula Bowl

There was more than a little passing interest as folks gathered around the TV at a Round Lake Park restaurant to watch the Hula Bowl.

But instead of watching the quarterbacks and running backs for the East and West teams, the focus at A.J.'s in Round Lake Park was on a certain lineman - Todd Baczek.

Baczek, a Carmel High graduate, played on the East team which won 20-18.

"It was a rewarding experience for him," Jan Baczek, Todd's dad, said.

Todd was listed as the fourth underrated offensive lineman by the Sporting News in this April's NFL draft. He is 6-foot, 4 inches, 295-305 pounds. Todd also got a chance to play on defense.

"His lateral movement is excellent. He had a 4.9 40-yard dash time," Jan said.

Baczek and Stevenson High grad Matt O'Dwyer were both linemen for a Northwestern team which suffered through another losing season in 1994.

"Some expansion teams are interested in him," Jan said.

Baczek is represented by agent Neal Schwartz.

"He has been very devoted and focused, but at times he is own worst critic," Jan said.

SRACLC sponsors adaptive sports program

The Lake County Adaptive Sports Program and the Lake Forest Health and Fitness Institute will be conducting an all-day sports workshop at the College of Lake County Feb. 4 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Jean Driscoll will be the keynote speaker. She is a five-time winner of the Women's Wheelchair Division of the Boston Marathon. Driscoll won the bronze medal at the Barcelona Olympics and was named the 1991 "Sport Woman of the Year" for the Women's Amateur Sport Foundation.

The Lake County Adaptive Sports Program provides recreational and competitive sport opportunities for youth and adults who have physical impairments. Programs are geared for youth and adults with physical and sensory disabilities such as spinal cord injuries, visual impairments, cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis, spina bifida, cardio-vascular accidents, muscular dystrophy and dwarfism.

In addition to Driscoll, there will be a variety of speakers and workshops describing the recreational opportunities available for people with physical difficulties.

Some of the sports workshops include wheelchair track, tennis, downhill skiing, sledge hockey, water skiing and other sports.

As part of the Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County, the adaptive sports program offers fall, winter and spring sports at the Great Lakes Training Base Drill Hall. For more information, call 566-2277.

Graham, Koch step forward as leaders

Mike Graham showed his ability to make the inside move while Bill Koch was Mr. Outside as Carmel High challenged first-place Benet in East Suburban Conference action.

The strategy worked for a time but not long enough in a 63-53 Carmel loss at home.

"We did a pretty nice job a couple of different times but we had some lulls in the second and third quarters and had to play catch-up," Coach Ben Berg said.

Mike Graham had 14 points and 5 rebounds and Koch 14 points with three three-pointers to key the Carmel offense.

"Mike has been starting to take advantage of his quickness against bigger players," Berg said.

But that could not stop the 15 offensive rebounds snared by the Red Wings as they pulled away.

Carmel was down only 17-14 after one, but then the lulls hit. Benet took the second quarter 10-6 and increased the lead with an 18-12 third period run.

Dave Stewart led the Benet offense with 25 points. "He killed us on the offensive glass," Berg said.

Carmel (2-16, 2-5 ESCC) hit the road for two ESCC games this weekend. Joliet Catholic (3-4 ESCC, 7-10 overall) is first up Feb. 3. Marian Catholic in Chicago Heights is next Feb. 4. Marian is 2-5, 7-11.

"Joliet Catholic is more of an up-and-down the floor type team while Marian Catholic likes to slow it down. It will be a challenge," Berg stated.

Free-throw shooting often goes a long way to winning basketball games.

And one of the best around is the Carmel High girls team. Erin Potempa showed why Saturday, calmly sinking both with 17 seconds left to pull out a 54-53 Carmel win at Deerfield.

"Erin is shooting 80 percent on the year and as a team we are shooting 65 percent. If we shot field goals as well as we shot free throws, we would have a great team," Carmel Coach Larry Whittier said.

The Corsairs are an improving bunch which won their 10th game in the last 12 for a 12-9 overall record.

Potempa led the way with 27 points. "Erin is such an unselfish player. She knows defense are collapsing on her and she dishes the ball," Whittier said.

Potempa made 4-of-8 from the field, 9-11 from the free-throw line to compliment a pair of three-pointers.

CHS gymnasts gain loop crown

Carmel High's girls gymnastics team captured its Girls Catholic Athletic Conference crown and hoped that gained momentum for the regional meet.

The Corsairs were at Libertyville Feb. 2. They were the eighth seed while the host Wildcats, North Suburban Conference champs, were the top seed.

"I was pretty pleased. We had three great events," Carmel Coach Norb BenDixen said.

The Corsairs won the meet at Resurrection High in Chicago with 136.05 points. The host school was second at 135.6 and Queen of Peace third.

Cathy Selz (9.01) and Gina Zubert (8.93) finished first and second in the all-around.
